BISHOP BUDDY

Tour to End For Bishop; Home Today

The Most Reverend Charles F. Buddy, president of USD, returns here today from his eight-week tour of Europe and "ad limina" visit with Pope John XXIII.

This announcement was made by Fr. William D. Spain, administrative vice-president of the College for Men. The exact time of the bishop's arrival is not known.

Literally, "ad limina" means "to the threshold." Every five years bishops must make this visit to Rome to have an audience with the Pope.

"This year is the year for all American bishops to make the trip," Father Spain explained.

Bishop Buddy had a private audience with Pope John on Oct. 6. Reports from the bishop's party indicated that Pope John was "well pleased" with the bishop's report of the progress of USD. Pope John gave his Apostolic blessing to all members of the University.

The bishop spent three weeks in Ireland and four days at Lourdes, France before arriving in Rome.

While in Rome, Bishop Buddy also visited his close friend, Giuseppe Cardinal Pizzardo. Cardinal Pizzardo oversees the administration of all Catholic seminaries and universities throughout the world. Cardinal Pizzardo expressed pleasure at the "rapid growth" of USD during the past seven years.

Law School Commences Day Program

The School of Law has launched its three-year full time day law school this semester. With its accreditation last April, by the California State Bar Association, USD has the only accredited law school in San Diego.

Howard S. Datton, dean of the School of Law, emphasized that the already successful night law program would be continued as an "integral part" of the School of Law.

Irving W. Parker, dean of admissions, said, "We are very pleased with the start of the new three-year law program. This, coupled with the achievements of the past five years, has been realized through the constant efforts of Dean Datton."

Fr. Charles J. Dollen, director of the university libraries, said that the law school's library was made up of 18,750 books and periodicals that formed a basis for future extension.

"We receive from 50 to 60 new books and supplements each month," Father Dollen said, "that keep our library current and functional."

The faculty for USD's School of Law, headed by Dean Datton is one of wide and varied law experience: William C. Carstens was associated with the firm of White, Froelich and Peterson; C. Hugh Friedman was with the Calif. Attorney General's Office, and is now in corporate and labor practice with the C. Arnholt Smith Enterprises; Charles Froehlich has been at the University for two years and was editor of the "Law Review" at the University of California; James O. Hewitt is with the firm of Luce, Forward, Kunzel and Scripps; Philip P. Martin, Jr. is a vice president of the First National Bank and a specialist in tax matters.

Also on the faculty are Fr. Martin J. McManus, who practiced in Los Angeles for 10 years and is now working for a Doctorate of

TRILY BRINGS ASB GIGGLES; SPIRITS RISE

By DAVE GORSICH

A meager but enthusiastic one-third of the student body was present at last Tuesday's ASB meeting. This meeting came after two comparatively uneventful meetings.

Before this meeting only two points were settled:

1. Freshman beanies would be worn until the Pepperdine game. (Have you noticed any beanies lately?)

2. Men's College students must vacate the Women's College by nine on week nights, and in the future develop a "better attitude" toward the women.

Fred Gunther, a senior, said that prevailing cold weather might force USD students indoors for the homecoming dance tomorrow night. The car caravan to the Pepperdine game would be watched closely by the San Diego Police Department, he said.

Alex Harper, a regressing lad, learned the intricate process of how the Homecoming Queen was elected, and Ed De Falco, a red-faced sophomore, protested that he did not receive the right to vote. It was rumored that Ed wanted to stuff the ballot box for a five-foot seven, 250 lb. freshman that he had a crush on.

J. T. Trily, ASB president, pointed out that the title of Homecoming Queen was reserved as a last-ditch stand for the College for Women's senior class. A stand for beauty as opposed to brains was raised, but left unsettled.

Tony Piazza, an unchanged College for Men alumnus, requested alumni passes for the Pepperdine game.

Chuck Williams, junior class president, said that the junior class would sponsor a contest for a school song and a USD character decal, the winner of which would "get a good prize, like a keg, or something."

