Dedication . . .

This 1956 First and Founding Issue of ALCALA, we dedicate to you, who have dedicated all your works to God for us: "That all may be one",

To our well-beloved Bishop, Most Reverend Charles F. Buddy, D.D., who has been our Father in these founding years, whose charity, guidance, and encouragement, bridged the years between plans and reality, who sustains the efforts of today, and urges us to bear in mind that we "are doing a great work and cannot come down" . . .

Bishop of San Diego*

To those whose vision foresaw a great work to be done for God . . .

for your example has taught us this ideal way of life, "by Him, with Him, and in Him" — the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

To our dearly loved Reverend Mother Rosalie Hill, S.V., whose strong guiding spirit planned, built and organized our college, and whose gentle, compelling spirit has imparted to us the depth of her own love and loyalty, since the radiance of Christ's life shines forth in all her ways . . .

Reverend Mother Rosalie Hill, S.V., Vicar of the Western Vicariate

Foundation Days

Although the San Diego College for Women is only four years old, yet it has a tradition of one hundred and fifty-five years. In 1942, His Excellency, Most Reverend Charles F. Buddy, D.D., Bishop of San Diego, invited Reverend Mother Rosalie Hill, Superior Vicar of the Western Vicariate of the Religious of the Sacred Heart, to undertake the foundation of a woman's college in his diocese. Definite plans were begun in 1946.

The San Diego College for Women was founded on October 20, 1949, and chartered December 2, 1949. Work had already begun on the large mesa, Alcala Park, centrally located in the city of San Diego, and plans for the construction were under way. The next two years were spent in building operations. On January 31, 1952, the first members of the staff took up residence at Alcala Park. Classes were begun February 11, 1952, with a small group of students, which has steadily grown in numbers.

JACQUELINE ANNE KEARNS, E. de M.
213 South B Street, Madera, California
Convent of the Sacred Heart, Menlo Park, California

Student Body President for two years, Jackie could always be counted on to make decisions based on principle and to lend a helping hand wherever one was needed. A wide range of interests including world affairs made her a history major. A knowledge of practicalities plus adaptability and perseverance made her invaluable on stage light crews all four years.

Senior Class History

Wide-eyed with the wonder of being the first Freshman Class at the San Diego College for Women, fifteen of the present graduating class began their four-year history of "being first." We were the first students on the Alcala Park campus to be received by Reverend Mother Rosalie Hill, founder and builder of the San Diego College for Women, to assist at a Mass of the Holy Ghost and to be invested with cap and gown. We were the first — and last — to entertain the British Navy at a supper dance! When Reverend Mother Hill returned from Rome, we even exercised tri-location — we were at the station to meet her, we were at the front door to greet her, and we used the theatre for the first time to receive her!!! Another "first" to our credit was our "Freshman Follies." Encouraged by that success, we presented a unique (and fortunately, private) interpretation of THE MIKADO. But our production of the first annual Christmas Pageant entitled "Christmas in Many Lands" was just as fortunately public, if we may judge from audience response. Our caroling was also begun that year, but on a small scale; already conscious of the Sacred Heart "family" tradition, we carolled the community by candlelight one evening and next morning began the tradition of a surprise cap and gown Mass by way of saying "thank you" to our beloved faculty.

January 30, 1953 marked a "One-Year-Old Party" for the college, and shortly after that we elected our first student-body officers. As a student-body we instituted Friday-night mixers, but then gave them up for Lent and for always, since by that time the academic aspect of college life had asserted itself. We, the freshmen, did entertain the upperclassmen, however, at a Valentine dance, and they reciprocated on St. Patrick's day. A spring formal in May and President's Day with games and a picnic on the athletic courts brought this first tradition-making year to a memorable close. We went home bursting with our importance as "Foundation Stones".

First Student Body Officers: Mary Binggeli, Kathleen McGonigle, Joan Hall, Constance J. Salerno, R.N.

