The University of San Diego women's basketball team enters the 1992-1993 season off a difficult 1991-'92 campaign — a season beset with illness, injuries and one of the most competitive non-conference schedules in the country. With a core of seven solid returning letterwinners, a renewed and spirited attitude and the healthy return of several key players, the USD Toreros are looking at the 1992-1993 season with great optimism. They are looking to “Make It Happen!”

The Toreros return three starters to the '92-'93 lineup — seniors Angie Straub and Chris Enger and junior Jill Shaver. While each is important and a key to the ultimate success of the Toreros, it is the 6'4" Enger that — as the team’s center — draws the most attention. The premier shot blocker on the West Coast, Enger is coming off a ’91-'92 season in which she averaged 13.6 points, 6.4 rebounds and 2.9 blocked shots despite missing the season's final 12 games due to injury. Already the USD career leader with 235 blocked shots, she is closing in on school career marks in scoring and rebounding. A return to form by a healthy Enger will be a key ingredient for a successful 1992-1993 season.

Straub returns for her fourth season at the controls of the Torero attack. As she approaches the USD career assist record, the 5'5" Straub looks to increase her other offensive contributions. She seeks to set the tone for a new Toreros' attitude with a tenacity and determination that marks her as a true team leader.

The team’s scoring leader in '91-'92, the 6'0" Shaver should return to her role as a starting forward. A proven scorer who has the capabilities of igniting the team with her offensive prowess, Shaver looks to improve on a 13.6 per game scoring average that garnered her WCC “Honorable Mention” honors following her sophomore season.

Rounding out the upper class line-up are juniors Melisa Sortino and Charlene Bippes. Sortino, a 5'7" guard who saw spot duty during her first two seasons with the Toreros, is an excellent outside shooter and a fierce competitor who has proven to be the team’s main three-point threat. Bippes, a 6'1" forward from Big Bend Community College, will be a valuable contributor due to her size, strength and experience. A rugged rebounder and defender, Bippes holds season and career records in shot blocking and field goal accuracy at Big Bend.

The remainder of the USD roster — three returning sophomores and four newcomers — give the '92-'93 Toreros welcome depth. Guard Serena Eiermann has the ball-handling abilities and the outside shooting touch to play both the wing or point guard spots. Defensive master Vicki de Jesus will provide the Toreros with needed frontcourt speed and will see time along with Shaver and Bippes at forward. At 5'10", Brittany Volk has the size to play forward and the shooting skills necessary to play guard and should see action at both positions.

Backing up Enger at center will be 6'3" sophomore Nya Jensen. Jensen, who hails from Copenhagen, Denmark, is an aggressive rebounder who has shown a fine touch around the basket. Backing up Straub at point guard will be 5'7" freshman Laura King while 5'10" newcomers Michele Brovelli and Angie Cooper have the size and mobility to play both forward and guard.

The stage is set for an exciting 1992-1993 season. The Toreros are prepared for the challenges and opportunities that await them. They are ready to “Make It Happen!”

A Message From President Hughes

The women’s basketball program is integral to the University’s athletic effort, just as the athletic program is central to our view of education — that education should develop the whole person.

The team moved to Division I in 1979, and each year has grown in strength and competitive capability. The University is proud of our women’s basketball accomplishments, and pleased to support the program in every way possible, including scholarship aid to our athletes, recognition of the values of the program, and promotion of intercollegiate athletics. I believe our USD team will be receiving some national attention this year, and I look forward to watching the season’s events unfold.
TOM IANNACONDE
Director of Athletics

Tom Iannacone is in his fifth year as the University of San Diego Director of Athletics. He assumed the position September 1, 1988 after a nationwide search.

The 51-year-old Iannacone has made great strides in his first four years. His accomplishments at USD include an on-going internal reorganization of the athletic department, plus improvements in the major areas of personnel, scholarship assistance, facilities, promotions and marketing, fund raising, drug education and academic support. In addition, he was instrumental in USD gaining membership to the new Pioneer Football League, which begins in 1993.