Big Weekend Will Support Homecoming

Homecoming fireworks will explode tomorrow night at 8 p.m. with the USD-Pepperdine game at Balboa Stadium.

This is USD's third annual homecoming. It will be highlighted by the presentation of the Homecoming queen at halftime and climaxed by a dance at More Hall after the game.

Things get started at More Hall tonight with a decorating party at 7:30. Everyone is welcome.

Tomorrow morning at 9 the party moves to Balboa Stadium. The work is casual, the dress is casual

School Alumni Pick Officers

An alumni association for USD's College for Men is in the embryonic stage. Beginning last August with an initial gathering at the Shelter Island Inn, a nucleus of 12 recent graduates attempted to establish goals and define the purpose for the proposed association.

Anthony J. Piazza, '59, was named temporary chairman of the group. Action taken: postponement of election of officers until the next meeting.

Jim Fitzgerald, '59, hosted the next meeting on September 9. There were 11 graduates present. Action taken: Piazza resigned his chairmanship, but the election of officers was again delayed with the hope that there would be a greater turnout for the next session.

On September 15, eleven graduates

tive. Students are asked to wash their cars.

ASB President J. T. Trily will present the Homecoming Queen and her court to the students at halftime.

The homecoming dance at More Hall will run from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. The Queen will be crowned at midnight to end homecoming ceremonies for 1959.

LACK OF ADS ADDS GRIPES; SOME CLAIM

By FRED GUNTHER

The advertising of student functions is lousy. This is the consensus of students interviewed this week.

Students griped that they didn't know enough about games, dances, academic activities and other social events. Many boarders said they were left out of dances because they didn't hear about them in time to get a date.

A blushing blonde, name prudently withheld, complained, "Why don't they tell us about these things?"

An unhappy senior said, "The classic example of bad advertising was the senior-freshmen push-ball game. Few freshmen and less seniors showed up."

Barbra Jordan, soda jerk, said, "It's miserable. The things we put on, you don't hear about, and what you put on, we don't hear about."

Anyone can publicize an event by speaking up at an ASB meeting. This isn't too effective. Students said they couldn't remember what was said anyway.

Student Body President J. T. Trily drawled, "You know, some of these guys just use too dang many highfalutin' words."

Some complained that the ASB meetings were held at a bad time. They didn't suggest a better time though.

C. G. Walker, a straggling end, said, "You can't invite someone to a weekend event when you hear about it the Tuesday before."

Labyrinthine Way

Duty to God, duty to country and duty to our school—all lead to unity. These duties stem from rules of conduct established and enforced by Divine and human authority. The Ten Commandments specify our duty to God. The United States Constitution spells out our duties to our country. The constitutions of the ASB outline our duties to the University. Almighty God, the President of the United States and The Most Reverend Bishop are the authorities.

It is difficult to say which is the hardest set of rules to follow. Each involves morals, each involves opinions as well as convictions. Adherence to these rules brings rewards and riches greater by far than the inconvenience that may chafe at conformity. God offers his kingdom, the Constitution features the Bill of Rights and the University imparts a good, sound Christian education.

Perhaps, because of our limited experience, we have, from time to time, chosen to follow a code that did not agree completely with the established laws. Who has not sinned? Violations of civil law are common. Where is the man who has not found cause, rightly or wrongly, to disagree with the rules of our school?

God's laws and our nation's laws are not entirely new to us. We have been exposed to them all of our lives. And yet, we can readily admit our mistakes and transgressions against them. By our errors, let us pray and hope that we have learned.

But the University's laws are not so familiar. We have made mistakes, and we admit our guilt. But we have also achieved much, and we give thanks for those accomplishments. As experience grows and becomes our teacher, full-grown, we can reflect on the days of our formation as a student of the University of San Diego. Obedience and prudence are virtues that often come hard for the youthful. Freedom seems much more dear. Our Catholic faith teaches us that only by learning right-reasoned obedience will we find true freedom. This is our philosophy, and it is true.

