THE GAME: The USD Toreros (2-3) return to action tonight, October 19th, with a home PFL contest against Evansville. Kickoff is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. at Torero Stadium.

THE SERIES: The Toreros lead the series 2-1. All three games have been close with Evansville winning in 1993 (27-21), and USD winning the last two (28-16 in 1994; 19-17 last year). This will be the first PFL night game that Evansville has ever played.

HEAD COACH KEVIN MCGARRY: Kevin McGarry (USD, '79), who is in the midst of his first season as head coach, takes a record of 2-3 into Saturday's game. McGarry, an assistant coach at USD the past eighteen seasons, including the last fourteen as defensive coordinator and defensive backs coach, replaced Brian Fogarty who stepped down to become USD's Director of Athletic Development. McGarry received both his B.A. in Education and M.S. in Education Administration from USD, and is currently on a leave of absence from USD's Doctoral program in Education. Kevin and his wife, Mary Ann, reside in Scripps Ranch with their four children: twins Pat and Mike (9 year-olds), Timbo (6 years old) and Matt, who arrived this past March.

PFL STANDINGS & SCHEDULE: Drake (3-0; 5-1); Dayton (1-0; 6-0); Valparaiso (1-1; 3-2); SAN DIEGO (1-1; 2-3); Evansville (0-2; 2-3); Butler (0-2; 1-5). PFL Games for Oct. 19: Butler at Dayton (1:30 EDT), Drake at Valparaiso (1:30 CDT), Evansville at San Diego (7:00 PDT).

TORERO UPDATE: At the midway point, the University of San Diego Toreros have a record of 2-3 overall and 1-1 in the Pioneer Football League ... USD is coming off a bye and this week will try to improve to 2-1 in the PFL as they take on visiting University of Evansville (2-3; 0-2 PFL) ... after five games, the Toreros are being paced by junior TB Evan Hlavacek (348 yards rushing; 5 TDs; 30 points; 9.8 punt return average; 23.5 kickoff return average), senior QB John Khamis (35-for-64, 500 yards, 3 TDs, 3 int.), junior WR Chris Del Santo (12 receptions for 180 yards, 1 TD), freshman WR Dylan Ching (12 catches for 144 yards), senior punter Mike Bueller (41.2 punting average), senior free safety Jeb Dougherty (55 tackles, 1 interception), senior LB Robert Magnussen (42 tackles, 3 fumble recoveries), and sophomore DB Travis Bellinger (41 tackles). Among national leaders in NCAA I-AA, Bueller is 21st in punting (41.2). As a team, San Diego ranks 14th in turnover margin (+1.40).

SCOUTING THE OPPONENT: Evansville is under the direction of 6th year coach Robin Cooper (29-25) ... the Aces return 36 lettermen and 10 starters from last year's 5-5 club (1-4 PFL) ... this season they own wins over Quincy (34-21) and McKendree (21-8), with losses to Cumberland (29-48), Dayton (0-42) and Drake (34-55) ... the 89 points scored in their loss to Drake this past weekend were the most points scored in a UE football game since 1980 ... sophomore WR Vince Tweddel was named the PFL Offensive Player of the Week after he hauled in six receptions for 222 yards and four touchdowns ... his four TD catches covered 75, 16, 48 and 58 yards ... QB Eric Goebel finished the day 14-for-27 for 294 yards and 5 TDs ... Evansville totaled 425 yards of offense, while the defense gave up 608 yards (364 rush/244 pass) to Drake ... Saturday's game was tied 21-11 at halftime, and UE trailed by only 35-28 midway through the third quarter when Drake reeled off 20 points in 15 minutes to put the game away ... 5-game leaders for Evansville include RB Sean Bennett (418 yards rushing, 3 TDs; 24 receptions for 410 yards and 5 TDs), QB Drew Purcell (45-83 for 627 yards and 6 TDs), WR Vince Tweddel (19 receptions for 427 yards and 7 TDs), DB Ryan Menke (48 tackles) and DE Jim Schafer (48 tackles).

BUHLER EARNS 2nd PFL HONOR: For his performance against St. Mary's College on October 5th, Mike Bueller (Northglenn, CO) was named the PFL Special Teams Player of the Week. Although the team lost 52-3 at St. Mary's College, Bueller continued his fine punting by averaging 43.3 yards on punts with longs of 60 and 54 yards ... A First Team All-PFL selection a year ago, Bueller has now punted 34 times this season and is averaging 41.2.

GAELS GALLOP PAST TOREROS: Saint Mary's College, an NCAA Division I-AA scholarship program, improved to 4-1 on the season with their 52-3 victory over USD on Oct. 5th ... it was Saint Mary's ninth straight win over the Toreros and their 13th straight win at Saint Mary's Stadium ... SMC tallied 534 total yards of offense (288 rushing, 246 passing) ... despite only connecting on a 23-yard field goal in the third quarter, USD managed 305 yards of offense (130 rushing, 175 passing) ... freshman running back Matt Brown had a personal-best 85 yards on 15 carries ... freshman WR Dylan Ching hauled in a personal-best 7 receptions for 93 yards ... senior QB John Khamis completed 12-of-21 passes for 169 yards ... junior FB Jared Keo rushed for 44 yards on 9 attempts ... senior FS Jeb Dougherty tallied a team-high 8 tackles (6 solos) and senior LB Robert Magnussen netted 7 tackles (5 solos) and one quarterback sack.

PFL COACHES POLL: Dayton and Drake tied for first in the Pioneer Football League Coaches Pre-Season Poll ... Drake is the defending PFL champion while Dayton won the first two seasons ... here is a breakdown with first place votes in parenthesis: First Place: Dayton, 31 points (3); Drake, 31 points (2). Third Place: SAN DIEGO, 20 points; Valparaiso, 20 points (1). Fifth Place: Evansville, 13 points. Sixth Place: Butler, 11 points.

1996 USD CAPTAINS: Offensive captains include TB Evan Hlavacek (San Jose, CA), OG Todd Plutchok (Vallejo, CA) and QB John Khamis (Huntington Beach, CA). Defensive captains include DL Ryan Marcos (Los Gatos, CA), LB Ryan Larson (Scottsdale, AZ) and FS Jeb Dougherty (Yucca Valley, CA).

HOW THEY PICK USD IN '96: Bob Griese's College Football Yearbook (2nd), The Sporting News (3rd), PFL Coaches (3rd), Preview Sports (3rd), Street & Smith's (4th). The Sporting News and Bob Griese's College Football Yearbook both pick senior free safety Jeb Dougherty as the Preseason PFL Defensive Player of the Year.

UP NEXT FOR TOREROS: USD plays at Butler (Indianapolis, IN) on Saturday, October 26th in a 1:30 p.m. PFL contest ... USD's next home game will be Saturday, Nov. 2nd against Whittier College. The Homecoming Game start time will be 1:30 p.m.
The University of San Diego football program heads into its fourth season at the NCAA Division I-AA level and as a member of the Pioneer Football League (PFL). First year head coach Kevin McGarry will have forty-four players from last year's 5-5 club that finished a school-best third in the PFL at 3-2. The Toreros had a record 146 student-athletes turn out for first day of camp and will head into the 1996 season with 124 players. McGarry, who has been a USD assistant the past eighteen seasons, including the last fourteen as defensive coordinator and defensive backs coach, replaced Brian Fogarty who stepped down after 13 seasons to become USD's Associate Director of Athletics for Development.

The Toreros will return seven offensive starters, five defensive starters and First Team All-PFL punter Mike Buhler (39.3 yards per punt average). The offense, which will have a new look in 1996, will be directed by senior QB John Khamis (6-2, 205). Khamis split duties with James Beck in '95, getting the starting assignment the last three games. He totaled 801 yards passing and 6 touchdowns while completing 49-of-102. His three main targets this season should be junior wideout Brian Stevens (15 catches for 234 yards a year ago), junior TE Duncan Hardy (10 for 174 yards and 3 TDs), and senior tailback Evan Hlavacek (23 receptions for 377 yards and 4 receiving TDs). Hlavacek, a two-time First Team All-PFL performer who played more at the receiver slot in the old Wing-T offense, will see more time running the ball in '96 out of the tailback position. Last season he tallied a team-best 5 rushing scores, finishing with 161 yards rushing on 63 carries. Two other receivers expected to get their share of balls thrown their way include junior TE/WR Chris Del Santo (6-3, 215). Junior fullback Jared Keo, the team's top returning rusher (601 yards), will see his role change to more of a blocker, however, he will still be counted on in key short yardage and goal-line situations. Anchoring the offensive line will be seniors Todd Plutchok (6-0, 275, RG) and Eric O'Connor (6-2, 275, LT); and a trio of juniors in Jason Way (6-1, 250, LG), Jorge Castaneda (6-0, 230, C) and 2nd Team All-PFL returner Jon Walker (6-1, 285, RT).

The defense returns five starters and a solid group of performers that saw plenty of action in '95. USD will look to senior DB Jeb Dougherty (6-0, 185, 88 tackles), a two-time 2nd Team All-PFL selectee, to direct the defense. Other returning starters include DT Buddy Brown (5-10, 250, Jr.), DE Ryan Marcus (6-0, 255, Sr.), ILB Ryan Larson (6-0, 215, Sr.) and CB Kujanga Jackson (5-11, 186, Jr.). Others expected to step up and play important roles include senior ILB Robert Magnuson (6-1, 211); junior Chris Oliver (6-2, 216, DE), and a group of sophomores -- Lukas Smart (6-1, 227, DE), Mike Hartshorne (6-1, 245, DT), Kerry Peoples (5-10, 195, DB) and Elton Perkins (5-7, 162, CB).

Besides Buhler returning for special teams, Jeb Dougherty and Evan Hlavacek will see a lot of action as return specialists. Dougherty averaged 21.5 yards on 17 kickoff returns and Hlavacek averaged 30.6 yards on 11 kickoff returns and 6.9 yards on 18 punt returns. Junior kicker Tim Roth is expected to step in for Matt Young, who graduated this past season.

The Toreros open their 1996 schedule on Sept. 7th with a road contest at Chico State. USD's home opener will be Sept. 14th against California Lutheran, followed by their Pioneer Football League opener at Drake University on September 21st.
University Profile

SETTING
The University of San Diego is an independent Catholic institution of higher education. Founded in 1949, USD is located on 180 acres overlooking Mission Bay, San Diego Harbor and the Pacific Ocean. The campus is named Alcalá Park and is located just 10 minutes from downtown San Diego. The campus was named after a Spanish village near Madrid - Alcalá de Henares. Founded by the Greeks as Complutum, the village was later renamed Al Kala (the Castle) by the Moslems. Christians recaptured the village centuries later and founded a university whose buildings became the inspiration for USD's architectural style.