Iannacone came to the University of San Diego with an impressive list of credentials and a thorough knowledge of intercollegiate athletics. Prior to USD, he was Director of Athletics for four years at St. Francis College in Loretto, Pennsylvania.

Hard work, loyalty and dedication are just some of the words that easily describe Iannacone. His major contributions at St. Francis included the expansion of sports offerings and scholarships for both men and women, improved budgets, renovation of athletic facilities, the hiring of additional staff, and the establishment of a master plan for the future and continual development of athletics. He served on several committees, most notably the Eastern Collegiate Athletics Conference (ECAC) Infractions committee and the Northeast Conference committee on conference development, which developed a plan for the future and implemented the position for a full-time commissioner. Iannacone also served as a consultant to the NCAA I-AAA Football Committee.

Prior to his tenure at St. Francis, Iannacone served as assistant athletic director at Fordham University from 1977-84. Along with his administrative duties at Fordham, he was an assistant football coach for the Rams. From 1975-78, he acted as offensive coordinator and backfield coach as Fordham captured 19 victories in their final 24 games during this span. The 1977 squad was and remains the highest scoring team in Fordham history, averaging 34 points per game.

In 1983 Iannacone was presented the prestigious Jack Coffey Award by the Alumni Association for outstanding contributions to Fordham athletics. He also served on various Metro Atlantic Conference committees.

Prior to Fordham, Iannacone taught physical education and coached track and football in the Norwalk, Ridgefield and New Milford (CT) school districts from 1964-76. He made his collegiate football coaching debut as an offensive backfield coach at Western Connecticut State University in 1974.

A 1964 graduate of the University of Connecticut, Iannacone received his master of science degree in physical education from Southern Connecticut State University in 1973.

Tom and his wife, Cynthia, have three children: Tom Jr., Jennifer and Eric; all three are students at USD.
ACADEMICS AND ATHLETICS: A WINNING COMBINATION

At the University of San Diego, Education is synonymous with Athletics: the two go “hand-in-hand”. The USD women’s basketball team has enjoyed much success in the world of academia. They compiled a 3.14 grade point average in 1991-'92 and placed nine players on the West Coast Conference “Scholar-Athlete” Honor Roll: graduated seniors Julie Doria, Debbie Gollnick, Lynda Jones and Julie Lemery and current Toreros Serena Eiermann, Chris Enger, Jill Shaver, Melissa Sortino and Angie Straub. Earning spots on the WCC “All-Academic Team”, which encompassed all sports which the WCC sponsored, were Chris Enger, Debbie Gollnick, Lynda Jones and Jill Shaver.

Former Torero Paula Mascari, who graduated in May of 1990 with a Bachelor’s degree in Communications and a grade point average of 3.70, was named the WCC “Female Scholar-Athlete Of The Year” following her senior year. Paula is the first female athlete at USD to be presented with this prestigious award which is the highest honor bestowed by the West Coast Conference.

Receiving honors is rewarding, but commitment and a strong desire to excel are the keys to academic success. The players, staff and administration all share these ideals. The USD Athletic Department has recently created an avenue to support its student-athletes in the academic arena. The “Accelerated Study Program” helps students new to the University get acclimated to the “USD way of doing things”, according to program director Don Smith. Most importantly, the program helps all students to stay “on top” of their studies through their seasons of competition. In addition to sessions on study skills, note taking and library skills, students have direct access to IBM and Macintosh computers located in the Study Room at the Sports Center.

The success rate of all athletes at USD is very high. However, the NCAA has recently passed legislation that requires all NCAA Division I programs to publish their graduation rates (beginning with the 1984-'85 season). “The NCAA graduation report provides opportunities to report figures for all athletes who complete programs,” responds Regina Sullivan, Assistant Athletic Director at USD. “This also demonstrates the commitment on the part of (all) NCAA members to the academic success of our student-athletes.” While the average graduation rate for all students at USD is 53%, that figure for student-athletes at USD is 69%. The refined graduation rate (includes students who have transferred into USD after their first year) is 91%, a figure that ranks USD at the top in national figures.

