Facts

 USD University of San Diego

PROFILE

The University of San Diego is an independent Catholic institution of higher education located on 180 acres overlooking San Diego's Mission Bay.

USD is known for its commitment to teaching, the liberal arts, the formation of values and community involvement. The university takes pride in the personalized approach and holistic view of students it brings to the educational process.

Chartered in 1949, USD enrolls more than 6,000 students who may choose from more than 50 undergraduate and graduate degree programs. The university's academic units include the College of Arts and Sciences, and the Schools of Business Administration, Education, Law and Nursing. The School of Graduate and Continuing Education coordinates the graduate programs of all schools with the exception of the School of Law.

Throughout its history, USD has remained committed to the ideals of liberal education and to recognizing the dignity of men and women as human beings and as creatures of God. As a Catholic institution, the university is committed to examination of the Catholic tradition as the basis of a continuing search for meaning in contemporary life.

USD offers a year-round calendar of cultural events open to the public, and its men's and women's sports teams compete against national opponents in 15 sports.

Notable

- For the third consecutive year, USD climbed in the annual rankings of top universities and colleges compiled by U.S. News and World Report. In the magazine's 1991 survey, USD's ranking increased one notch from the previous year to third among regional universities in the West. Based on survey results from college presidents, deans and admissions directors, institutions were rated on academic reputation, student selectivity, faculty resources, financial resources and student satisfaction.
- In February 1992, President Author E. Hughes takes on a leading national role in Catholic education as chair of the board of directors for the Association of Catholic Colleges and Universities. ACCU represents more than 200 regionally accredited Catholic colleges and universities.
- For the second consecutive year, USD and one of its professors have been selected as recipients of The Sears-Roebuck Foundation's 1990-91 Teaching Excellence and Campus Leadership Awards. Dr. Dirk Yandell '77, associate professor of economics, was one of 700 faculty nationwide honored for their resourcefulness and leadership. Dr. Judy Liu, associate professor of sociology, received the 1989-90 award.
- The university's Student Literacy Corps received the Shelter Award in 1991 from the San Diego Coalition for Affordable Housing. The students were honored for their service as reading tutors to children and adults at the University Canyon public housing complex.
- David Fletcher '91 (MBA) hit the jackpot with recycled plastic bottles recently when he placed second at the International Business Plan Competition in Kenasaw, Ga. The competition invited college students from around the world to submit business plans for fictitious companies. Fletcher created Delta Recycling Inc., which would buy used plastic bottles, clean and reprocess the material, and then sell it to manufacturers for use in packaging to save money and protect the environment.

The Past and Its People

- 1949 Charter granted.
- 1952 San Diego College for Women opens.
Founding force: Reverend Mother Rosalie Hill, RSCJ.
- 1954 The College for Men and School of Law open.
Founding force: Most Reverend Charles F. Buddy, first bishop of San Diego.
- 1969 School of Graduate and Continuing Education founded.
- 1972 Colleges for Men and Women and School of Law merge to form University of San Diego.
Uniting force: Dr. Author E. Hughes, the merged university's first and current president.
- 1972 Schools of Business Administration and Education founded.
- 1974 Hahn School of Nursing founded.

The largest capital campaign in USD's history concluded its formal phase in the fall of 1991. Funds from the $47.5 million "Education for a New Age" campaign provide resources for three major elements of the university's mission: financial aid for students, increased or improved facilities, and support for faculty and their programs.

ALCALÁ PARK

USD's 180-acre campus is located atop a mesa overlooking San Diego's Mission Bay, near the intersection of Interstates 5 and 8. The campus is regarded as one of the most architecturally unique in the country, with 18 major buildings designed in an ornamental 16th century Spanish Renaissance style.

The USD campus was named Alcalá Park after a Spanish village near Madrid — Alcalá de Henares. Founded by the Greeks as Complutum, the village was later renamed Al Kala (the Castle) Nahar (after the river Henares) by the Moslems. Christians recaptured the village centuries later and founded a university whose buildings became the inspiration for USD's architectural style.

All of USD's administrative and classroom facilities are located on the upper campus. At the east end are the Alcalá Vista apartments, the Mission housing complex, graduate student apartments and the Sports Center complex, which includes Torero Stadium, tennis courts, an Olympic-sized swimming pool, gymnasium, weight room and other playing fields.

Since 1984, USD has completed seven major construction and expansion projects. In 1990, two projects were completed and dedicated — the Douglas F. Manchester Family Child Development Center, a 6,000-square-foot facility located southeast of Cunningham Baseball Stadium; and the newly expanded and renovated Katherine M. and George M. Pardee Jr. Legal Research Center, a facility that is double the size of the former law library and reflects the latest developments in information technology.