September 1953 reunited the class of '56 with Mother Susan Campbell as counselor and Leann Mahoney, Jacqueline Kearns, and Mary Turner as our first class officers. Made more thoughtful and prayerful by the loss of Faith Brown in sudden death, we began our year as sophomores, determined to solidify Sacred Heart traditions in the college and to extend them warmly to the "Little Sisters" who joined us as freshmen. Together we labored on our second annual pageant, "Christmas in Merry Old England," and together we presented the first full-length drama to be staged in the college theatre — Maxwell Anderson's "Mary of Scotland." But all by ourselves we sponsored and named the annual spring formal, the "Bal des Fleurs."

Registration, September, 1952. Seated: Marilyn Mayer, Elayne Langenieux, Mary Turner; standing: Mary Kathleen Eby, Terry Truitt Hanafin, Diane Sinclair Otis.

As Juniors in 1954, many from our midst were elected to student-body offices and places on the Student Council. Jacqueline Kearns became student-body president; Leann Mahoney, corresponding secretary; and Mary Turner, recording secretary. Mother Suzanne Wilson was our junior counselor; Marie Mathew, Diane Sinclair, and Arline Raymond our class officers. Other members of the class began making a new record of "firsts." Joan Erickson, Dorothy Wawrzynski, Lynn Evenson, Leann Mahoney, and Diane Sinclair announced that they were to be the first brides in the class. Accordingly, they were promptly feted at a shower in the home of Arline Raymond.

Seniors at last in 1955, with Karolee Kuban, Marie Mathew, Jane Petty, and Margaret Fahlstrom leading us as officers, and Mother Frances Danz guiding us as counselor . . . Our first corporate act this year was to look back over the years in a "Senior Swan Song." On this occasion we presented the student-body with what we thought was our last "first" — the music and words for an Alma Mater! From that time on, we have no longer been the class of "firsts" but the one that lovingly repeats, "This is the last dance we shall sponsor" — the Christmas Ball — and "the last Faculty-Student Party we shall attend." But thanks to the generosity of the Juniors, we discovered that there was yet one more "first" we could accomplish — the YEARBOOK! Knowing that we had been first from beginning to end, the Juniors invited us to join them in publishing the Founders Issue of The Alcala. What greater proof could we have that our college motto — "That All May Be One" — has been explained to us so fully and beautifully by Reverend Mother Hill — has been realized?

At the end of our college years we stand "as one" — a concrete example of the power, strength and sweetness of our college motto — "That all may be one" — given, and so beautifully explained by R.M. Rosalie Hill, S.V.

Junior Class History

"College at last!" was our thought as we wandered around in a maze of classrooms and laboratories in 1953. But, with the help of our counselor, Mother Frances Danz, we managed to amuse the upper-classmen with the portraits we painted of their future antics in our FRESHMEN FOLLIES. Class officers that year were Valmere Dessert, Lidia Foncerrada, and Carol Farrell.

Our sophomore year, under the guidance of Mother Susan Campbell and officers — Virginia Rodee, Carol Farrell, and Joan Young — was filled with memorable activities from dinner aboard Admiral Rodee's U.S.S. Princeton to the unforgettable thrill of the BAL DES FLEURS in May. We were saddened by the loss of Rosa Maria Molina that summer, but Colombian shores beckoned her. Charming to the end, she bid us all good-bye at a farewell tea at the La Jolla Beach and Tennis Club. Joan Young, Joann Wigchert, Lidia Foncerrada, Joan Beretich, Gail Henderson, Elizabeth Vopateck, Dale Tallman, and Noelle Onorato left us to be married, but they have kept their promise to keep in touch by correspondence. Those of us who are determined to "earn a B.A. or B.S. first" gathered at Evelyn Teachout's Chula Vista home for a reunion breakfast on graduation day in June.

*Marion Rogers, Marian Hale,

With our newly acquired upperclass status, we launched our good ship S.S. Junior in grand style with Carol Farrell, Patricia Keane, and Evelyn Teachout at the helm. The Harvest Dance gave us our first opportunity to prove that we were seaworthy, and we passed with flying colors. Midterms, Christmas parties, and finals flew by with unbelievable speed. Helping "little sisters," retreat, another registration, Easter, and the ever-present work on the yearbook kept us so occupied that summer was suddenly upon us with a fashion-show luncheon, farewell parties, and all the promise of our SENIOR YEAR . . .