Student-athletes on the women’s basketball team reflect the success seen throughout the entire Athletic Department. The coaching staff is committed to ensuring every opportunity for students to graduate. All of the athletes who have played four years for Head Coach Kathy Marpe have either graduated or are currently progressing toward their degrees. Among the majors of those who graduated are: Business Administration, Communications, Computer Science, Education, Liberal Arts, Psychology, Religious Studies and Sociology. The majority of student-athletes are able to complete their degree and graduate within four years — a task that is not easy to achieve!

Academics and Athletics...at USD, it’s a Winning Combination!
TWENTY YEARS OF COLLEGE BASKETBALL: A PERSPECTIVE

The 1992-1993 season represents a milestone of sorts for University of San Diego women’s basketball Head Coach Kathy Marpe. The '92-'93 campaign marks Marpe’s 20th season as a collegiate head coach. This period of longevity offers Marpe a unique vantage point from which to view the past, present and future of the sport of women’s basketball.

“When I started at (the University of) New Mexico (prior to the '73-'74 season), there were few scholarships to be found for women’s sports anywhere,” she reflected. “As a matter of fact, during my first year, I had just one ‘tuition’ to offer and a very small travel and recruiting budget. Women’s basketball at the time was, pretty much, a regionalized sport.”

It is in the area of scholarship and financial considerations that women’s basketball has made its biggest gains, according to Marpe. With funding growing for the sport each year, she feels that women’s basketball has made the transition from a regionalized to a truly national sport.

“The media exposure of women’s basketball has improved with every season. Many schools are now attracting sell-out crowds versus big games on their schedules, such as the crowd that watched the City Championship last season here at USD. Teams now schedule opponents on a regional and national basis. With increased exposure and television contracts, we are quickly becoming a high profile sport.

“Title IX and the ERA established a climate for the improved exposure, increased budgets and added personnel that has allowed women’s athletics to grow into the major force it is today,” Marpe explains. “We are now better able to recruit athletes in all parts of the country instead of being restricted to local or regional areas. At one time, I recruited a specific type of player and changed my system according to the type of players on my team. Today, coaches, for the most part, are looking for taller, quicker athletes that fit into their particular system and style of play.

“At USD, the growth (in my twelve years here) has been dramatic. We are now a member of the West Coast Conference, enabling us to have a conference tournament at the end of the season. The winner of this tournament receives an automatic bid to the NCAA tournament. Post-season play is now the rule and not the exception for women’s teams.

“We have also seen much growth across the board in our conference in other areas such as travel budgets, media exposure and scholarships.”

Marpe has watched her sport move toward the forefront in the area of educational opportunities for women. The University of San Diego, she says, “treats athletics as a main-line part of the educational process. It is considered a healthy arm of the University community and the University environment.” She is in favor of current trends in NCAA legislation because “these NCAA rules will have a definite impact on all areas of athletics. They are certain to create a wake-up call for high school and college athletes, both female and male.

“Gender equity is the buzz word in athletics and the NCAA in the ‘90’s. I think women in sports will see yet another growth spurt that will impact players, teams and society, as a whole. Women will continue to see athletics play a positive and productive role in their lives. The climate is right for women to MAKE IT HAPPEN!”

Women’s basketball has come a long way in the past twenty years. So, too, has USD Head Coach Kathy Marpe. They are an ideal match!
The Dean of Coaches
UNIVERSITY OF SAN DIEGO HEAD COACH KATHY MARPE

Entering her twentieth season as a collegiate basketball head coach (and her thirteenth at USD), University of San Diego women's basketball coach Kathy Marpe has seen many changes in women's basketball. These changes—which have improved the quality of the women's game—are in direct proportion to two factors: better athletes and an increased awareness of women in the field of athletics, in general.

"Today's athletes have gotten bigger, stronger, quicker and more agile," she remarks. "This, in turn, has made the game much better today."

What has not changed in twenty years is Kathy Marpe's philosophy and approach to the game. The "dean" of basketball coaches in the West Coast Conference, Marpe maintains the same ideals that led her to the world of coaching following graduation from the University of Minnesota in 1971 with a Bachelor's degree in Physical Education.