Rules may govern one organization, but the parts of the whole may operate independently of one another. There are fifty states in the United States, but they are united. The full benefits of university life will be conferred upon us when our unity becomes more than a word. The unity of which we speak is a spiritual force, a force that can forge us into one indivisible union. This does not entail surrender or humiliation. Each division of the University will think and act in harmony.

We will all share the gains of our independent labors. We will learn together about man. We will learn together about God. This will be, it must be, our common goal, and therefore, equal reward—and, in a sense, our glory.

MONEY

National Defense Student Loans are now available to all USD students who can meet the qualifications.

This announcement came from Fr. William D. Spain, administrative vice-president of the College for Men.

Father Spain said a student could borrow up to $1000 each academic year, and that the total amount for the duration of the program was $5000.

Interest would not begin until one year after graduation, Father Spain said, and the rate of three per cent per year would be charged on the unpaid balance. Father Spain added that no interest would be charged during any period in which the borrower was a member of the armed forces.

"These loans are a wonderful means to a college education, and I am highly impressed by this program," said Father Spain.

He said that up to 50 per cent of the loan could be cancelled. Ten per cent of the amount of the loan would be cancelled for each academic year of service as a full time teacher in a public elementary or secondary school, he said.

In order to be eligible for a loan, a student must be on a full time basis, and be in good standing towards earning a degree, he said.

FROM THE NORTH SIDE

By LINDA HAYWARD

The College for Women is coming of age. Increased enrollment, additional courses and a growing school spirit indicate the maturity of seven years.

Women students now number 552. Serra, Hardey and El Camino Hall, the new residence halls in the Academic Building, house upper classmen. The campus boasts an international flavor, having students from 16 states and six foreign countries.

Mother Aimee Rossi, dean of the College for Women, has arranged for new courses in the art, sociology, math and psychology departments. Preparation has begun for a physics major.

Dramatic productions and football games spark the school spirit. The Alcala Players have joined the Masquers for the production of "The Late George Apley."

High school seniors from Broadway and Menlo Park, Sacred Heart convents near San Francisco, will be guests at Alcala this weekend.

They will help the sophomores who are working to decorate More Hall and Balboa Stadium for homecoming tomorrow.

Sports enthusiasts find a varied program offered by the Woman's Athletic Association. Sailing every Saturday from 10 to 11 a.m. heads the agenda. A tennis clinic, bowling on Wednesday and horseback riding round out a full schedule.

Class and club activities make spare time a rare commodity. The Speaker's Bureau is planning a student congress for November to discuss Communist tactics on youth and the means for a practical counter-attack.

Candidates will be received into the Congregation of the Children of Mary, Oct. 20, on the feast of Mater Admirabilis. It is a spiritual organization for students.

UNITY = SUCCESS

DEAR SIR

All For One

Within a University there are separate units—many in one, each having a distinct objective, made one in a common end. Such is the College for Women in the University of San Diego.

We are justly proud of this title. Just as proud as the first pioneers were to hear themselves referred to as "The College on the Hill."

Which College? It didn't matter. The important thing was that A College was there—on the hill that was to be A University campus.

The first sight on the horizon is the azure dome of the Immaculata, the dominant force and center of the University.

We know we are one, yet distinct; we are bound together by University activities undertaken as a University. Yet, apart from that is our own particular spirit.

That this should exist in no way contradicts the unity of the University, for as Joanne Krejsa, Student Body President of the College for Women states:

"The Founder's aim was to create a University in the true sense of the word. Only through the students' recognition of the need for unity of mind and spirit, can the goal proposed by the motto of the College for Women be fully realized: THAT ALL MAY BE ONE."

In this way we are truly members of the University of San Diego, College for Women.

Yours &c.,
VICKI SEIDEL

Sing Along With Me

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of USD. The aid it needs is a school song that can belong to all of the students.