THE CAMPUS
The USD campus is regarded as one of the most architecturally unique institutions in the country, featuring 18 major buildings designed in an ornamental 16th century Spanish Renaissance style.

Since 1984, USD has completed nine major construction and expansion projects. A landscaped fountain plaza was finished in the fall of 1995, connecting the entrances of the Immaculata and Hughes Administration Center. In 1992, the university completed the 45,000 square foot Loma Hall, which includes an expanded bookstore, a larger mail center, classrooms and laboratories. In 1990, the renovated Katherine M. and George M. Pardee Jr. Legal Research Center opened, a facility that offers the latest in information technology.

ACADEMICS
USD enrolls more than 6,400 students who have a choice of more than 50 undergraduate and graduate degree programs. The university's academic units include the College of Arts and Sciences, and the Schools of Business Administration, Education, Law and Nursing. Class size generally averages between 18-25 students with the student to teacher ratio being 18:1. Over 97 percent of USD's full-time faculty hold doctorates.

In the annual ratings of the country's colleges and universities, published by U.S. News & World Report, USD moved from the regional to national category in 1994. The university is ranked among the top 100 schools in the nation.

STUDENT LIFE
Student activities include cultural events, dances, boat cruises, beach parties, BBQ's, concerts, comedy nights, symposia and much more. Students participate in a wide range of volunteer projects such as adult literacy tutoring, senior citizen outreach, and house building in Tijuana. The intramural program is also an integral part of student life on campus with over two-thirds of the USD community partaking in intramural sports.

ATHLETICS
The University of San Diego is a member of the West Coast Conference for nearly all sports and competes in 16 intercollegiate sports on the NCAA Division I level. The football team will begin its fourth season in the Pioneer Football League. Women's sports include: basketball, crew, cross country, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis and volleyball. Men's sports include: baseball, basketball, crew, cross country, golf, football, soccer and tennis. Since 1990 USD teams have won three conference championships; made 12 post-season appearances; had nine Conference Coaches of the Year; nine Conference Players of the Year; nine Conference Freshman of the Year; three WCC Scholar Athletes of the Year; and 15 NCAA All-Americans.

Did You Know?
• USD will host to the last Presidential Debate of 1996 scheduled for October 16th. USD is one of three universities that will host a Presidential Debate with Washington University (St. Louis, MO) and Trinity College (Hartford, CT) being the other two.

• In 1991 the Library of Congress chose USD (one of only 37 U.S. schools and libraries) to take part in its American Memory Project (AMP). Through the use of computers and TV monitors, students and faculty can call up original source materials from the Civil War, Continental Congress and other Library of Congress holdings.

• USD was one of the first universities to participate in the LMU/USD Partnership, which is an educational program that helps students attend college at reduced rates.
A new era begins at USD where Kevin McGarry takes over as head coach of the Torero football program. McGarry replaces Brian Fogarty, who stepped down after 13 seasons to become USD’s Associate Director of Athletics for Development. The tenth coach to direct the Torero football program since its start in 1956, Kevin is the first USD graduate to head the position.

McGarry is no stranger to USD football. He has been an assistant coach at the University of San Diego the past eighteen seasons, including the past fourteen as the defensive coordinator and defensive backs coach. He became a full-time assistant for football in 1985 -- his first seven years (1978-84) were split between football, women’s softball (head coach) and as an elementary school teacher. In addition to his on-the-field duties, Kevin was also responsible for recruiting and as liaison for the USD Football Alumni Club.

“Kevin’s years of experience at USD have prepared him well for this new position,” stated Tom Iannacone, Director of Athletics. “He clearly understands the role of the football program within the mission of the university.”

Over the past eighteen seasons, USD has accumulated an overall record of 101-75-3, including fourteen seasons with records of .500 or better. Of the eight USD football players that have been named GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-Americans since 1981, seven have come from the defensive side of the ball, including six defensive backs. In 1987 the Torero defense set a school record for shutouts in a season with four, and the team gave up just 100 points in ten contests and finished 6-3-1.

Prior to joining the USD coaching staff in 1978, Kevin was a two-year letterwinner on the USD football squad (1976-77), earning co-Defensive Player of the Year honors in 1977. He played two years (1974-75) at Saddleback College in Mission Viejo, California, earning Most Valuable Player honors in 1975.

He received both his Bachelor of Arts in Education (1979), and his Master’s Degree in Education Administration (1985) from the University of San Diego. He is currently on a leave of absense from USD’s Doctoral program in Education.

Kevin and his wife, Mary Ann, reside in Scripps Ranch and have four children: twins Pat and Mike (9 year-olds), Timbo (6 years old), and Matt, who arrived this past March.

KEVIN McGARRY, On The ‘96 Season:

“ I am really looking forward to my new role as head coach and to also take another step forward and improve in the PFL. This will be an opportunity for us to grow as a team and football program.”
Introducing the Football Staff

BILL DOBSON
Offensive Coordinator/Running Backs

Bill is beginning his third season as a full-time assistant with USD's coaching staff. After coaching linebackers, and directing Special Teams, he is shifting to the offensive coordinator role. His previous experience includes coaching at New Mexico State (1982-85), San Francisco State (1986), Occidental College (1987-90), and Offensive Line Coach at CS Fullerton (1991-92), and Defensive Coordinator/Recruiting Coordinator at Redlands (1994).

MIKE RISH
Receivers

Mike is beginning his 13th season on the Torero staff. Mike played for USD from 1979-83 and is the school's all-time career leader in three receiving categories: receptions (101), touchdowns (18), and receiving yardage (1,722 yards). Mike graduated from USD with an Accounting degree in 1984. He is the Assistant Vice President for Secondary Marketing for Guild Mortgage Company in San Diego.

BOB THOMPSON
Quarterbacks

Bob enters his first year with the USD staff where he will coach the quarterbacks. He brings a wealth of coaching experience, having most recently been the Defensive Coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Montclair Prep High School in Van Nuys, California the past two seasons. The 1994 squad won the CIF Championship.

Prior to Montclair he held coaching positions at Occidental (1993), head coach at Bishop Montgomery HS (1992); head coach at Pius X (1991); head coach at Daniel Murphy HS (1990); quarterback/wide receiver coach at Occidental (1988, 1989) where they were two-time SCIAC Champs; and wide receiver coach at Nevada (1983-84), where they won the Big Sky title in 1983.

Bob earned his B.S. degree in Physical Education & Health in 1982 from Western Michigan University (he played wingback for four years); and more recently earned his M.Ed. emphasis in P.E.) from Azusa Pacific. Bob and his wife Jeannette have one son, Jamie (age 4), and reside in Bonita.

STEVE JOHNS
Defensive Line/Special Teams

Steve begins his first season with the Toreros where he will coach the defensive line as well as the Special Teams Coordinator.

The past three years Steve was an assistant coach at Occidental College in Los Angeles. He started in 1993 as the running backs coach and the last two years was defensive line coach. In 1992 Steve was a Player/Coach for a professional football team in Australia.

Steve played one year of football at the Air Force Academy (1987) before transferring to Occidental College where he played out his collegiate career. He was an offensive guard between 1989-91 and was selected Co-Captain and All-SCIAC in 1991 when the team won the conference title.

He earned his B.A. in Political Science in 1991 from Occidental and received his M.A. degree in Education in 1995.

Steve grew up in San Diego where he attended Point Loma High School, graduating in 1987.

JIM WACHENHEIM
Defensive Coordinator/Linebackers

Jim enters his first season with the Toreros as Defensive Coordinator as well as the linebackers coach.

Jim comes to USD from Occidental College in Los Angeles where the past three years he was Defensive Coordinator and Special Teams Coordinator. Prior to Occidental he held coaching positions at Cal State Fullerton (1991-92), Arizona State (1989-90), Pacific (1985-88) and North Central College (1983-85). He played football at College of DuPage where he was a NJCAA Region 5 All-State defensive back and finished his playing career at North Central College in Naperville, Illinois. He graduated from North Central in 1978 where he earned a double major in Physical Education and Recreation.

Jim and his wife Kimberly have two daughters, Gretchen (4) and Hannah (1).

JACK RUBIDOUX
Head J.V. Coach/Defensive Asst.

Jack returns for his 11th season with the USD football program. After spending the past five years on offense with the running backs, he returns to the defensive side of the ball where he will assist with defensive backs.

In addition to his defensive duties, Jack will be the Head Junior Varsity Coach.

A 1978 graduate of USD, Jack has an extensive background in coaching at the high school level with both football and baseball. He is co-owner of Integrated Space Systems, Incorporated in San Diego.

ED JOHNS
Offensive Line

Ed brings an extensive list of coaching credentials to USD where he enters his first year as offensive line coach.

His numerous coaching stops include stints at San Diego City College (1962); University of Oregon (1963-70) with a one-year hitch at Utah (1965), and Point Loma High School (1984-88 and 1990-92). He was a two-way performer at San Diego State (1953-55) and went on to earn his B.S. (1955) and M.S. (1959) degrees in Physical Education.

Ed and his wife Fritzzi, who have three grown children (Betzy, Susan, and Steve), reside in San Diego.

CHRIS SULAGES
Offensive Line/Tight Ends

Chris begins his first season with the Toreros where he will assist with coaching the offensive line and tight ends.

Chris was a graduate assistant at Weber State in 1995 where he coached the offensive line. He holds a degree in English and minor in Physical Education/Coaching, Chris played two years as an offensive guard. He played two years at Saddleback JC in Mission Viejo and prepped at Mission Viejo High School.

CHRIS CAMINITI
Inerts

Chris begins his first season with the Toreros where he will coach the inerts. Most of his coaching experience was at Cheshire High School in Cheshire, Connecticut (1992-95) where they were four-time state champs and twice the New England Champs (93,’95). He coached DB’s, LB’s and quarterbacks. Between 1993-96, Chris was a full-time P.E. instructor there. He earned his B.S. in Communications in 1992 from Southern Connecticut State University, and has since earned two M.S. degrees there in History (’94) and Physical Education (’96).