Sophomore Class History

As the Sophomores stand midway in their ascent up the ladder of college life, they glance back at a history full of class activities and enthusiastic participation in school affairs.

Following the election of permanent officers in December, 1954, freshman-class life began at the San Diego College for Women. Guided by their counselor, Mother Sally Furay, and officers—Virginia Rausch, Patricia Gonzales, Ann Dyer, and Adrienne Kuhe — class members made plans for daily advancement in spiritual, intellectual, and social endeavors.

A swimming and supper party, given January 9 by Arlene Glenn at her home in National City, united the class of '58 in its first off-campus activity. February found freshmen roasting weiners at Presidio Park, and making plans for their first dance, "The Play's the Thing," February 19. El Monte was the scene of the March picnic for freshmen and their dates. Georgia King entertained the class at a buffet luncheon in the garden of her La Jolla home during April.

Concluding the excitement of final examinations, the spring prom, and commencement exercises, the class of '58 gathered at Hotel del Charro in La Jolla for its class brunch, May 29. With its initiation of a summer newsletter, the class began a new tradition for freshmen at S.D.C.W.

Returning to college as sophomores in September, 1955, class members devoted all their leisure time to helping "Little Sisters." First on the calendar of events was a "Swim with the Sophomores" party at the Town and Country Club in Mission Valley. A few weeks later, the Freshman Class was asked to roller skate with the sophomores at Palisades Roller

Class officers — Virginia Rausch, Ann Dyer, Jean Featherstone, and Mary Lee Wible — with class counselor, Mother Susan Campbell, began planning another full year for the class of '58. An evening picnic, held October 15 at Pepper Grove in Balboa Park, provided an opportunity for sophomores and their dates to demonstrate outdoor cooking skill. With the approach of the holiday season, the class once more gathered at Arlene Glenn's home for a buffet supper following the tradition Christ-

The New Year brought resolutions for bigger and better class reunions. Patricia McNair was the first to make these dreams come true. The weekend following the annual retreat, she invited all her classmates for two days of snow-filled fun at Crestline in the San Bernardino Mountains. All attention and talents were then focused on Sophomore Serenades and the BAL DES FLEURS, the annual events which the Sophomores sponsor as a final tribute to the graduating class.

Freshmen

Freshman Class History

As we stood there at the bottom of the ladder, it looked like a long climb. With the help of our class counselor, Mother Furay, the freshman class soon began to rise. Fortnightly officers were systematically elected until our final voting in December, when Sandy Schwarzman took up the gavel, aided by Angel Kraemer, Pat Mulcahy, and Margaret Farrell.

On Mater's Feast, our first picnic provided time to get better acquainted and to explore Presidio Park.

One of our first big steps up the ladder was the Freshman Follies. Under the capable leadership of Angel Kraemer and Linda Hope, "The Freshman Classic" was presented, complete with "original" songs and dances displaying our reactions to science, music, languages, and P. E. The tribute to our "big sisters" was completed, but their help was not dispensed with, for our first midterms were fast approaching.

To celebrate the end of exams, our fortnightly president, Pat Malcahy, and her fellow officers organized an afternoon at Coronado beach in mid-November. December brought our first Christmas Ball, while many of us participated actively in the pageant, "American Christmas," the following week.

On January eighth, the day students entertained the residence students at a post-Christmas buffet supper at Irma Serrano's home. The talk of the party was, of course, final examinations and the men's college formal. Father Parish's fine retreat gave impetus to our second semester beginnings.

Plans were carried through for the freshman-sponsored "Mardi Gras." Dance chairman, Angel Kraemer, and her committee chairmen, Cordelia Curley, Janet Berardinelli and Irma Serrano, innovated with colorful and clever Valentine pinatas to be broken during the evening.

We made rapid progress up the ladder as we participated in the spring production, "A Midsummer Night's Dream;" celebrated the accreditation of our S.D.C.W.; enjoyed the resident students' party for the day students after Easter; inaugurated an annual freshman-senior party on April 29th; and danced at the Joint Social Committee's Easter ball and S.D.C.W.'s Spring Formal. At Commencement on May twenty-seventh, we said good-bye for the summer at our first Class Reunion Brunch, and congratulated each other on our attainment of the first landing in the ladder, thanks to Mother Furay, our big sisters, and everyone who encouraged us. So "Move up, sophomores, we're here to stay."