A college without a song is like a football team without a coach—something is missing. A school song does many things. It builds spirit and a lasting memory. Whenever an old grad hears his alma mater's beloved melody all his college memories are brought back to him.

People who join together to sing their own song are bound together by something that is a part of them. It is a mutual feeling of pride and glory. It arouses their school spirit more than anything else. The words they are singing symbolize one thing for all of them—their college.

For most of us, college is a part of us for only four years. With a school song we can make it last a lifetime. Let's make college a happy part of our lives. Make it something we will look back on with pride.

There is nothing in the world that arouses an athlete more than to hear his fight song sung by his fellow students, win or lose. He can always feel proud when the familiar words are echoed upon him. He knows that he stands for something. It is something that is not just material. It is a certain feeling that is just there. He knows that he belongs to an organization that has a heart and soul.

A school song does all of these things and more. It also builds tradition—a tradition we can begin.

A song can be everybody's thoughts and ideas. If we all work together to write a song it will be one that belongs to all of us. It will symbolize the University of San Diego for many years.

The writers can be the students. Let's work on it. Let's have a school song.

Yours & c.
Jerry Marcus.

Signs of Our Times

By CAL TRASK

"Coffee houses?" asked Councilman Hartley. "You mean those places where crazy people get together?"

"They aren't crazy," said Councilman George Kerrigan. "They just have a different way of life. They desire to express themselves in a different way."

S. D. Evening Tribune
October 9, 1959.

This bit of repartee occurred at a recent meeting of San Diego's City Council. Whatever the merits of the not too-incisive opinions of the learned councilmen, Doctor Johnson's Boswell would be surprised at the turn taken by his beloved coffee houses in their twentieth century resurrection.

This phenomenon has become a familiar of our time. Not unlike the speakeasy of an earlier and drier generation, the coffee house appeals genuinely to a few and as a curiosity-piece to many. It has the flavor of the dangerous, the different, the defiant. It is, however, a fake and a pretense. Distinguished by some as an expression of a growing social movement, it is basically an expression of a b. m.

A dreary, begrimed exterior, cluttered with purposively non-descript signs and posters is unrelied interiorly. Hard, scarred chairs and tables are scattered over an uncarpeted, littered floor. Mercilessly bad modern art clings to the walls of the small, blue-smoked room. In the rear of the establishment a lop-eared lean-to serves as a kitchen. The net impression is one of studied, carefully cultivated uncleanness. This is the habitat of the Unwashed.

The veterans of Venice and the juniors of La Jolla try desperately to be "beat." The hard-eyed devotee knows that he is, as Councilman Kerrigan said, "different." Whiling away the hours over an inoffensive glass of cider or an exotically prepared, outrageously high-priced cup of coffee, he (or she) sits and ponders the difference.

Reveries are sporadically interrupted by a ballad singer, confidently strumming his guitar. The selections and the interpretation does nothing to dispel the certainty that somebody is being "taken."

Eons later, the would-be hipsters ankle, swagger, slouch and roll out to their very pedestrian cars and speed off to their pads which, to the uninitiated, means a well-kept, super-convenienced home.

Perhaps Councilman Hartley was right. If he wasn't, this is just another sophomoric confidence game. Eaters of goldfish, sitters on flagpoles, and dancers of marathons: rest easy! There are those who carry the banner of inanity still. Like, quit putting us on, man.

Moms and Wives Form New Guild

Mothers and wives of a number of USD students have joined to form the Alcala Guild under the direction of Fr. Russell Wilson, president of the College for Men.

Mrs. Mary Kerr, president pro tempore, said that the main function of the Guild would be to form a recruiting program to draw prospective students to the University.

Mrs. Kerr said that the Guild's first general meeting would be held Oct. 19 in More Hall at 8:00 p.m. Mothers and wives of USD students are invited to attend, she said.

Temporary officers of the Guild are: Mrs. Kerr, Mrs. Evan Mallory, vice-president; Mrs. Mable Strep, secretary; Mrs. Mary Vesco, treasurer; Mrs. Matilda Hart, publicity chairman and Mrs. Harriet Wilson, hospitality chairman.