Denotes player will sit out 1996 season. # Denotes duplicate jersey number
The 1996 football season marks the fourth year for the Pioneer Football League (PFL), a conference committed to operating a quality football program for the benefit of the student-athletes and the university community.

Formed in November of 1991, the Pioneer Football League is comprised of NCAA Division I universities that previously sponsored intercollegiate football at other levels. With the passing of NCAA legislation at the January 1991 convention, Division I institutions were required to conduct all intercollegiate sports at the same level. Therefore, the five charter members, Butler University, University of Dayton, Drake University, University of Evansville and Valparaiso University, joined together, sharing a common academic and athletic philosophy and a common commitment to operate quality football programs. In February, 1992, the University of San Diego joined the PFL for its inaugural season.

The PFL joins the Ivy and the Patriot Leagues as NCAA Division I-AA conferences that provide only need-based financial aid for football players. The conference remains a proponent of NCAA Division I-AAA legislation that would develop a classification for Division I football programs operating with need-based aid and adopted the moniker of Pioneer based on the intent to become one of the first I-AAA leagues.

The Gateway Football Conference in St. Louis, Missouri, will administer the communications and administrative duties for the PFL.

The Leading Game-Day Program of College Football
NEW COACHES on the Block

As usual, a number of schools have made head-coaching changes. Three of these programs, however, stand out as being among the nation's most visible.

Jim Donnan steps in at Georgia after spending the last six seasons as head coach at Marshall University. Donnan, who replaces Ray Goff, hopes to achieve the same type of success with the Bulldogs as he did with the Thundering Herd. Donnan led Marshall to the 1992 Division I-AA national championship and was twice named I-AA Coach of the Year.

John Blake is the new top man at Oklahoma, taking over for Howard Schnellenberger. Blake, who spent the last three seasons as defensive line coach for the Dallas Cowboys, is hardly a stranger to the scene in Norman. He played nose guard for Barry Switzer's Sooners from 1979 to 1982, and served at Oklahoma as a volunteer and graduate assistant coach from 1985 to 1987. He was an assistant at the University of Tulsa in 1988 before returning to the Sooners, where he was a defensive assistant from 1989 to 1992.

Another high-profile program with new leadership this season is UCLA, where Bob Toledo has been promoted from offensive coordinator to replace Terry Donahue. Prior to joining the Bruins in 1994, Toledo had been an assistant at Texas A&M and at Oregon, and was head coach at the University of the Pacific from 1979 to 1982.

UPCOMING GAMES to Watch

Florida State at Miami (Fla.), Oct. 12: This intrastate rivalry has provided plenty of memorable moments over the last decade, as each team has used the game as a national championship springboard. Warrick Dunn, Florida State's electrifying tailback, will try to lead the Seminoles to their third win in their last four tries against the Hurricanes, who had won seven of eight in this series prior to 1993.

Auburn at Florida, Oct. 19: Two of the Southeastern Conference's perennial powerhouses will square off in Gainesville, with the Tigers looking to avenge last season's 49-38 Gators victory. But Auburn has actually had the upper hand in this rivalry recently, with head coach Terry Bowden's team taking two of the last three from Steve Spurrier's club.

Wisconsin-LaCrosse at Wisconsin-Stevens Point, Oct. 19: Defending NCAA Division III national champion Wisconsin-LaCrosse faces one of its stiffest challenges of the season as the Eagles visit the rival Pointers. Although the games are usually closely contested, Wisconsin-LaCrosse has been credited with 19 straight victories in this series. Stevens Point was forced to forfeit its 23-22 win in 1987 because of an ineligible player.

Warrick Dunn (28) leads Florida State against intrastate rival Miami Oct. 12 at the Orange Bowl.

REBORN ON THE BAYOU

AFTER YEARS OF SILENCE, GERRY DINARDO HAS GIVEN LSU FANS REASON TO SHOUT AGAIN.

From six straight losing seasons to 7-4-1 to the pick to win the Southeastern Conference West.

Gerry DiNardo was not around for the most extended football famine in Louisiana State University history. He checked in prior to last season, shortly after his Vanderbilt team had taken a 65-0 hit from Tennessee in the 1994 regular-season finale, and, here he is, in his second year as coach of the Fighting Tigers, being told LSU will win the West.

DiNardo smiles. "I don't worry about anything I can't control," he says in reference to media crystal-ballling. "Win or lose, there's always going to be a challenge out there. A coach's job is to handle it."

So far, so good, say famished Tigers fans about the job done by

BY PETER FINNEY

Strike up the band: LSU's football famine appears to be history.
When Navarra Williams first started working in the cable industry eleven years ago, the thought of driving a top-of-the-line luxury performance sedan was only a dream. But thanks to a lot of hard work—and his new Aurora—the dream's now a reality. With its powerful V8 engine, precise handling and sleek, muscular exterior, Navarra says his Aurora really stops traffic. Literally. "People are always coming up to me and asking about it." If you see him on the road, ask Navarra yourself. That is, if you can catch him. Demand better. Aurora by Oldsmobile.
Now in his second season at LSU, DiNardo (far right) has his Tigers reaching high in the SEC West.

A guy who grew up in Brooklyn and later became part of national-championship teams at Notre Dame as an All-American offensive guard and at Colorado as an assistant coach.

When LSU jettisoned Curley Hallman after four years, DiNardo became the second-choice selection (after TCU’s Pat Sullivan backed away from a contract offer), and he hasn't looked back. Within hours, he was off on a whirlwind recruiting tour of Louisiana, landing the state’s prize prospect, running back Kevin Faulk, and a bushel of other blue-chippers.

He learned what he already knew: Recruiting for LSU, a state school with a rich tradition, was not like recruiting for Vanderbilt.

Listening to a 43-year-old DiNardo emot about last year’s trials, you realize that what a coach does on the field, from practice schedules to game plans, feeds less into the success of a football team than what he does behind closed doors, when he and a player, for any of a number of reasons, go one-on-one.

It might be trouble at home, trouble in the classroom, trouble on campus.

“A coach’s most vital task is getting the pulse of his team,” said DiNardo, “and it’s so much tougher today than it was when I was in school. Why? Because of more and more distractions.”

In the three years DiNardo played for Ara Parseghian at Notre Dame, he was called into the office of the head coach three times. “I got chewed out twice,” he said.

Three times in three years is far below today’s average, even for the student-athlete who might be A-plus on the field and A-plus in class.

“I find myself spending a lot less time on Xs and Os than Coach Parseghian did when I played for him,” DiNardo said. In DiNardo’s case, he’s delegating more of the Xs and Os to his assistants in order to handle those daily one-on-one problem-solving sessions with the people who count, the players who make an X or O live or die.

The best evidence that DiNardo is succeeding in this crucial task did not come in last year’s early upset of Auburn. It came later on, when his team went into a mid-season swoon, tying South Carolina and losing to Kentucky.

At the time, you could hear the whispers among some of the older heads who had been around for half of the six losing seasons: “Here we go again.”

The real “magic” began with closing victories over Ole Miss, 38-9, Arkansas, 28-0, and Michigan State, 45-26, in the Independence Bowl.

How did it happen? Said DiNardo: “I just kept preaching that the win over Auburn was not the greatest thing in the world and the loss to Kentucky was not the worst. Kids keep hearing things that can get them too high and too low. You’re always fighting this.”

The Tigers this year have had to replace three starters on offense and five on defense, a departing group that included a first-round pick in the NFL draft—wide receiver Eddie Kennison—and second-rounders—defensive end Gabe Northern and defensive back Tory James. It was an indication that Hallman did not leave the cupboard bare for his successor. It was the first time in 36 years LSU had three players drafted in the first two rounds.

With this year’s recruiting class rated among the top five in the nation, DiNardo wouldn’t mind keeping the NFL happy. But before this year’s crop of freshmen put on the Tigers purple and gold, DiNardo already had some future high picks in his stable: sophomore Faulk, a 5-10, 192-pound jitterbug of a ball carrier who rushed for 852 yards and six touchdowns last season; sophomore Kendall Cleveland, 6-1, 221, who rushed for 562 yards and 10 touchdowns; senior right end David LaFleur, 6-7, 278; sophomore defensive tackle Anthony McFarland, 6-1, 290; and senior linebacker Mike Calais, 6-1, 237, who had two banner seasons before drawing a DiNardo suspension in '95.

Perhaps the best evidence of the DiNardo touch came last year when senior quarterback Jamie Howard was lost for the season in a 10-3 loss to Alabama. In came freshman Herbert Tyler to spark the closing three-victory surge, completing 65 percent of his passes, five for touchdowns, good enough to grab a spot on the SEC's All-Freshman team.

"But it’s not going to be easy replacing two quality defensive ends—Gabe Northern and James Gilliard—and two quality defensive backs—Tory James and Talvi Crawford. On the other side of the ball, we’ve got to make up for the loss of two guys—Eddie Keninon and Shedrick Wilson—who caught 1,600 yards worth of passes.”

So with an eye on recruiting, DiNardo got maximum use out of last year’s Independence Bowl game by holding three practices at three different high schools. When LSU’s allotment of 12,000 tickets was gobbled up within hours, one anxious fan flew to East Lansing, Mich., to buy tickets.

This year, season-ticket sales are expected to hit 45,000, a jump of 7,000 over ‘95.

"There’s a charm to the LSU fan,” DiNardo will tell you. "Unlike Michigan fans, they really get with it. I’ve been to Ann Arbor, with 104,000 in the seats, and you don’t get near the noise you get down here. It’s a sweet sound I’d like to keep hearing.”

GERRY DiNARDO, HEAD COACH, LSU

RESTORING THE ROAR

From 1958 to 1988, LSU was consistently one of the nation’s top teams, suffering just three losing seasons during that time. But the Tigers then went through six straight losing years before regaining their winning ways in 1995.

MADDEN NFL 97

POSTGAME WRAP-UP

There is no surprise here, the best-selling football game of all time is showing no signs of slowing down. Madden NFL 97 takes all of the hard-hitting, pass-rushing excitement of the original versions and makes the necessary adjustments to stay in front of the competition.

Some of the improvements and additions include motion-captured animations of real NFL players—digitizing actual player movements onto the screen to make the players hit, throw, run and jump as lifelike as the actual pros—all 30 stadiums 3-D rendered, eight different camera angles, and Pro Bowl selections based upon the players' performance during your season.

You can pick from one of 100 past or present teams, making the matchups limitless. Try to make the playoffs in a 17-game season. If you need some help getting that last wild-card berth use create-a-player mode and make your own secret weapon at any position.