"I have always believed in the concepts of team play and balanced scoring. I have always felt that it is my responsibility to develop my players to their highest potential. My job is to enhance and to teach." Marpe's philosophy is in line with that of the University, in general. "Basketball at USD is just another part of the total educational process. I fully feel that it is important to train not just the athlete, but the whole individual, for life's challenges."

Kathy Marpe began her coaching career at Spring Lake (MN) High School in 1971. She coached girl's volleyball, basketball and softball as well as track and field. Her volleyball and basketball teams qualified for section playoffs in each year of her tutelage.

The world of collegiate athletics beckoned to Marpe and she moved to the University of New Mexico, where she was named women's basketball coach prior to the 1973-1974 season. She coached the Lobos for seven seasons, compiling a fine record of 87-63. While at New Mexico, Marpe was twice a finalist for the Wade "National Coach Of The Year" award as well as being selected "Coach Of The Year" by her conference.

New challenges called to Marpe and she accepted the position of head women's basketball coach at USD prior to the '80-'81 season. Marpe gradually shaped the USD program and has led it to a 122-126 record since the '83-'84 season. The Toreros have posted a 49-45 WCC record since joining the conference prior to the '85-'86 season.

Kathy Marpe is one of the most respected members of her profession. She served on the Kodak All-American selection board and has been on the Western Regional seeding committee for four years. Additionally, Marpe has been a voting member of the Associated Press Top 20 committee for the past fourteen years. She was a member of the gold medal-winning East coaching staff at the 1990 U. S. Olympic Festival.

Assistant Coach CHERYL GETZ

Cheryl Getz begins her first year as chief assistant to USD Head Coach Kathy Marpe. Cheryl comes to USD from Eastern Michigan University, where she served as Head Coach from 1987 through the end of the 1991-1992 season. During her five year tenure at Eastern Michigan, the Eagles compiled an overall record of 46-89, including a record of 12-16 in the 1991-92 season.

Getz is a Cum Laude graduate of the University of Cincinnati where she received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Physical Education in 1982. She played three years for the Lady Bearcats, being named team captain in both her junior and senior years. She served as a graduate assistant coach at Central Michigan University (1982-'84), receiving a Master of Arts degree in Athletic Administration in 1984. Prior to serving at Eastern Michigan, Getz served as an assistant coach at both the University of Dayton ('84-'86) and George Washington University ('86-'87).

"Winning games is never easy, but building a solid program may be even more difficult," Getz remarks in discussing her philosophy. "I believe my experience in program development as both a head coach and an assistant coach can bring fresh ideas in areas such as recruiting, promotions and player development."

She feels comfortable in joining the Toreros' coaching staff.

"Coach Marpe and I share the same philosophy: that student-athletes should strive for excellence in the classroom, on a personal level and on the basketball court. Since recruiting will be one of my main responsibilities, I needed to know that we could attract the top-notch student athletes. Coach Marpe is an excellent coach with a solid reputation."

"What better place to recruit to than the University of San Diego!"

Assistant Coach MELISSA ALLEN

A Players' Coach. Such words describe second year USD assistant coach Melissa Allen. As recently as 1990, Allen could be found on the hardwood as a backcourt star at the University of Hawaii. Now, she is on the other end of the whistle, giving advice and instruction instead of taking it. She feels that her recent playing experiences will help her in her career as a coach.

"Oh, yes, definitely!" she responds when asked about her transition from player to coach. "I feel that I still have that player's mentality, that I can relate to what a player is feeling and thinking. I think I'll be able to share their experiences and relate to whatever problems that may arise."

Allen graduated from Hawaii in 1990 with a Bachelor's degree in Secondary Education. Selected as Hawaii's "Scholar-Athlete Of The Year" in 1987, Allen is a firm believer that athletics and academics do, indeed, mix.

"Because of the demands placed on today's student-athletes, I think it's imperative that each person be successful in both worlds. I don't think that today's athlete can be successful in one area without being successful in the other."

Allen will be responsible for the Toreros' scouting program and will work with the team's guards as well as assisting Head Coach Kathy Marpe with everyday practice and game day organization.