'The Late George Apley' Early Drama Choice

Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20-21, "The Late George Apley" will be presented by the Alcala Masquers.

This announcement was made by Fr. Leo F. Lanphier, director of dramatics at USD and moderator of the Masquers.

Big Gains Noted In Library Stack During Summer

Fr. Charles J. Dollen, USD's Director of Libraries, needs $360. This is the cost of a complete set of all the works of St. Thomas Aquinas. Father Dollen said that the Leonine edition of St. Thomas' works was available and would be bought for the College for Men library when the money had been raised.

Many new books came in this summer. Jesuit Relations, a 73 volume primary reference source increased the History section. It is valued at $400. It was donated by the University Women's Auxiliary, as was a $500 worth of Standard and Poor's services for the Business Administration section of the library.

The Theology section was increased by Corpus Christianorum, a critical text of the writings of the Fathers and Doctors of the Church. Valued at $24 pre volume, Corpus Christianorum will eventually be a complete 275 volume set.

Other gains were noted in the Journalism section which doubled in size over the summer, and in the Periodical section which increased by 30 publications.

The 20th Century Encyclopedia of Catholicism was being purchased at a rate of two volumes per month. This work, edited by the French scholar, Henri Daniel-Rops, will be received as it is translated and will consist of approximately 200 volumes when completed.

Open House Gets Parents To More Hall

The College for Men welcomed more than 250 parents to its halls last Sunday.

Increased student enrollment and prompt mailing of invitations resulted in the largest attendance in the history of this annual event.

Fr. Russell Wilson, president of the College for Men, addressed the parents in More Hall. He expressed his pleasure at the show of interest on the part of so many parents in the education of their sons.

Father Wilson pointed out that

Ron House leads the cast as George Apley. Others in the cast from the Men's College include William Ambre as John Apley, Gene de Falco as Roger Newcomb, Fred Gunther as Horatio Willing, Jim MacCracken as Howard Boulder, C. G. Walker as Julian H. Dole, Donald Geising as Wilson and Paul Vesco as Henry.

The Masquers will be assisted by the Alcala Players, the College for Women drama group. Alcala Players casted include Angel Bocchino as Eleanor Apley, Annette Vanier as Aurelia Apley Newcomb, Glory Mullen as Jane Willing, Rose Mary Jones as Lydie Leyton, Linda Hiett as Emily Southworth and Janet Beck as Margaret.

"The play is a sophisticated comedy," said Father Lanphier. "It is hard to act, because of the small amount of action in the play."

The play depicts the life and loves of a highbrow Boston family. It was written by John P. Marquand and George S. Kaufman.

Ronald Coleman starred in the Hollywood film version. Leo G. Carroll starred in the Broadway stage production.

ates met at the home of Rudy Alvarez, '58. Elections were held. Dick Korder, '58, became president; Jim Fitzgerald, vice-president; Rudy Alvarez, secretary. Action taken: President Korder and Vice-president Fitzgerald were designated to draft a constitution. The completion of this draft was to determine the date of the next meeting. There have been no further meetings, but Korder, father of a new baby boy, promised action "this week."

"we invited the parents to meet their sons' teachers. The buildings, of course, are a part of the university, but the faculty and the students are what comprise a university. They are the life of the university."

Each department head then introduced his associates to the audience.

The Alcala Masquers presented a scene from their 1957 production, "Home of the Brave." Don Geising as T.J., Alex Harper as Coney, and Ron House as Mingo acted the 10 minute scene. Fr. Leo F. Lanphier, USD's director of dramatics, accompanied Hugo Soto and Marty Murphy on the piano as they sang a medley of popular songs.

The parents rounded out the day with a buffet luncheon and a tour of the campus.