To top it all off, improved TV-style play-by-play by Madden, Pat Summerall, James Brown in the studio and Leslie Visser patrolling the sidelines makes this game difficult to distinguish from the actual games on Sunday.

WORLD SERIES BASEBALL II

POSTGAME WRAP-UP

Sega Sports won the world series last year with World Series Baseball and is trying to defend its title with this year's version. World Series Baseball is about as realistic as they come. Adjust your fielders when a pull hitter comes to the plate, jump over the sliding base runner to complete the double play or leap at the wall to save a home run. If the pros can do it so can you with World Series Baseball II.

In addition to all the great features of the original—such as full rosters of all the teams, various length pennant races, team and individual statistics—World Series Baseball II has all 28 stadiums, increased statistics and five new batting views including the sure to be popular "ball chase cam." Play in the All-Star game, or just participate in the always exciting "Home Run Derby."

If the teams out there don't do it for you then create an expansion team and draft your own championship contender. Play hard but be careful because injuries are a part of the game—tracking down a fly ball into the ivy could result in a season-ending injury—putting all pennant hopes on hold. World Series Baseball II has everything but contract disputes and big-league attitudes.
The editors of Touchdown Illustrated are proud to announce the winners of the 1995 AT&T Long Distance Awards.

Each week during the regular season, AT&T honors Division I-A student-athletes in six categories — longest run from scrimmage, longest pass completion, longest punt return, longest kickoff return, longest punt average and longest field goal. To honor each winner, AT&T makes a $400 donation to the NCAA Degree Completion Scholarship program, which grants scholarships to deserving student-athletes helping them "go the distance" to obtain their college degrees.

At the conclusion of the season, AT&T presents Long Distance Awards to the six individual student-athletes who lead the nation in each of the categories listed on this page. AT&T honors these players with $6,000 of additional donations to the Degree Completion Scholarship program.

Now in its sixth year, the AT&T Long Distance Award Program has contributed over $250,000 to the NCAA Degree Completion program.

At AT&T, we know it takes a lot to go the distance. That's why we give special recognition to those elite players who have strived to be the best at what they do — the True Reward of football, or any other calling in life. Congratulations to all of the AT&T Long Distance Award winners.

MILD NO MORE

For years, Northwestern was the target of wiseguys everywhere. These days, the Wildcats are getting plenty of last laughs.

It wasn’t too long ago when nobody wanted to talk with Northwestern head coach Gary Barnett or his players. Now they’re getting media requests from the likes of Cooking Light magazine.

“They wanted to talk to Gary and some of the players about their eating habits,” explained Northwestern sports information director Brad Hurlbut, who went more than four months without a day off last fall, sometimes working up to 17 hours a day trying to rein in the runaway media train that was following the Cinderella season of the Wildcats.

By now you know the story: Northwestern, known for so long as the Wildcats, came out of nowhere in 1995 to post its first winning season since 1971, its first Big Ten title since 1936 and its first Rose Bowl appearance since 1949.

Thanks to Barnett, who took over the program in 1992 and immediately installed the motto “Expect Victory,” the Wildcats became national media darlings. There were any number of reasons why the story became so big:

CONTINUED
Mild No More

• The Wildcats pulled off improbable upset wins over powerhouses Notre Dame and Michigan. (In fact, Northwestern's season-opening victory in South Bend produced more "What's Wrong with Notre Dame?" stories than "Here Come the Wildcats" stories.)

• Northwestern running back Darnell Autry, a media-friendly theater major, emerged as a Heisman Trophy candidate, rushing for at least 100 yards in every game.

• Graduates of Northwestern's highly regarded journalism school came out of the woodwork, pitching features on the team for every conceivable media outlet available. At halftime of the Rose Bowl (which the Wildcats lost in a thriller to USC), Northwestern alumni who were covering the game from the press box were asked to pose for a photo. There were 75 of them.

Regardless of how many people covered the story, it was Barnett, his coaching staff and the players who provided it.

Now the question is, can they keep the success going?

"It's going to be harder because we're not going to sneak up on anybody," says linebacker Pat Fitzgerald, who was named the 1995 national Defensive Player of the Year despite breaking an ankle in the 10th game of the season. "But at the same time, we're older, more mature. We've got a solid nucleus of players coming back that were here [last] year. I think we're going to be OK."

Not only do the Wildcats return key players such as Fitzgerald, Autry and quarterback Steve Schnur, they also have Barnett back. That was in question before, during and after the Rose Bowl, as the 50-year-old coach became the hottest commodity in college football.

He visited with Georgia and UCLA, two schools that had coaching vacancies, and was even mentioned for NFL jobs. The attention embarrassed Barnett, who has always maintained he wants whatever is best for his family and his team.

The only time it was difficult, Barnett says, was when the team returned home from the Rose Bowl and the swarm of media at the airport wanted only to know about his coaching status.

"None of them were asking about our team and our players," recalls Barnett. "It was all about me and what I was going to do. And when it got to where I was the show instead of the kids in our program, then I thought it was out of perspective. That's when I was uncomfortable."

That's when Barnett announced he was staying in Evanston and working on a new, 12-year contract. The announcement stabilized recruiting, and the Wildcats went on to compile one of their best groups of incoming freshmen ever.

The Northwestern recruiting class wasn't ranked among the best in the nation—but then, neither were the classes that produced last year's success.

"We did a great job of evaluating talent," says defensive coordinator Ron Vanderlinden, who came with Barnett... from the University of Colorado in 1992. "We didn't get all the blue-chippers, but we've made a lot of good decisions on that second-tier player. Like a Pat Fitzgerald, for example, who was not highly recruited."

Vanderlinden likes what he sees from the 1996 defense. Despite losing three starters from a secondary that was superb in '95, he expects the position—led by safety Eric Collier and cornerback Josh Barnes—to be even better this season. Vanderlinden had this to say about sophomore linebacker Kevin Buck: "He's going to be a really good player. You're going to read about him for years to come."

We may be reading about Vanderlinden in years to come as well. He's a coach on the fast track.

One of the primary reasons Barnett gave last season for the Wildcats' success was the continuity of the coaching staff. If you don't pay the assistants enough, Barnett warned his bosses, then they'll seek employment elsewhere. And a revolving door in the coaching office retards the progress of the players.

But as a result of Northwestern's success, other schools will be seeking out Barnett's assistants. Vanderlinden, whose defense led the nation in fewest points allowed (12.7 per game), was a candidate for the head coaching position at Northern Illinois. There were other calls as well.

"There are a lot of people that I really lean on for advice," says Vanderlinden. "They said don't be so quick to jump at the first thing that comes along. Just hold your water a little bit."

Vanderlinden says he'd love to become a head coach—someday. For now, having Barnett for a boss, he says, makes it easy to stay.

"He's a good football coach and he's even a better person," says Vanderlinden of Barnett. "And that factors in, because it's not always like that for the life of an assistant. Sometimes you lose the 'we' in this thing a little bit, but Gary is not like that. He is a wonderful person and a good friend. It would have to be something really special to pry me out of here."

The players, of course, feel the same way about Barnett.

"He's a great man and a great coach," says Fitzgerald. "This success, he's gone about it very businesslike, and we expected it to happen. I don't think he's going to change in any way."

If Barnett is affected by the success, it hasn't shown, though his newfound celebrity has produced some exciting perks—such as throwing out the first pitch at the Cubs' opening-day game at Wrigley Field in April. "A tremendous thrill," says Barnett. "Only the Rose Bowl tops it."

Now the mission is getting back to the Rose Bowl. The schedule is a little easier than last year's (Duke and Wake Forest instead of Notre Dame and Air Force; and like last season, the Wildcats don't play Ohio State). In addition, according to Barnett, the quality depth at most every position will make it possible for the 'Cats to overcome an injury or two.

Everybody's expectations of the program and of themselves are so much higher," says Vanderlinden. "This year, I think our expectations are that we're not going to be satisfied with anything less than a lot of success."

Expectations, along with those media requests, have skyrocketed. So have season-ticket prices—that's the true price of success.

It's also the most telling sign that Northwestern has finally, truly arrived on the college football scene.

Barnett announced he was staying put, and the recruits started flooding in.
A POINTLESS GEM

When Army coach Earl "Red" Blaik dismissed it as just another game on the schedule, reporters could hardly suppress their laughter.

In most quarters, the 1946 showdown between unbeatens Army and Notre Dame—ranked first and second in the nation, respectively—was heralded as "The Football Battle of the Century." If this was just another game, then Superman was just another guy in blue tights. This transcended football. This was historic.

"It is unlikely that America soon will have an athletic contest to match this year's Army-Notre Dame game in general interest or demands for tickets," wrote Arch Ward of the Chicago Tribune. "Reporters who have covered the biggest heavyweight championship boxing shows, the World Series and the Olympic Games can recall nothing to approach this event."

Army (7-0) had won 25 consecutive games and the last two national championships, powered by halfback Glenn Davis and fullback Felix "Doc" Blanchard, the so-called Touchdown Twins. Notre Dame (5-0) was blessed with limitless depth. Asked if the Irish had a weakness, Blaik offered the following tongue-in-cheek reply: "They don't seem to have a fourth quarterback."

What they did have was more incentive to win than any Notre Dame team since Knute Rockne delivered his fabled "Win One for the Gipper" locker-room speech. The Irish were still smarting from humiliating 59-0 and 48-0 losses to Army in 1944 and 1945, when coach Frank Leahy and many of his top players were serving in the military. Retribution was on their minds.

When the drama unfolded before 74,000 fans at Yankee Stadium on Nov. 9, Davis and Blanchard—one (Blanchard) a former Heisman winner, the other a future recipient—were smothered under a blanket of green and gold. The swarming Notre Dame defense defused the Cadets' two most explosive weapons, holding them to a paltry 80 yards rushing.

In fact, both defenses were so dominant that the teams combined for 20 first downs, 10 turnovers...and zero points. Despite the scoreless outcome, the game was hailed as a riveting classic.

"The battle was so fiercely waged and the lines and the backers-up rose up so nobly when their goal lines were endangered that the crowd never found the play lacking in excitement."

Notre Dame mounted the game's only serious threat in the second quarter, marching 85 yards to the Army 4. Leahy, faced with a fourth-and-two situation, disdained a field-goal attempt and called for a sweep by Bill Gompers. The Cadets buried him a yard shy of the sticks.