Children of Mary Council: Elayne Langenieux, president, Paula Sabin, Margaret Fahlstrom

Children of Mary

On the Feast of Mater Admirabilis 1954, the long awaited day arrived! The San Diego College for Women had its first reception into the Children of Mary. The original members were Lillian Jimenez, Jacqueline Kearns, Margaret Fahlstrom, Elayne Langenieux, Paula Sabin, Diane Sinclair, Mary Louise Turner. At their first meeting, Elayne was elected president; Paula, vice president; and Margaret, secretary. Maintaining their positions for two years, these officers were of great help to their moderator, Mother Parks, in establishing as college traditions all the special Sacred Heart devotions, processions, and practices.

The Lily Procession was instituted in 1952 and the May Crowning in 1953, while the above members were still aspirants. Then, as Children of Mary, their first corporate act was to establish in 1954 a Guard of Honor for the Sacred Heart on First Fridays. The following year, a parallel Guard of Honor was instituted for Our Lady.

On St. Madeleine Sophie's Feast, 1955, Joan Fennell, Ruth Jimenez, Constance Salerno, and Mary Scott were received into the congregation; and on October 20, 1955, Beth Ann Smith, Mary Ann Daly, Rosemary Castillo, Kathleen Wollstein, Virginia Rodee, Carol Reilly, and Mary Jimenez. The most recent reception on February 3, 1956 included Rosanne Biane, Carol Farrell, and Patricia Keane.

Under the patronage of Blessed Philippine and the instruction of Mother Furary, many freshmen are acquainted with the ideals of the Children of Mary. They are invited to join the Aspirants of St. Madeleine Sophie under the direction of Mother Campbell in their sophomore year. All — pre-aspirants, aspirants, and members — strive daily “to make interior life of the soul of (their) daily life,” but special honors go to Mary Turner, who has been elected three years in succession to crown Our Lady at the end of the scholastic year in May.

Religious Affairs

The President, Vice-President, and Secretary of the Children of Mary and two representatives from each class are the members of this committee, established under the Constitution of September, 1954. The chairman of the committee holds a place on the Student Council, and also on the Joint Social Committee.

It is the privilege of this group to arrange for spiritual practices for the student body each liturgical season; to prepare for the First Friday Guard of Honor and all special novenas and Masses; to carry out the plans for all ceremonies and processions. The Apostleship of Prayer and the League of the Sacred Heart are also under the auspices of the committee. A sub-committee of volunteer student-sacristans has the privilege of preparing under the direction of the sacristan all Masses and Benedictions in the college chapel.

The Speakers' Bureau

The Speaker's Bureau was initiated March 29, 1954. It is a Christopher movement centering on the Apostleship of Speech. Its purpose is to provide its members with the opportunity to express themselves, to exchange ideas, to develop poise in speech, and to practice leadership on and off campus.

There were fourteen Charter Members: Margaret Fahlstrom, Mary Jimenez, Ruth Jimenez, Jacqueline Kearns, Elayne Langenieux, Leann Mahoney, Carol Reilly, Virginia Rodee, Paula Sabin, Mary Scott, Marilyn Mayer, Jean Rubel, Mary Cardoza, and Carol Farrell. In November, 1954, Mary Scott was elected chairman and Ruth Jimenez secretary.

In the fall it has organized Student Congresses for the college students and the four hundred juniors and seniors of the Catholic high schools. The first was the Marian Congress of 1954, the second the Congress on the Mass in 1955. In both cases the members of the Bureau wrote and delivered the papers. In the spring semester the Speakers' Bureau plans and solicits the cooperation of the student body for the Public Relations program of sending speakers to the private and public high schools of the area.

The present officers: Marilyn Mayer, Chairman first semester; Mary Jimenez, Historian; Paula Sabin, Chairman, second semester.

The Student Council

Based on "the principle that all authority is derived from God and rests with His representatives and with those to whom any share of His governing power is delegated," a constitution was drawn up, in the summer of 1954, providing for a cooperative form of government to be administered by faculty and students working together.