College For Men Program Changes

The College for Men has made some new changes in its curricula. There are now two main divisions comprising the curricula at USD:

1. The Division of Business Administration, offering two curricula leading to (a) a Bachelor of Business Administration degree with a field of concentration in Accounting, Management or Marketing, and (b) a Bachelors of Arts degree in Economics.

2. The Division of Arts and Sciences has six major fields of concentration available to the candidate for a Bachelor of Arts degree in English, History, Philosophy, Mathematics, Pre-Engineering, and Pre-Law.

General degree requirements at the University have also been revised. Now required of all students is one year of a laboratory science regardless of high school courses taken in this field. Also required of all students pursuing a program leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree is 12 to 14 units of a foreign language. The language requirement had previously been eight units. The Business Administration curricula no longer includes any foreign language requirement.

USD Apartments Boast Features

The University apartments for resident men students have added new features for the 58 students living there.

A new road has been built to provide off-street parking. The students now have a recreation room, and a supply store has been opened to help provide their basic needs. Also, a laundry will be opened shortly for their use. All this has been added since last year.

The apartments were built to house a maximum of 180 students. The rates are $135 per semester for an eight-man apartment, and $200 per semester for a four-man apartment. The eight-man apartments have two bathrooms and four sinks. The four-man apartments have one bath.

The administration desires to develop a spirit of self government among the students living in the apartments.

Several apartments are now available. Special rates are given to law school students and their wives, according to Fr. William Spain.

Seminary News

Religious instruction for the Marine and Naval personnel has long been a tradition in the Theology Department of Immaculate Heart Seminary. With the formation of the Immaculata Parish, a new phase of this program was inaugurated this fall. The theologians, in addition to their work with servicemen, teach religion to public school students of the parish.

At present there are 168 students receiving instructions. Classes are held in the seminary at 9:00 a.m. on Sunday mornings for a 40 minute period. The students enrolled in the classes range from second grade through high school.

Anita Goes; Dean Parker Has Woes

Irving W. Parker, dean of admissions at the College for Men, is in a quandary. Anita Velazquez has left the admissions office to resume studies at Mt. St. Mary's College, Los Angeles.

"In my estimation," sighed Dean Parker, "Anita is one of the four most capable women I have ever known. Her services will be greatly missed. She has a brilliant future."

Anita was a 1958 graduate of the College for Women. She worked in the admissions office for over four years. Dean Parker said it would be "nigh impossible" for him to name all the outstanding things Anita had accomplished while working in the admissions office.

One thing Anita did do will affect College for Men students for quite a long time. Anita typed the most widely known work on the campus — Dean Parker's Master's thesis.

Anita plans to get her M.A. in history, and return to San Diego to teach high school.

Judy Monahan and Beth Quinn from the C. W. have replaced Anita in the admissions office.

SAM Formed By Students

One of the newest clubs to be formed on the USD campus is SAM, the Society for the Advancement of Management. SAM is a professional businessman's club.

Last week, at SAM's first meeting, club officers were chosen: Gene de Falco, president; Tim Leyden, vice-president; and Hector Cueller, secretary.

De Falco said that there were 40 members of SAM at USD. He said that SAM's purpose was to acquaint the student with the affairs of large-scale business operations. SAM's plans include tours of industrial plants and practical experience with businessmen, he said.

LAW SCHOOL

Jurisprudence at New York University; James F. Mulvaney is engaged in the corporate practice of law with the C. Arnholt Smith Enterprises; Lawrence Patton has ben with the School of Law four years and is a member of the firm of Lindley, Lazar and Scales.

Paul Peterson, beginning his second year at the School of Law is a member of the firm of White, Froehlich and Peterson; John S. Rhoades, formerly City Prosecutor, has been teaching at the School of Law for three years; John M. Riley is a practicing attorney in San Diego with his own offices; Richard S. L. Roddis taught at the University of California and Golden Gate College of Law, and is now associated with the firm of Hillyer, Crake and Irwin.