"All-America backs were merely members of the supporting cast," wrote Ward. "The real actors were up front along the scrimmage strip. It was there that plays perished."

Along with the Cadets' hopes of a threepeat. Because Army failed to win that day, the national championship race was unresolved entering the final weekend of the season. And Notre Dame took full advantage. The Irish toppled USC 26-6 to finish 8-0-1 and depose the Cadets (9-0-1), who surrendered their No. 1 ranking following a desultory 21-18 victory over Navy.

BY BOB FULTON

The 1946 Army-Notre Dame classic had no scoring and plenty of drama.

There was nothing boring about the scoreless tie between the Cadets and the Irish.

Want to help San Diego win?

San Diego has a long tradition of winning on the field as well as off the field.

NCAA BYLAW 13.01.5.1
In Division I, representatives of an institution’s interests are prohibited from making in-person, or on- or off-campus recruiting contacts, or written or telephonic communications with a prospect or the prospect’s relatives or legal guardians. A prospect is any student athlete who has started class for the ninth grade.

- Even a phone call congratulating a prospect on signing to attend San Diego is a violation and could make that prospect ineligible.
- If you know of a high school student-athlete that might be considering San Diego DO NOT contact that prospect, their coach, parents, relatives or high school coaches/administrators.
- If you wish, it is permissible to call the Department of Athletics and notify the appropriate coach about a prospect; only the coach may initiate communication with a prospect.
  Additionally ...
  a representative may not provide any extra benefit to an enrolled student-athlete or their family. An “extra benefit” would include provision of any transportation, meals, clothes, entertainment, preferential loan terms or other benefits to a student-athlete unavailable to the general student population. Simply put, you may not treat student-athletes any differently than other students.
- If you have a question about what you can or cannot do, please ASK before you ACT. Call the USD Athletic Department at (619) 260-4803.

“Winning” at San Diego is not just scoring more points than the opposition. It’s about adherence to academic standards and NCAA rules regarding recruitment and enrollment of student-athletes. So how can you help San Diego win? Follow the rules. By USD’s definition, you’re a representative of San Diego just by being an alumnus/a, parent or fan. Therefore, the following pertains to you.

What Is A Torero?

A Torero is a Mexican Bullfighter. Prior to 1963, the University of San Diego’s nickname was the “Pioneers.”

The origin of the university’s Torero nickname is unknown, but the founding father of the University of San Diego, Bishop Buddy, was quite fascinated with Mexican history and it is believed that the unique nickname is a result of his influence.

THE COLLEGE OF WOOSTER

The Fighting Scots are inspired by the 1950 Phillies.

In recent years, when times were lean, it was said that the best thing about College of Wooster football was the band at halftime.

While the 120-piece band is still excellent, and noteworthy because they perform in plaid kilts, now the football team is catching eyes as well. This year, the Fighting Scots have a legitimate shot at their first winning season since 1987, after finishing 5-5 last fall.

The College of Wooster is located in Wooster, Ohio, about an hour south of Cleveland, 40 minutes west of Canton. The school is named after the town of about 27,000, which is named for a Revolutionary War general.

But, says sports information director John Finn, "I don't think he spent much time here."

Maybe that's confusing. What's also misleading is the spelling vis-à-vis the pronunciation. It looks like it should be WOO ster; in fact, it is pronounced WUH ster.

The college was founded in 1866, and currently has about 1,700 students, fairly equally divided by gender. It is considered one of the finest liberal-arts colleges in America. Students mostly earn degrees in biology, chemistry, computer science, geology, math and philosophy.

The football team hasn't been in the headlines much recently, but second-year coach Jim Barnes is off to a good start. His team won the close games last season: Three wins were by three points or fewer, while all five losses were lopsided.

Quarterback Rich Judd passed for 1,432 yards last season, with wide receiver Brandon Good pulling in 41 passes for 483 yards and three touchdowns. The top running back is sophomore Jeff Elser, who gained 660 yards. Senior linebacker Greg Lake led the team with 135 tackles, including four sacks.

Wooster competes in the NCAA Division III North Coast Athletic Conference, and had a 5-3 league record last year, earning fourth place. Its big rival is national power Wittenberg, which beat the Fighting Scots, 56-0, last season.

But its oldest rival is nearby Denison. Wooster's first three games ever (two in 1889, one in 1890) were all sizable victories over Denison (48-0, 50-0 and 58-0). In recent years, the schools have started a new tradition. They now play each year for the Red Lantern Trophy, symbolic of the lighting on trolleys which used to carry the teams to their games.

Wooster has been nicknamed the Scots since 1931, after the name was suggested a few years earlier by Art Murray, a former coach and director of athletic publicity. Previously, the team was known as the Presbyterians.

The name became Fighting Scots in 1950, when coach Phil Shipe thought his team needed to sound more aggressive. His inspiration was the 1950 Philadelphia Phillies, known in Philly as the "Fighting Phils," to the rest of the world as the "Whiz Kids."

That tough image may help more in leaner seasons, when opposing fans salute Wooster's marching band by shouting that maybe the football team should be wearing the skirts.

THE COLLEGE OF WOOSTER FACTS

Location: Wooster, Ohio
Founded: 1866
Enrollment: 1,700
Stadium: John P. Papp Stadium (4,500 seats; originally built in 1920, renovated in 1991)
Nickname: Fighting Scots
Athletics: The College of Wooster hosts 21 athletic programs (11 men's and 10 women's). It competes in NCAA Division III, and is a member of the North Coast Athletic Conference.
Alums include: Tim Smucker, Chairman of the jelly company; Stan Gault, CEO of Rubbermaid/Goodyear; Vince Cellini, a sportscaster for CNN; Blake Moore, who played for the Cincinnati Bengals in Super Bowl XVI.
Where students go on a Friday or Saturday night: Digger's, The Olde Jaole, and Applebee's (all restaurant/bars); Matsos (a Greek/Italian restaurant); malls in Canton, Akron or Cleveland; the 10-screen movie theater just north of town.

TDI takes a look at non-Division I-A players who will vie for top honors.

NCAA Division III: A healthy Kacmarynski will be tough to beat

If the sun continues to rise in the east and set in the west, the voting for the Gagliardi Trophy, which signifies the best football player in Division III, should be a slam dunk. Central College of Iowa's Mark Kacmarynski is back for a curtain call. He had the award nearly sewn up following the second game last season, at which point he had rushed for 358 yards on 44 carries (8.1 yards per carry), which came on top of his bloated 1994 statistics of 7.4 yards per carry and 179.2 yards per game.

"You want to talk to me about the Gagliardi Trophy? Forget it," joked Kacmarynski, whose injury-free playing career ended last fall amid talk of the three-year-old award named for John Gagliardi, the longtime coach at St. John's University of Minnesota.

On the first play from scrimmage in the third game, Kacmarynski gained 22 yards before three defenders jumped on for a ride. The 6-1, 230-pound running back held his own until a teammate tried to help out with a block. The pile of bodies crumbled. Everyone got up except Kacmarynski, who suffered a compound fracture in his left leg.

"He is the best I've ever had," said head coach Ron Schipper, who has never endured a losing season in his 35 years at Central College. "He is a dedicated, tough football player. It was a serious injury, but if anyone can come back, Mark can."

If not, two quarterbacks should battle for the Gagliardi Trophy.

Jason Baer thought his playing days were over last fall when Washington and Jefferson (Pa.) lost in the semifinals of the CO NTINUED

If Mark Kacmarynski has recovered fully from his leg fracture, he should be in the hunt for the Gagliardi Trophy.
"I wasn't a good enough athlete to attend Notre Dame for football and I certainly wasn't smart enough to get in academically. But isn't it ironic that I'm smart enough to coach at Notre Dame? I guess the standards for being a coach are lower than those to be a student."

— Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz

"That's a tough walk from here."

— College football pioneer John Heisman

"We had no helmets or pads of any kind; in fact, one who wore homemade pads was regarded as a sissy."

— Legendary coach Woody Hayes

"Statistics always remind me of the fellow who drowned in the river whose average depth was only three feet."

— Nebraska coach Tom Osborne referring to a player who wore several gold chains.

national playoffs. He was set to graduate and go to medical school. Getting into medical school, however, proved problematic, so he returned to Washington and Jefferson this fall to use up his last season of athletic eligibility. Baer—who missed his freshman season because of an injury—is the only returning player who received a first-place vote in last year’s balloting. In ‘95, he passed for 1,536 yards and 19 touchdowns in just eight regular-season games.

Bill Borchert arrived at Ohio’s Mount Union College in 1994 with the improbable task of filling the shoes left by Jim Ballard, who had won the inaugural Gagliardi Trophy and is widely considered the best Division III quarterback ever. Borchert doesn’t have Mount Union fans asking “Jim who?” just yet, but with another season like ’95, who knows? In addition to leading Division III in passing efficiency (Baer was second), Borchert threw for 30 touchdowns and nearly 2,300 yards last season.

NCAA Division II:
Hill Trophy should get offensive again

A Heisman-like award to a defensive player? Never happen...at least not until last year, when Ronald McKinnon, a linebacker on North Alabama’s top-rated “Purple Swarm” defense, won the Harlon Hill Trophy as the best player in Division II.

Don’t expect more of the same this year. The Hill Trophy will undoubtedly return to a more predictable resting place—in the hands of either a quarterback or a running back. (The tally since the Hill Trophy was first awarded in 1986 is five running backs, three quarterbacks, a wide receiver and a linebacker.)

Randy Martin is the only returning player who finished among the top eight in the 1995 balloting. A 5-8, 190-pound senior running back for St. Cloud (Minn.) State, Martin averaged 158.4 rushing yards per game last year, third in Division II. In the process, the Wisconsin native scored 10 touchdowns and had his second consecutive season of over 1,000 yards rushing. Against Nebraska-Omaha, he ran for nearly 10 yards per carry (23 carries, 229 yards), roughly equaling what he did against Augustana in 1994 (238 yards, 27 carries).

Two other running backs will be in the hunt for the award named after the small-college receiver who went on to become a three-time All-Pro with the Chicago Bears during the 1950s.

Fred Lane, a senior at Lane College in Tennessee, was second in Division II in rushing last year with 183.3 yards per game. “Fred has outstanding balance and power to go along with his 4.4 speed,” Lane head coach John Gore said. “He has set a goal for ’96 of 2,000 yards (after rushing for 1,833 yards last season).”