Assistant Coach MIKE BARNEY

Assistant coach Mike Barney returns for his third year as a Torero assistant coach. Barney, who will work with the Torero centers and forwards, is a firm believer that hard work and basketball success go hand in hand.

"I feel that basketball is, in reality, a very simple game. With a little hard work, any player can achieve a great sense of enjoyment."

Barney prepped locally at San Diego's Kearny High School. He was a member of a San Diego CIF champion team as a junior and was selected to the All-Sentinel Kiwanis and SDCIF Honorable Mention squads as a senior.

Barney feels his role with the Toreros is very simple. "My job is to teach the players to have a basketball mentality...to make them more aware of their purpose on the court. I also try to bring more fun to the game. Those two things — awareness and fun — make the game of basketball much easier to play."

Mike Barney joined the Torero coaching staff at the insistence of Head Coach Kathy Marpe. It is one association that has proven beneficial to both people — and to the Toreros.

San Diego is truly "America's Finest City." A modern metropolis (second largest in California) and a popular year-round resort, San Diego spreads from the coast to the desert, including cliffs, mesas, hills, canyons and valleys. San Diego also surrounds one of California's greatest natural harbors which has been a dominant factor in determining the city's history, economy and development.

As home of the largest naval air station on the west coast, the federal government ranks first in economic importance to the city with the aerospace equipment industry second. Tourism closely follows as third. Business and pleasure coexist in harmony in San Diego. The climate, attractive setting and recreational facilities make San Diego "America's Finest City."

According to Sports Illustrated, "For sheer numbers of participants, diversity of pursuits of involvement, San Diego must rank as the sports and fitness capital of the U.S." Sports are a major feature of the San Diego lifestyle. One can sail, swim, surf, scuba dive, snorkel, wind-surf on 70 miles of public beach or golf at any of the over 70 golf courses throughout the county. Balboa Park, a 1,158-acre recreation and cultural center, offers 25 tennis courts, two gymnasiums, two municipal golf courses and one of the nation's finest zoos. Mission Bay Park is a 4,600-acre playground for jogging, fishing, bicycling, tennis, golf and kite flying.

As well as participating in recreational activities, San Diego supports their professional teams--the Chargers in football, the Padres in baseball, the Sockers in soccer and the Gulls in hockey. Whatever sporting activity there is, it's here in San Diego--the sports capital of the U.S.A.

UNIVERSITY PROFILE

The University of San Diego is an independent Catholic university located on a 170-acre mesa overlooking Mission Bay, San Diego Harbor, and the Pacific Ocean. The campus is named Alcala Park after the Spanish university town where St. Didacus (i.e., Diego) spent much of his time.

Complementing its splendid natural setting is the University's location just 10 minutes from downtown San Diego - conveniently close to the major business, cultural, residential, and recreational areas, as well as the rail, bus and air terminals.

Founded in 1949, USD is presently experiencing record attendance. Undergraduate enrollment stands at 3,900, graduate students bring the overall campus enrollment to over 6,000.

The University includes a College of Arts and Sciences, and Schools of Business Administration, Education, Nursing, and Law. Each is characterized by high academic standards, small classes, and excellent student-faculty relations.

Though the majority of students come from the West Coast, every region of the United States is well-represented on campus. Students also attend USD from 24 foreign countries.

In January of 1987, USD opened the doors to its new University Center, a 74,500 square foot building for students, faculty and staff. The two level Center is the largest building on campus. It is the eighth major project completed at USD during the past ten years. It's a place for people to meet for leisure and fun, and a place for extracurricular activities.

Recreation, intramural and athletic activities are expanding rapidly. Among the many recreation and intramural programs offered, some of the favorites include: Mission Bay Aquatic Center activities (water skiing, surfing, sailing, crew), modern dance, aerobics, bowling, karate, backpacking, softball, tennis, floor hockey and volleyball.

USD intercollegiate sports for men include football, soccer, cross country, basketball, baseball, crew, tennis and golf. In women's intercollegiate sports, USD fields programs in volleyball, cross country, swimming, basketball, softball, crew, tennis and soccer.