Other projects completed within the past decade include the Alcalá Vista apartments (1987), a 156-unit student apartment complex; the Ernest and Jean Hahn University Center (1986), a 75,000-square-foot building that houses dining, meeting and office areas; Olin Hall (1984), home to the School of Business Administration; the Douglas F. Manchester Executive Conference Center (1984); and the Helen K. and James S. Copley Library (1984).

Intercollegiate Athletics

Athletics, both scholarship and non-scholarship sports, play an important role in USD's day-to-day campus life, enhanced by outstanding outdoor opportunities and excellent campus facilities.

Men's basketball, baseball, soccer, tennis, golf and cross country teams compete at the Division I level and belong to the West Coast Conference. The football team competes at the Division III level as an independent. Men's and women's crew teams also compete as independents.

Women's basketball, cross country, tennis and volleyball teams compete at the Division I level as members of the West Coast Conference. The women's swim team is a member of the Pacific Collegiate Swim Conference and the softball team competes as an independent.

Scholarships are available in men's basketball, baseball, soccer and tennis, and women's basketball, swimming, tennis and volleyball.

Nickname: Toreros (bullfighters), men
Toreras, women

Colors: Columbia blue, navy blue and white

Chief conference rivals: Pepperdine University, Loyola Marymount University, Santa Clara University, University of San Francisco

Intramurals

The USD intramural program is an integral part of student life on campus. Last year more than two-thirds of the university community — including graduate and undergraduate students, faculty and staff — participated in at least one of the many activities offered.

Leagues, tournaments and special events include flag football, tennis, volleyball, basketball, softball, golf, inner tube water polo, floor hockey, bowling and other competitions.

In addition, USD students and employees can participate in a variety of outdoor activities sponsored by Outdoor Adventures. Skiing, rafting, rock-climbing, horseback riding, mountain biking and hiking are some of the options available to the adventurous.

The 1990-91 academic year marked the first time in USD history that three athletes were named NCAA Division I All-Americans during the same year. Men's soccer player Trong Nguyen '91, women's tennis player Tonya Fuller '91 and men's tennis player Jose Luis Noriega '92 garnered the honors based on outstanding performances.

CULTURAL ACTIVITIES

Founders Gallery

Frequent exhibitions by guest, community, student and alumni artists are displayed in this gallery located in Founders Hall. Recent exhibits included "The Changing of the Guard," an exhibit by Fred Thieme combining sculptural forms, projected and kinetic images, and sound; "Place and Presence — Public Art in San Diego"; "John Halaka — Paintings and Drawings: An Exhibition"; and "Second Spring," paintings and sculptures by 10 contemporary Chinese artists.

Music

Noon concerts are sponsored on a regular basis by the Associated Students Cultural Arts Board. The University Choir presents a comprehensive program of liturgical choral music every Sunday. The University Symphony Orchestra performs each semester. Through the new Choral Scholars program, 10 talented students have formed a touring show choir — The New Tradition — to perform and compete throughout the region.

Theater

USD's fine arts department, in conjunction with San Diego's Old Globe Theater, offers a Master in Fine Arts program, drawing select students from across the nation who participate in practical theater work as well as academic studies in USD's English department. MFA students stage campus productions regularly.

Speakers

Distinguished speakers routinely appear on campus, contributing to USD's cultural and intellectual diversity. Mother Teresa, Coretta Scott King, comedian Bob Hope, author Jonathan Kozol, environmentalist David Brower and Li Lu, an organizer of the 1989 student demonstration in China's Tiananmen Square, are just a few of those who have visited in recent years.

DID YOU KNOW?

Of Note

Ruling class...

The 1991 entering freshman class held a mean high school grade point average of 3.30 in college preparatory classes and mean SAT scores of 482, verbal, and 536, math.

Second to none...

Each year, about 10 percent of USD's graduates receive their degrees cum laude, magna cum laude or summa cum laude.

A frosh start...

All freshmen are assigned to a preceptorial, a course in which the teacher or preceptor acts as official academic adviser to the student until the student's major is declared. This ensures close student-faculty contact and academic orientation to USD during the transition to college life.

Palate pleasing...

USD's Dining Services whipped up another winning recipe for the 18th annual National Association of College and University Food Services (NACUFS) competition. Dining Services' main dining room was awarded first place in the residence halls standard menu division for medium-size schools. The award follows honors for Dining Services' retail operations and banquets and catering brochure/standard menu each of the last two years.

Game, set, match...

The 1990-91 USD women's tennis team, under the guidance of Sherri Stephens, advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the third consecutive year.

In good faith...

The delinquency rate on loans to USD students is among the lowest in the United States.

Pass the word...

The student newspaper is the Vista, published weekly. The Law School student paper is called Motions.

Give thanks...

The office of Campus Ministry offers masses for students three times each weekday, twice on Saturday and four times each Sunday.