Jarrett Anderson of Truman State (formerly Northeast Missouri State) was eighth in the Hill Trophy balloting as a sophomore in 1994, but dropped out of the race last season after a poor start statistically. However, he finished strong with two 200-plus-yard games to boost his rushing total for the season to 1,502 yards.

Another solid candidate is Lance Funderburk, a quarterback from Valdosta (Ga.) State. Funderburk understudied 1994 Hill Trophy winner Chris Hatcher for three seasons before coming into his own last year. Funderburk was second in Division II in total offense with 322.6 yards per game in ’95, breaking the national records for attempts (544), completions (356) and completions per game (32.4).

NCAA Division I-AA:
Northern Iowa’s Ward hopes to grab Payton Award

Division I-AA’s best football player receives the Walter Payton Award, which, ironically, running backs have rarely won. Since the award’s inception in 1987, it’s been six quarterbacks (including the NFL’s Steve McNair, Jamie Martin, Doug Nussmeier and John Friesz) and only three running backs (including Dave Meggett, currently of the New England Patriots), none since 1990.

One of this year’s top prospects is flanker—sorry, Walter—Dedric Ward, a senior at Northern Iowa who was everybody’s All-American last season with 50 catches for 1,283 yards over a 13-game schedule that included the national playoffs. He was also first among Division I-AA receivers in receiving yards per game, enjoying a career day against Southern Illinois with nine receptions for 206 yards. Ward also returns punts.

“He was as good as anyone we played,” said Mickey Matthews, who is now the linebackers coach at Georgia but last season the defensive coordinator at Marshall, which beat Northern Iowa in the quarterfinals of the national playoffs. “We actually changed our coverage for him, and we didn’t do that for anyone.”

But will Chris Berg’s replacement at quarterback be able to get the ball to Ward? Berg was fourth last season in passing efficiency in Division I-AA. And will opponents relentlessly double-team Ward, as Eastern Illinois did last season? Ward selflessly offered himself as a decoy—Berg didn’t throw to him once—and Northern Iowa won the game, but two or three statistical afternoons like that this season and the path will be clear for Delaware quarterback Leo Hamlett or perhaps Virginia Military Institute running back Thomas Haskins.

Hamlett, a senior, can befuddle opposing defenses with his double threat of running and passing. Last season he ran for 756 yards and passed for 2,086 yards. He was third in I-AA in passing efficiency and 14th in total offense (232 yards per game) as Delaware finished the season ranked sixth in the country. Entering this season, Delaware is 14-3-1 in his 18 starts.

Haskins has not been surrounded by such a gifted cast. In his three seasons at VMI, the Keydets have gone 6-27. But Haskins has hardly skipped a step, gaining over 3,600 yards while averaging six yards a carry. Against the three I-AA final-eight playoff teams that VMI faced last season, Haskins ran for 405 yards on 69 carries (5.9 yards per carry). One of those teams was Marshall.

“Like all the great backs, he’s at full speed after one step,” Matthews said.

“When you consider the teams he’s played for and the yards he’s gained, well, he’s a good one.”

It’s not always easy, but small-college players continue to nudge their way into the NFL.

Small schools don’t necessarily mean small time. Far from it.

The National Football League has a long and distinguished roster of players from non-Division I-A colleges. Hall of Famer Walter Payton (Jackson State) and future inductee Jerry Rice (Mississippi Valley State) are often the first names to come to mind, but they are hardly alone. Many NFL teams—and the Pro Football Hall of Fame—are bursting with talent from outside the major-college fraternity.

“Scouts can see talent wherever it is,” said Atlanta Falcons backup quarterback Perry Klein, who transferred from Division I-A California to tiny C.W. Post for one season and wound up the third quarterback picked in the 1994 draft. “You can either play or you can’t.”

But while the so-called small colleges have become a gold mine for talent, it takes more digging to find each nugget than it does at the major institutions. Not every small-college starter is an NFL prospect. And the competition level is far inferior as well. So are the weight rooms and the other facilities.

Sometimes it’s harder for a Division II player or small-college player to make it in the NFL,” said San Francisco 49ers linebacker Lee Woodall, a 1994 sixth-round pick out of West Chester (Pa.) who developed into a Pro Bowler in just his second season. “They have to perform above everyone else so much that you have to be one of those players that stands out in your league. Coming from Division I, you can be a player that doesn’t stand out as much. But if you’re a Division I player, you faced powerhouses, you faced men that you are probably going to face in the NFL, you faced that type of caliber, you faced those types of schemes.

You begin to wonder, coming from a small school, what it is that you are missing. It’s easy to get caught up into it, to say, ‘Just because I’m from a small school, I probably won’t get drafted or they’ll probably just overlook me.’”

Woodall was overlooked originally; the former Division II star wasn’t even invited to the major college all-star games or the NFL scouting combine.

So why do some players take the lesser-known road to the NFL, instead of the one more traveled?

Back in the ‘60s, some of the best college football was played in the black schools, noted Roger Jackson, a regional scout for the Minnesota Vikings who played his college football at Bethune-Cookman. “Back then, just about the only option that they [black players] had was...
Excellence. You found it in Atlanta this summer as athletes representing our country strove to be the best. You'll also find it in the men and women of the National Guard. Dedicated airmen and soldiers who train year-round to be ready when America calls.

For over 350 years, the National Guard has served our communities and nation. Today, that service continues with the National Guard as a full partner with America's active military forces. In today's efficient military, the citizen-soldiers and airmen of the National Guard are more important than ever. Just ask one of the 75,000 Guardmembers who served in Desert Storm—chances are some of these members are right in your community. They are the most visible example of how Guard units are woven into our nation's military capability.

Those who volunteer for the National Guard are trained, equipped and tested to provide wide-ranging contributions in a complex and still-hostile world. On any day, the mission could be a joint military maneuver in concert with active duty forces half-a-world away in Bosnia or in support of local and state law enforcement battling illegal drugs.

Every National Guard mission starts at home where members are your friends, neighbors and co-workers. They are committed to two missions, federal and state, ready to serve whenever needed. They respond to natural disasters and local emergencies. They play a direct role in helping America's kids stay in school, out of trouble and drug-free. They are Americans with a special calling, men and women who feel that it is their duty to give something back, Americans delivering excellence in all they do.

Pro scouts were not so quick to figure out that West Chester’s Lee Woodall was a linebacker worthy of the NFL.

Many players still yearn to be part of the black-school tradition, and those colleges have sent a who’s who of talent into the NFL over the years, including Payton and Buck Buchanan (Grambling), two of the 10 players recently selected as the College Football Hall of Fame’s inaugural class from NCAA Division I-AA, II, III and NAIA schools.

For other athletes, the decision may come down to a desire to stay near home or to attend a smaller school where they won’t be lost in the crowd. The opportunity to play immediately can also be enticing. But sometimes, it’s not that simple.

Before 1973, there was no limit on the number of prospects a college football program could sign each year. But NCAA rules now permit teams to sign just 25 players a year, with 85 on scholarship at one time (down from 95 in 1991 and 105 in ’76). Recruiters’ hands have been even more tightly tied by the rules concerning the number of paid campus visits recruits may make.

“You’ll see better players going to small schools, because they’re offered a full ride to a Division II school, and that might be their best scholarship offer,” said Kenny Zuckerman, director of football operations at ProTect Management Corporation. “This is due to the limit in visits, as well as scholarships. They might not even get offered visits to the major schools.”

They might not be accepted either, thanks to tougher admission standards: at least a 2.0 GPA with a 900 on the SAT or 21 on the ACT; or a 2.5 GPA with a 700 SAT or a 17 ACT.

“I think the smaller schools are a little more lenient in accepting a player who might be borderline,” Zuckerman said. “Say he’s a 2.0, and a Division I school figures he’s a Prop 48, so he can’t play his first year. He might be able to go to a Division II school or Division III and play his first year.”

But the major schools aren’t the only ones to bemoan the more stringent academic rules.

“In I-AA, we have the same criteria in NCAA admissions requirements and certification requirements [as Division
South Carolina State head coach Willie Jeffries said. "We all have to go through the clearinghouse now. We're hurting ourselves. The division below us, Division II, they can take players that are nonqualifying. They can get those players athletically related aid, and we can't. So we're caught in the middle."

There are also those players like Klein who may not want to sit out a year after transferring, or those who may be eligible only for the NAIA because they have changed schools once already. But it's not always the NCAA rules that control the fate of high school prospects. Sometimes players are just overlooked in the recruiting process. They may come from smaller high schools without winning traditions, or even schools that play eight-man football. Then there are the late bloomers, like Woodall and Mobley and NFL Hall of Famers Gene Upshaw (Texas A&M) and Deacon Jones (South Carolina State). That's how the smaller schools get many of those special players.

"In high school," Mobley said, "I played so many positions that I really wasn't trained solely for one position and I never had a chance to excel at one. So I didn't get that many offers [from] Division I schools, and the ones that were in contact weren't giving me full scholarships.

"I [underwent] a dramatic change in college with one specific position coach to help you out and get you fundamentally sound and teach you technique, which is something that I lacked in high school. So coming out [of high school], I was pretty raw, and I sort of developed in college."

Still, Mobley may not have been the 15th overall pick in the '96 draft if it hadn't been for Woodall.

"The best thing to have ever happened to John Mobley was Lee Woodall," Zuckerman said. "Because people saw someone come out of that conference at the same position and become a Pro Bowl player. And so now they go back and they give John Mobley a much better look and they see a guy who was excelling like Lee Woodall was from the same conference, and he gets invited to an all-star game."

And that's where Mobley shined.

"He went to the Blue-Gray and he went to the Senior Bowl, and he responded well in both," said San Francisco 49ers director of player personnel Vinny Cerrato. "He showed that he could play at that level, and he showed his ability in the drills and with the coaching and how he improved each day at the Senior Bowl with the pro coaching. For the smaller school guys, the bowl games are very important."

So is a player's motivation and burning desire to strut his stuff next to the big boys.

"I might have opened doors, just like Jerry Rice might have, just like John Taylor might have, like all those Division II players or small-school players," Woodall said. "I can open up a door, but it's up to [John Mobley and others] to walk through it.

"What I always say is, no matter what type of player you are, you believe in yourself first before others can believe in you. It's not what school or the name of the school or the division of the school, it's what you do there to make a difference. It's what you do when you get your foot in the door."