Prior to this time the student body had been governed by Kathleen McGonigle as president (1952-1953 and 1953-1954), Mary Binggeli as vice-president (1952-1953 and 1953-1954), Constance Jimenez as social chairman and Joan Hall as secretary. In September 1954, Kathleen Brophy was elected social chairman and Janet Contant as secretary.

According to the new constitution the elections of 1954-1955 called for student-body officers who would also head standing committees in the college. These officers, class presidents, and special delegates from the classes compose the student council. Student-Body officers for 1954-1955 were: Jacqueline Kearns, Kathleen Brophy, Mary Turner, Leann Mahoney, and Lillian Jimenez.

The function of the Student Council is to foster understanding and cooperation between Faculty and Student Body by representing the views of the Student Body to the Administration. This representation is made to the President of the College, Mother Catherine Parks, Moderator of the Council.

The aim of the Student Council is to uphold the college motto "THAT ALL MAY BE ONE," and in so doing foster the "family" tradition, which is the heritage of all colleges of the Sacred Heart.

Hostess Committee

Inaugurated for gracious greetings, the Hostess Committee aims at entertaining visitors at the college in order that their stay may be enjoyed and remembered. Meeting on the average of once a month, the group discusses appropriate plans for expected guests. College or senior high school visitors tour the campus and engage in current college activities. Highlighting their visit, the Hostess Committee sponsors a dance, tea, or tour of San Diego in honor of the guests. For events such as major drama productions, or special programs, members of the Committee act as official hostesses for the college.

Welfare Committee

This committee was established by the Constitution of the Associated Student Body under the chairmanship of the Student Body President for the purpose of caring for the interest of individual students, students in general, and the college as a whole. Such a task involves the preservation of high standards of Christian conduct, dress, and order. The wise and loving over-all guidance of Reverend Mother Rosalie Hill and the often repeated conviction of San Diego's beloved Bishop has been the constant inspiration of the organization — "We have a great work to do, and we cannot come down!"

The membership of the committee consists of its chairman and as many semesterly proctors as there are campus-areas to be proctored. These proctors are chosen by the chairman in consultation with the faculty moderator, and they are drawn from all four classes. Responsibilities are shared by resident and day students. Weekly proctors are appointed by the semesterly proctors.

Members of the committee for 1954-55 were: Chairman, Jacqueline Kearns; semesterly proctors, Joan Erickson, Candace Hosmer, Evelyn Teachout, Beverly O'Connor; Moderator, Mother Campbell.

Members of the committee for 1955-56 include: Chairman, Jacqueline Kearns; semesterly proctors, Donna Kopp, Gail Derry, Arlene Glenn, Barbara Heney, Sandra Jelinek, Georgia King, Patricia McNair, Rosalie Parkman, Mary Lou Spalding, Betty Bell, and Beverle Bell; Moderator, Mother Campbell.

Meetings of the committee are held once a week, and an annual "Mad-Hatters" party is sponsored shortly after Easter by way of thanking the student body for its cooperation and of allowing them a momentary respite from "appropriate campus attire."

Social Affairs

The lighter aspect of college life is provided for by this committee. The vice president of each class under the chairmanship of the vice president of the student body begin making "social" plans long before the opening of college in September. Nearly all the summer months are devoted to the Campus Fashion show, which highlights "Freshman Week." During that first week of school other nights to remember on the social calendar are that of the Big-Little Sister Dinner for the residents and the COTTON COTILLION for all in the library patio.

The big annual events established by this committee during the last four years are the Harvest Dance, sponsored by the Juniors; the Christmas Ball, sponsored by the Seniors; the Mardi Gras dance sponsored by the Freshmen; the Bal des Fleurs, sponsored by sophomores. Frequent informals, a faculty-student Christmas party, even square-dances find their place in the crowded days and nights of college students on the Alcala Park campus. And the moderator of the committee, Mother Danz, prophesies that the future holds yet larger and better parties.

The Alcala Park Players

The show must go on! Three weeks after the theatre was completed in November 1952, a drama club was organized; under the leadership of Mary Turner, and the first annual Christmas Pageant produced by Mother Furay under the title of "Pageant of the Nations."