Enrollment figures include five women students and five recent graduates from the College for Men. Total enrollment is 147 students. About 90 per cent of those students who have completed their course at the School of Law have passed the State Bar examinations.

These former students are now engaged in various phases of the practice of law. Most are in private practice, either in their own offices or in law firm in San Diego. One is a member of the legal staff at Convair, and another is on the staff of the City Attorney.

NEWS BRIEFS

Students not living at home on campus are required to register their address in the office of the dean of students.

Minor students must have written permission from their parent or guardian to live off campus.

The College for Men has arranged with the School of Law a combined program for the B.A. degree.

Any student, upon having acquired 96 units with an overall "B" average may proceed immediately to the School of Law. After he has then satisfactorily completed units sufficient to bring his total to 128, he will be eligible for the degree of B. A.

Copies of the College for Men constitution are now available for every student.

A directive from the president's office said that it was mandatory every student have a copy. They will be sold at the next ASB meeting at a nominal cost with the proceeds going to the ASB fund or some subsidiary thereof.

Next year the constitution will be included in a student handbook which will also contain orientation directions, sports schedules and student body officers.

The University is carrying a medical insurance plan for all students. This service returns no profit to the school, but provides complete medical coverage for the student.

This announcement was made by Fr. William D. Spain, administrative vice-president. "The plan is desirous for those living on campus," said Fr. Spain. "At present 20 per cent of the men students are carrying it."

The Women's College requires all its boarders to take the plan. The cost is $16 for the academic year.

ADS, GRIPES

The bulletin boards are not where the students are, some agreed. They said they didn't take time to read the notices posted. In an effort to reach the students, the windows in the admissions and publicity offices have been cluttered up with notices.

The administration advises each student to check the bulletin boards at least once a day.

"But let's face it," said Ned Wilson, French major, "not many of us do it."

John Peck, boy wonder, said that the many student short cuts to the parking lot allowed students to bypass the bulletin boards. A pre-law student said he hadn't seen a poster yet, because he always came in through the back door.

Most students agreed that the postres were generally poor, unattractive and lacking in information.

Fred Widmer, tall and dark, said, "The homecoming poster is the first decent one they've put up."

Sophomore Anthony Vacci, complainde, "A poster on the bulletin board isn't enough. We need them everywhere—in all the classrooms, the parking lot and cafeteria. Hang them everywhere anyone could go."

Walker added, "They're lousy."

Students unanimously agreed that their advertising methods were inadequate and inefficient, and were the cause of many frictions between the Men's and Women's Colleges.

A philosophy major came up with an answer. "Just walk up to a girl and say, 'I think that there is something coming up this weekend. I don't know what it is, but will you go with me?'"

Later man, later.

CAL WESTERN NEW USD FOE

The University of San Diego and California Western University will initiate intra-city sports competition this school year. This announcement came from Fr. J. Walshe Murray, director of athletics.

He said that two baseball games and one basketball game with the Westerners had been added to the Pioneer schedule. Football will be included in the 1960 schedule, he added.

Father Murray also said that he had received a letter from Dr. William L. Terry, director of athletics at San Diego State College, concerning the Aztec's temporary policy on intra-city athletics.

According to information received by Father Murray, SDSC's policy was not based on relative team strength, academic requirements or financial motives. The new policy had the approval of the San Diego State College Athletic Department and the Student-Faculty Athletic Committee, Terry said.

SDSC's policy in regard to both USD and Cal Western is, "to postpone scheduling in any sport until we have had opportunity to schedule each other and then pass judgment on intra-city competition," said Father Murray.

Terry said this policy was brought about by the feeling that the two new institutions in the city should pioneer intra-city competition.

Father Murray said Terry personally assured him that, "if relations between USD and Cal Western are successful, San Diego State College will participate in athletic competition with both schools."

The two baseball games with Cal Western are scheduled on Sat., March 26, 1960, a home game for USD, and Sat., April 2, 1960, with Cal Western as the home team. The basketball game has been scheduled for Sat., Feb. 26, 1960 at Mission Bay High School Gym.