It's where those six points that come out of nowhere come from.
Welcome back to Touchdown Illustrated's Tournament of Champions.

Last week we got under way with eight of the 16 first-round matches; this week we'll finish up round one.

If you weren't with us and are wondering what this is all about, here's a quick recap...

TDI has selected 32 of the greatest college football teams of all time and is sending them head to head in a fantasy tournament, to be updated in each issue.

The field was selected according to the following criteria: Only undefeated, untied teams that were declared national champions by a major poll were eligible. Teams prior to 1912 were not considered, due to drastic differences in the rules and styles of play. The pairings in the tournament bracket were determined by random selection. All games are played at neutral sites on grass fields, using 1996 college football rules.

Now, let's get back to the games...

1987 MIAMI VS. 1932 SOUTHERN CAL

For one quarter, it was a game. Southern Cal got the ball first and marched 83 yards in 12 plays to take a 7-0 lead. But after the teams traded punts, the Hurricanes went on a scoring spree, racking up touchdowns on four consecutive possessions to take a 28-7 halftime lead. By the start of the fourth quarter it was all Nebraska from the very way back, as Southern Cal pulled away for a 31-17 win.

1974 OKLAHOMA VS. 1972 SOUTHERN CAL

John McKay's Trojans took control of this one early, marching 69 yards on 13 plays on the game's opening drive, capped by Anthony Davis' scoot around right end for a 13-yard touchdown. Minutes later, Oklahoma quarterback Steve Davis fumbled a snap from center, and USC recovered the ball at the OU 31. From there it took just four plays and another Anthony Davis TD run to make it 14-0. With a comfortable margin in place, the Trojans' defense took over, "holding" Oklahoma's powerful running game to 312 yards—nearly 127 below its average. The Sooners closed it to 17-10 at halftime but never could make it all the way back, as Southern Cal pulled away for a 31-17 win.

1971 NEBRASKA VS. 1924 NOTRE DAME

It was all Nebraska from the very start, as the Huskers scored touchdowns on their first three possessions to build an insurmountable lead. Notre Dame's Four Horsemen had a rather forgettable day: The stable managed only 179 total yards while committing four of Notre Dame's six turnovers. Meanwhile, Nebraska quarterback Jerry Tagge enjoyed a big game, completing 16 of 22 passes for 192 yards and three touchdowns, all to wingback Johnny Rodgers.

The Closest, Most Comfortable Shave In The World.

Gillette SensorExcel with protective microfins.

There’s no razor like SensorExcel. It’s the only one with individually spring-mounted twin blades and soft, protective microfins. The spring-mounted blades automatically adjust to every curve of your face. The soft, flexible microfins are positioned in front of the blades to protect your skin while gently setting up your beard so the blades can shave closer with incredible comfort.

The SensorExcel razor also has a responsive Flexgrip® handle and pivoting head for superior maneuverability.

No razor feels more comfortable during your shave or leaves your face smoother after than SensorExcel.
Jeff Kinney added 109 rushing yards and a touchdown for the Huskers, who scored a shocking 38-14 win over an excellent Fighting Irish club.

1925 DARTMOUTH VS. 1930 NOTRE DAME

Turnovers and missed opportunities were the order of the day in a game played in a torrential downpour. With the offenses floundering, the contest turned into a punting war, with Notre Dame’s Frank Carideo doing an excellent job of keeping the Big Green pinned deep in its own end of the field. The game remained scoreless into the fourth quarter when Dartmouth’s Swede Oberlander, who had completed only two passes in the first 54 minutes, hit a streaking George Tully—who’s defender had slipped in the mud—for a 79-yard touchdown. Knute Rockne’s troops rallied, pushing the ball to Dartmouth’s 22 before Marchy Schwartz was intercepted, clinching the Big Green’s 7-0 win.

1961 ALABAMA VS. 1947 MICHIGAN

Fritz Crisler’s Wolverines did what no other team was able to do: They scored two touchdowns against Bear Bryant’s ’61 Tide defense. Unfortunately, it wasn’t enough, as Tim Davis’ 34-yard field goal with 2:49 remaining pushed Alabama to a 16-14 win.

1986 PENN STATE VS. 1922 CORNELL

Joe Paterno’s ferocious defense held the Big Red to just 140 yards of total offense and a pair of Swede Hanson field goals, while D.J. Dozier and Blair Thomas combined for 153 rushing yards and three touchdowns as 1986 Penn State cruised past ’22 Cornell, 24-6. The Big Red made only three trips across midfield all afternoon and was forced to punt 12 times.

1929 NOTRE DAME VS. 1979 ALABAMA

Steadman Shealy ran for 86 yards and passed for 75 more and Major Oglivie added 74 rushing yards and a touchdown on a 52-yard punt return, as Bear Bryant’s 1979 Tide downed the 1929 Fighting Irish, 27-13. The loss tagged Notre Dame head coach Knute Rockne with a disappointing 0-3 record in TD’s Tournament of Champions, while Bryant moved to 2-0.

Kim Nowak enters her fourth year as Coordinator of Athletic Academic Support at the University of San Diego.

The USD Athletic Academic Support Program is designed to assist and motivate student-athletes in their journey and progress towards their academic goals, and ultimately graduation. The primary objective is to improve the student-athletes’ study skills, support them in their academic work, and encourage scholastic achievement. It is essential that student-athletes receive the necessary academic assistance to continue normal progress toward a degree while participating in athletics.

USD student-athletes receive assistance through advising, progress reports, academic tutors, campus learning centers, such as the Logic, Math, and Writing Centers, and the Accelerated Study Program. The Accelerated Study Program provides a monitored, quiet area open only to the student-athletes to ensure quality study time. These services are available to all USD student-athletes.

The USD strength and conditioning program is under the direction of Steve Brown who is entering his second year. It has been designed to develop functional strength, speed, power and endurance. The development of these physical attributes is useless to the athletes unless it can be carried onto the playing field. Therefore, adhering to a properly designed program of strength training, conditioning and nutrition can enable our men and women to become the best possible athletes they can be, while simultaneously reducing the incidence of injury.

USD student-athletes receive intensive instruction on proper weight training technique; speed, power and agility development; and sport-specific conditioning. Their strength and conditioning programs will be specific to the nature of their sport or position. Each athlete will be individually monitored throughout their program to ensure the greatest chance of athletic progress.

Both coaches and student-athletes had very positive reviews from the 1995-96 season.

San Diego is truly “America’s Finest City.” A modern metropolis (second largest in California) and a popular year-round resort, San Diego spreads from the coast to the desert, including cliffs, mesas, hills, canyons and valleys. San Diego also surrounds one of California’s greatest natural harbors which has been a dominant factor in determining the city’s history, economy and development.

Meteorologists claim San Diego as the country’s only area with perfect climate. This ideal year-round environment posts an average daytime temperature of 70 degrees, with an annual rainfall average of less than 10 inches. Most days are sunny, with humidity generally low, even in the summer. The climate, attractive setting and recreational facilities make San Diego “America’s Finest City.”

According to Sports Illustrated, “For sheer numbers of participants, diversity of pursuits of involvement, San Diego must rank as the sports fitness capital of the U.S.” Sports are a major feature of the San Diego lifestyle. One can sail, swim, surf, scuba dive, snorkel, wind-surf on 70 miles of public beach or golf at any of the over 75 golf courses throughout the county. Balboa Park, a 1,158-acre recreation and cultural center, offers 25 tennis courts, two gymnasiums, two municipal golf courses, and one of the nation’s finest zoos. Mission Bay Park is a 4,600-acre playground for jogging, fishing, bicycling, tennis, golf, jet skiing and kite flying.

As well as participating in recreational activities, San Diego supports their professional teams -- the NFL Chargers, the National League Padres, and the CISL Sockers. Whatever sporting activity there is, it’s here in San Diego -- the sports capital of the U.S.A.

A Message From President Hayes

As the president of the University of San Diego, this is my second Torero season. I am proud of the USD Football Team and pleased that the university supports the program in every way possible, including emphasis on academic excellence, and promotion of intercollegiate athletics.

Our student-athletes are winners on and off the field. They demonstrate the values that characterize a USD education - commitment, integrity, teamwork, discipline, and respect for the dignity of all human beings. These are qualities that will help them throughout their lives.

I am looking forward to the coming season and hope that you will join me in supporting our team. It's an exciting schedule and promises to be a great year.
Tom Iannacone begins his ninth year as the University of San Diego Director of Athletics. He assumed the position September 1, 1988 after a nationwide search.

The 55-year-old Iannacone has made great strides in his first eight years. His accomplishments at USD include an internal reorganization of the athletic department, plus improvements in the major areas of personnel, scholarship assistance, facilities, promotions and marketing, fund raising, drug education, academic support, and a new university-approved plan for scholarship support and sports sponsorship. In addition, he was instrumental in USD gaining membership to the Pioneer Football League, which began play in 1993.

Iannacone came to the University of San Diego with an impressive list of credentials and a thorough knowledge of intercollegiate athletics. Prior to USD he was Director of Athletics for four years at St. Francis College in Loretto, Pennsylvania.

Hard work, loyalty and dedication are just some of the words that easily describe Iannacone. His major contributions at St. Francis included the expansion of sports offerings and scholarships for both men and women, improved budgets, renovation of athletic facilities, the hiring of additional staff, and the establishment of a master plan for the future and continual development of athletics. He served on several committees, most notably the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference (ECAC) Infractions committee and the Northeast Conference committee on conference development. Iannacone also served as a consultant to the NCAA I-AA Football Committee.

Now that USD football is competing at the I-AA level, he is a member of the I-AA Athletic Directors Association Executive Committee. He is also the Chairman of the West Coast Conference Athletics Directors Committee.

Prior to his tenure at St. Francis, Iannacone served as assistant athletic director at Fordham University from 1977-84. Along with his administrative duties at Fordham, he was an assistant football coach for the Rams. From 1975-78, he acted as offensive coordinator and backfield coach as Fordham captured 19 victories in their final 24 games during this span. The 1977 squad was and remains the highest scoring team in Fordham history, averaging 34 points per game.

In 1983 Iannacone was presented the prestigious Jack Coffey Award by the Alumni Association for outstanding contributions to Fordham athletics. He also served on various Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference committees.

Prior to Fordham, Iannacone taught physical education and coached track and football in the Norwalk, Ridgefield and New Milford (CT) school districts from 1964-76. He made his collegiate football coaching debut as an offensive backfield coach at Western Connecticut State University in 1974.