In September 1953 this club with Mother Campbell as moderator drew up a constitution which states that the purpose of the organization is to afford students an opportunity to;

put the theory of drama into practice

develop a love of good theatre

enrich the knowledge of history and literature learned in academic courses.

December of '53 brought the second annual Christmas pageant entitled "Christmas in Merry Old England," and in the spring the drama club was baptized "The Alcala Park Players" on the occasion of its first major production — Maxwell Anderson's "Mary of Scotland," directed by Lucille Downs Devereaux. Starring in this production were Marilyn Mayer and Diane Sinclair, who were double cast in the role of Mary Stuart; Kathleen Brophy and Paula Sabin, in the role of Queen Elizabeth. Rebecca Radford was a Bothwell equal to both Mary's.

In the fall of 1954 Evelyn Krail was elected president of the club; Marie Mathew, vice president; Arlene Raymond, secretary. It was their immediate privilege to launch, under the guidance of Mother Furay, a fall production to climax Marian Year activities. The dramatization of Franz Werfel's "Song of Bernadette" was chosen, with Paula Sabin playing the title role. And this year's Christmas pageant was called "A Mary Christmas" in honor of the closing of the Marian Year. By spring students were hungry for more theatre. Consequently, another drama — "Letters to Lucerne" was produced in April with major roles played by Arline Raymond, Beverly O'Connor, Tanya Finlayson, Barbara Vidal, Dorothy Wawrzynski, Diane Sinclair, and Kathleen Wellstein.

September '55 saw Evelyn Krail re-elected president of the club with Suzanne Tilley as vice president and Trudy Crampton as secretary. "American Christmas" was the theme of the fourth annual Christmas pageant. And, not to be outdone by Shakespeare revivals in London and on Broadway, the Players chose "Midsummer Night's Dream" as the spring production for 1956. Mr. R. B. Van Vleck, Professor of Speech at the San Diego College for Men, was invited to direct the play. The immortal roles of Bottom and Puck were played by Sandra Jelinek and Patricia Crowe, while Titania and Oberon were impersonated by Margo Lester and Sharon Smith.

Science Club

*Mrs. Belle Benchley,

Margaret Fahlstrom, president.*

This club was organized in February, 1954, with Margaret Fahlstrom ('56) as president; Mary Cordoza ('56), vice president; Ann Phillips ('57), secretary-treasurer. Three trips — to Bird Rock, Scripps' Institute of Oceanography, and Palomar — furnished numerous specimens for the science department, which the students themselves classified and placed on exhibition. At one of the regular meetings of the club, Dr. John L. Feldman, M.D., spoke on the ear and its disorders. At another meeting Dr. McNeally, biochemist of Kelco Company, showed colored movies of deep sea life and lectured on kelp and its chemical properties. The marine biology field trips were under the guidance of Commander Hendrix of Scripps' Institute of Oceanography and the specialists he chose to instruct the students of tide pool life. A Mission Bay field trip was led by Mr. Littlepage of the San Diego

Natural History Museum. And the climactic event of the year was the gift of a mineral collection from Kathleen McGonigle ('54). This collection was prepared by an engineer in her father's manganese mine. In the summer of 1954, work and play were fused, when Mr. H. L. Benbough took Science Club members to the Coronado Islands on his yacht.

In 1954-55 Margaret Fahlstrom, Beth Ann Smith and Carol Riddell, all of the class of '56, headed the Science Club. Striving to improve their exhibitions, club members made several field trips to Bird Rock (under the guidance of Dr. Colon Hough, marine biochemist), Borrego Desert, Dana Landing, and Scripps. The freshmen, under the leadership of Sharon Smith ('58), presented "Scientific Conferences." Two lectures on astronomy — one by Donna Kopp ('58) and another by the astronomer Rudolph Lippert, centered on the field trip to Palomar. In April and May, Dr. Anita Figueredo, M.D., under the auspices of the club, addressed the student body in a series of three lectures on cancer.