Jan Chapman and Jack Garofono Prep For Pepperdine

Pioneers Seek First Win From Winless Pepperdine

USD seeks its first win of the season tomorrow night at 8:00 p.m. against Pepperdine College before a homecoming crowd at Balboa Stadium.

The Waves will be making their first appearance in San Diego against USD, and hope to upset the Pioneers' homecoming festivities.

USD turned out to be unwelcome guests at the Waves' homecoming party last year at El Camino Stadium in Los Angeles. USD won that one, 45-13.

Both teams enter tomorrow's game winless. Despite this, the game should unveil an interesting and effective aerial attack by both sides.

The Waves, in their first three games, have lost to Nevada 27-12; to unbeaten L.A. State, 48-14; and Whittier College, 23-6.

The Pioneers have lost to Cal Poly (San Luis Obispo), 36-14; and Cal Poly (Pomona) 42-12.

USD found itself in a peculiar position last week when the plane chartered for the flight to Gunnison, Colo., failed to arrive from Los Angeles due to engine trouble. Fr. J. Walshe Murray, athletic director, was forced to cancel the game with Colorado Western State because of this.

Pepperdine, under Coach John Scolinos, operates from a professional-T formation centered around veteran quarterback Steve Johnson. The Waves have returning lettermen Ray Wrenn, Bob Hammett and Denny Aria.

The Pioneers will counter with star quarterback Jan Chapman, and end C. G. Walker. Chapman has completed 21 of 39 passes for a total of 297 yards and three touchdowns. In last year's contest against Pepperdine Chapman hit on 13 of 15 passes for 217 yards and two touchdowns. Walker leads USD in pass receptions with 154 yards.

Marines Next

The University of San Diego will meet the San Diego Marines next Saturday night Oct. 24, at Balboa Stadium. Game time is 8:00 p.m. The Pioneers will be seeking their first touchdown and first win against the Marines. MCRD won 41-0 in 1957 and 35-0 last season.

Two 'Polys' Smash USD, 36-14, 42-12

The University of San Diego was set back in its season opener by a strong Cal Poly (San Luis Obispo) team, 36-14. The Pioneers were trampled by a herd of Mustang backs in the first quarter but fought back in an impressive second half.

Cal Poly opened the scoring, after two minutes had elapsed in the first quarter, with quarterback Tom Klosterman passing 50 yards to end Curtis Hill who in turn lateralled to fullback Carl Bowser. Four minutes later quarterback John Panagakis passed 18 yards to halfback Willis Hill for the second score.

Klosterman capped the first quarter scoring by plunging from the one. Bowser returned in the second quarter to score his second touchdown on another 50-yard pass-lateral play from quarterback Tollner to end Curtis Hill. Halfback Claude Turner scored Cal Poly's fifth touchdown taking a seven-yard pass from Klosterman.

The Pioneers threatened twice only to be frustrated by fumbles. Jan Chapman climaxed a long USD drive with 4:30 remaining in the first period with a one yard plunge.

Chapman again figured in the Pioneer scoring. With 4:30 remaining in the game he connected on a 15-yard pass to halfback Chuck Williams.

Chapman performed brilliantly behind good blocking, completing 13 of 23 passes for 152 yards and one touchdown. Ends Lavon Baker (five receptions) and C. G. Walker (four) were Chapman's favorite targets.

Joe Loeschmig, an end last season, opened his sophomore season at left half and led both teams in individual rushing with 61 yards in nine carries.

The Pioneers ran into an overpowering Cal Poly of Pomona for their second straight setback of the season. Pomona Catholic High's field was the scene of the dismal 42-12 trouncing handed the Pioneers. The loss gave USD a season record of 0-2. Quarterback George Swade led the Bronco passing attack by connecting for touchdown passes of seven and 61 yards and scored another on a 12-yard end sweep.

Speedster Joe Gray picked up 58 yards in 11 carries to lead the USD running attack.