A 1964 graduate of the University of Connecticut, Iannacone received his master of science degree in physical education from Southern Connecticut State University in 1973.

Tom and his wife, Cynthia, have three children: Tom Jr., Jennifer and Eric. All three are recent graduates of the University of San Diego.
Dan Young
Assistant Athletics Director

Assistant Athletics Director Dan Young has been a member of the USD Athletics Department since the fall of 1985. Young oversees football, baseball, men’s basketball, golf, men’s soccer, and men’s and women’s tennis. Young serves as the NCAA compliance coordinator for the entire USD athletic program. In addition, he is the department liaison to the University’s Financial Aid and Housing Offices.

Young received his Bachelor’s (Sociology, 1980) and Master’s (Social Work, 1986) degrees from the University of Wisconsin, where he was a nose guard on the Badgers’ football team.

Dan and his wife Virginia, a USD alumnus, are the parents of two sons, John and Thomas.

Ted Gosen
Director of Sports Information

Ted Gosen is in his 15th year serving as USD’s Director of Sports Information. His responsibilities include publicity of all 16 USD men’s and women’s sports, through press releases, publications and game day programs. He also is in charge of gathering game and cumulative statistics, and hosting media at all USD home athletic functions. He is assisted by Mike Daniels, who is in his second year.

In 1981 Ted received his Master’s of Science degree in Sports Administration from St. Thomas University in Miami, Florida. A 1979 graduate of San Jose State University, he earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration. In addition to his SID duties, Ted is a member of the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA); is a member of the USD Hall of Fame Committee; is the editor of Torero Sportsline; and teaches a bowling class each semester through the USD recreation department.

Ted and his wife Terri, a 1983 USD graduate, reside in Poway with their four daughters: Katie, Colleen, Claire and Erin.

Carolyn Greer, M.A., A.T.C.
Head Athletic Trainer

Carolyn Greer enters her nineteenth year as the Head Trainer for the University of San Diego athletic department.

A 1975 graduate of San Diego State University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Physical Education, Carolyn went on to earn her Master’s degree in Sports Medicine at the same institution in 1978.

Over the years she has taught classes in Sports Medicine and had numerous articles published in a variety of journals. She oversees sixteen intercollegiate teams and approximately 350 USD student-athletes on a yearly basis. The Sports Medicine staff provides injury prevention, immediate care, and rehabilitation for USD’s intercollegiate athletes.

Carolyn and her husband Jeff reside in the Mission Beach area of San Diego with their two boys, David and Jason.

Brian Fogarty
Associate Director of Athletics for Athletic Development

Brian Fogarty enters his first year as USD’s Associate Director of Athletics for Athletic Development. He takes over this new post after spending the past thirteen years as USD’s head football coach. He directed USD’s football program to eleven seasons of .500 or better records and guided their move from the NCAA Division III ranks to the NCAA I-AA level in 1993.

His primary responsibilities will be with fund raising, marketing and promotions for the athletic department.

Brian and his wife Vicki, who reside in the Scripps Ranch area of San Diego, have four children: Bridget (a junior at USD), Joe, Colleen and Megan.

Kim Nowak
Academic Support Coordinator

Kim has been the Coordinator of Athletic Academic Support at USD since January 1993. She previously worked at San Diego State University in the Office of Student Athlete Academic Support Services, while earning her Master of Arts degree in Education (emphasis in counseling).

Kim also completed her undergraduate work at San Diego State University in Recreation Administration (concentration in Systems Management). A native Californian, Kim resides in El Cajon.

Steve Brown
Strength & Conditioning Coach

Steve begins his second year as the University of San Diego Strength and Conditioning Coach. He comes to San Diego from Temple University in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, where he was the Assistant Strength and Conditioning Coach since 1991. A 1983 graduate of Brown University (Biology), Steve was a two-sport letterman in football (defensive back) and track (long jumper). He earned his Master’s degree in Human Kinetics in 1991 from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. From 1983-90 he was an assistant football coach at Wauwatosa East High School in Wauwatosa, Wisconsin, and assisted in track in 1988. He is currently working on his Ph.D in Physical Education (focus of studies in Exercise Physiology).

It was less than four years ago that I decided to travel over a thousand miles from home (Northglenn, Colorado) and begin my college career at the University of San Diego. It was the first time I had really been away from home and I wasn’t quite sure what to expect. I was very glad to make about one hundred new friends at football practice before classes even started.

Although I was in a new environment, the transition was facilitated by the schedule I kept between football and classes. I soon learned what it took for me to successfully complete college level class assignments, as well as compete as a Division I athlete. I had known about USD’s move to Division I-AA and the Pioneer Football League the year I arrived, but I did not really think about what it meant. I found out on my own!

When I began practicing with my teammates and reviewing game film of the opponents in our league, I knew that it would be a challenge. However, it was not long before I figured out that through dedication and commitment, I could excel to and even surpass all expectations that I had held of myself. That was exhilarating!

After having experienced some of the home games at Torero Stadium, I began to set my next goal. I wanted to make the travel squad and make the away game trips, especially the conference games. Every other member in our conference is located in the midwest, and the idea of traveling 2,000 miles to play a football game excited me. Finally, I earned a starting spot and traveled to my first away game to Dayton, Ohio in 1993. Traveling with our team was a wonderful experience, and I still look forward to our trips today.

There are so many things that I enjoy about road trips it would probably be impossible to think of all of them. States senior linebacker Ryan Larson, who enjoys traveling throughout the PFL cities, “I wouldn’t have ever gotten to see these towns otherwise.” Larson, as well as senior offensive lineman Todd Plutckhok, like the trips simply for all of the team camaraderie and, “All the funny stories that are shared while traveling.” I like the trips for many different reasons, but one of them is meeting the five or ten people in various airports every trip that inquire about where we are from, who we are playing and how we are doing.

Coach Kevin McGarry comments, “It’s exciting to me to be able to offer our kids this experience.” Although he enjoys the trips, he recognizes that playing and then also winning 2,000 miles from home is a definite challenge. No matter how difficult it may be, the road trips to the midwest don’t always go unrewarded. McGarry’s favorite memory from all of the trips thus far was the team’s first conference road win, a year ago, at Valparaiso.

I would agree by saying that there is a tremendous sense of accomplishment after a road victory, as well there should be. It has made me a lot more appreciative of the home field advantage as well as our encouraging fans that come to our games. It is especially nice to be playing a game in Indiana or Iowa and look up in the stands and see people wearing your school colors and cheering for you when you make a good play. I am also very glad that we play games in the midwest because it has given members of my family a chance to see me play, when they might not have gotten to otherwise.

Choosing to come to USD and play football has brought so much new and exciting opportunities to me. During the past three-plus years, I have learned a great deal and have even seen a good portion of the country. But most importantly, I have created some of the best friendships and some of the best memories that I could have ever hoped for in a college experience. If I had to do it all over again, I wouldn’t change a thing!
CoSIDA/GTE Academic All-Americans

The CoSIDA/GTE Academic All-America Football Team, selected annually by members of the College Sports Information Directors of America, honors the nation's best student-athletes. Just as the balancing of football and academics is difficult, the standards for nomination and selection to the team are rigorous. To be nominated, a varsity starter or key reserve player must have a minimum 3.200 cumulative grade-point average (on a 4.000 scale).

The program began in the 1950s with honorees in football; later, basketball and baseball all-academic teams were added. Academic and athletics biographical data of nominees are prepared in ballot form and mailed to the CoSIDA membership, who vote in each of eight districts. From the eight district teams comes a national ballot, distributed to the 1,400 members for the final all-academic team.

"The achievements of these young men should truly be commended," said NBC sportscaster Dick Enberg, spokesperson for the GTE academic all-America team. "I often wonder where college students find the time and energy to play a demanding sport like football, excel in the classroom and be active on campus and in their communities. To me, these are truly all-Americans."

Below is a look at USD's football GTE Academic All-Americans:

Dan Herbert
Herbert was a four-year letterwinner (1978-81) and in his senior campaign set a school record for interceptions in a season with 8 (still the current mark) ... the 1981 squad finished 9-1 ... besides earning GTE Academic All-America honors, Dan earned Kodak College Division II All-America honors, was selected to the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame (San Diego Chapter) and participated in the 1981 Blue-Gray All-Star game. Dan is an attorney in San Diego.

Bryan Day
Bryan played four years between 1985-88 as a defensive back ... he was the school's first two-time First Team GTE Academic All-American after his junior season when he hauled in a team-best 49 receptions for 811 yards (16.6 average) and 7 touchdowns ... he also averaged 15.6 yards on 9 punt returns and 23.3 yards on 18 kickoff returns ... his senior year (1987) he caught 17 receptions for 338 yards (19.9 average) and 3 touchdowns ... he was a two-time USD Offensive Player of the Year. Jeff is an attorney at law.

John Gomez
John played four years at USD (1985-88) and earned 2nd Team GTE/Academic All-America honors his senior year (1988) as a defensive lineman ... he started his career at USD as a linebacker before moving to the line for his final two seasons ... he started 7 games in 1987 when the team recorded four shutouts on their way to a 6-3-1 season ... in 1988 he totaled 34 tackles in 9 starts with 1 quarterback sack and 8 quarterback hurries. John resides in Orange County where he is an attorney.

Doug Popovich
Doug became the school's second student-athlete to be selected twice as a First Team GTE/Academic All-American (1994, 1995) ... a two-time USD Defensive Player of the Year, Doug lead the team in tackles both his junior (142) and senior (125) campaigns ... three times he was selected the team's James B. Orwig Scholar Athlete of the Year ... he was named a $25,000 Burger King Scholar-Athlete of the Week (Oct. 7, 1996) and earned a $5,000 NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarship ... an Ocean Studies major at USD with a 3.88 grade point-average, Doug was accepted into Yale University's Graduate School.

Jeb Dougherty
Jeb enters his senior season in 1996 as a defensive back ... last season he finished second on the team with 88 tackles to go with 7 quarterback sacks (-45 yards), 4 quarterback hurries, 6 forced fumbles, 3 fumble recoveries, 1 blocked kick, 9 pass deflections and 1 interception ... he also averaged 21.5 yards on 17 kickoff returns ... he earned USD's Strength Coaches Award ... a 3.42 grade point average as a Business major, Jeb was also District VIII GTE/Academic All-America in baseball where he was the team's Co-MVP as a rightfielder.
