AMERICAN HISTORY CLASSES HIGHLIGHT SUMMER

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

American history classes highlight the offerings of the University of San Diego's summer program in June, July and August of 1976.

"The American Indian," "The Age of Washington," and "Books for the Bicentennial" are offered as 6-week courses from June 21-July 30. "History of Baja California: The Mission Period" is scheduled for three weeks, June 1-18. "Explorations of North America," also a three-week course, runs August 2-20.

"The History of Baja California" covers events in Lower California from the time of the first Spanish maritime exploration around 1520 to the end of the mission period. Emphasis will be placed on land, sea, the people, and Spanish and Mexican institutions.

"The Age of Washington" will focus on the impact of George Washington on the life and times of our infant nation. "The American Indian" will study selected American Indian tribes from the historical viewpoint, focusing on cultural life-ways as approaches to understanding the history, law, art, literature, music, and role of the federal government in Indian affairs.

"Explorations of North America" will cover selected periods and areas of important explorations on land and by sea of North America. "Books for the Bicentennial" will work with bibliographies on literature of and about the American Revolution, plus primary and secondary source material.

Summer session catalogs are available by calling or writing the University of San Diego. # # # 2/3/76