In 1955-56 Margaret Fahlstrom, Beth Ann Smith, and Carol Riddell retained club offices. Donna Kopp was elected as junior and Ann Dyer as sophomore representatives. This year's agenda featured a series of lectures on "Wonder Drugs" by Mother Lorraine Lawrence of the Science Department.

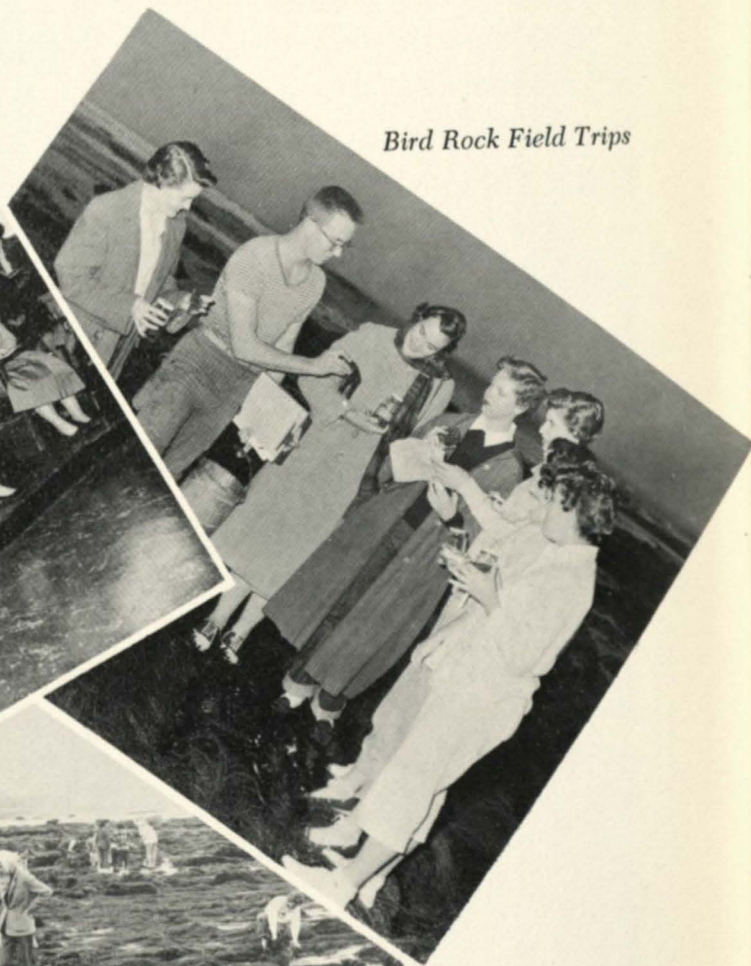

Members of the club — Devona Crise, Ann

Dyer, Margaret Fahlstrom, Donna Kopp, Patricia Perdue, Patricia Pratt, Patricia Proctor, Carol Riddell, Beth Ann Smith, Barbara Carlisle, Candace Hosmer, Hilary Broad, Susan Robinson, and Sharon Smith — would like to acknowledge here their debt of gratitude to Scripps' Institute of Oceanography, the San Diego Natural History Museum, Ceil Sutton, R.N., and above all, Mother Bernice Farrens, moderator, for invaluable assistance and inspiration.

Music Club

The first meeting of the newly organized Music Club of San Diego College for Women was held Friday, October 21, 1955.

Votes were cast for representatives from each class who would form a hostess committee for the various planned events. Results were to be posted upon tabulation.

The first event scheduled was a lecture by Mr. Nyvall Thursday, October 27, which will include demonstration of various musical pieces from different periods of history. Among other scheduled events will be a piano recital by Donald Reed, a nine-year-old Chopin technique expert, in November. In December, the annual carolling will replace an event.

It was emphasized that the various events were to serve not only for entertainment but to educate the members in various musical subjects.

The group was told that there would not be regular meetings, but that events would be announced at Student Body meetings, and that one need only be interested in music to join.

The program scheduled for November, a piano recital by Donald Reed, was given. In January Mrs. Mary Alyn gave a harp demonstration. Mrs. Arthur Schwarzman was presented in a harp recital in the February program.

On Wednesday evening, March 21, the Little Choir gave a rendition of the Seven Last Words. Nancy Adams was the accompanist.
