New year brings new faces to class

Many familiar faces will be seen on the USD School of Law campus this semester, but some will be in unfamiliar places. Many of these new faces will not just be students but new professors. So, too, will there be a number of new faces in often the same old places.

One major change most students will notice is the movement in the Dean’s Office with the naming of Professor Virginia Shue as Associate Dean. Her office is located adjacent to Dean Strachan in More Hall 200A.

Rosemary Esparza, Jean Montoya, Mary Josephine Newbeen, Steven Wati and Fred Zacharias are among the new faces. Fred Zacharias is a Visiting Professor of Law. Most recently, he has taught as an Assistant and Associate Professor at Cornell, 1981-89, and as a Visiting Professor of law at the George Washington University Law Center, 1986-89. Zacharias has his master's of law degree from Georgetown and juris doctor from Yale. He is a graduate of Johns Hopkins, B.A., 1974, Specializing in the Constitutional and Criminal Law areas, Zacharias was a Prettyman Fellow at the Georgetown Criminal Justice Clinic, 1978-80, and a judicial clerk for the Honorable Judge Edward N. Cohn for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

New handbook helps 1L's through orientation

by Luke Sharp

The copy reads “Welcome to the University of San Diego School of Law...” but it is not just the stack of papers in an overstuffed manilla envelope that a new student usually gets upon registration.

The University of San Diego Law Student Handbook is an attempt at making the orientation process easier for new students at the School of Law.

It is softbound, functional manual with the students' interests in mind. Put together by Motions' Editor-in-Chief Charles Hravitis and recent alumni and SBA President Starr Lee the manual exemplifies a handbook made for that purpose.

This book is one of the few places a student can read both the honor code and the academic rules. Law students quickly learn that when an individual is responsible for rules, it is to his or her advantage to have a copy to consult when there is a question.

Although the University publishes campus material, the Law Student Handbook gives quick references to campus activities, services, policies and facilities. Unlike other publications, this one also gives students biographical information on professors. Although it doesn’t say which professors or courses to take, word of mouth is probably still the most widely used source for course critiques.

All first-year students should have received a copy during the orientation process. Since this is the first publication of its kind at the law school extra copies will be made available to the upperclass through the Dean's office.

Students are urged to scan through the handbook and consult the specific departments should any questions arise. As a start it looks as if the handbook should be a regular tool of the law student along with Black’s and Gilbert’s.

Students reminded of aid deadlines and requirements

from the Financial Aid Office

Located in More Hall 206, the Financial Aid Office, under the direction of Carl Ewing, works to supply students with financial aid in a variety of forms.

As well as loans, the office provides information and assistance on receiving various grants, scholarships and other financial assistance from the school and outside sources, such as the alumni and government agencies.

General Application Procedure

All students seeking aid must follow the general application procedure.

The application procedure for participation in financial aid programs is as follows:

1. File a Financial Aid Form (FAF) or, if you are a California resident, the SAAC with the College Scholarship Service (CSS). These forms may be obtained from the USD Office of Financial Aid. The FAF should be mailed to the College Scholarship Service after January 1 and must be received by CSS by March 1 in order for the applicant to be eligible for priority financial assistance and scholarship awards. All documents, including the applicant’s processed FAF, must be on file in the Financial Aid Office by June 1 in order to avoid possible penalties for late processing. Summer aid applicants must meet the March 1 deadline.

2. Complete a USD School of Law Financial Aid Application and return it to the Office of Financial Aid by March 1.

3. All financial aid applicants must provide Financial Aid transcript from each graduate or undergraduate educational institution attended.

Available Loans

The office offers nine different loan detailed in the Financial Aid handbook:

- Cal Perkins Loan Program (CPLP) Tuition Credit Loan (TCL)
- Stafford Student Loan (SSL) Supplemental Loans for Students (SLS)
- Law Student Loans (LSL)
- Access Loans (LAL)
- Dean's Emergency Loan Fund
- Senior Emergency Fund
- San Diego Bar Association Auxiliary Loan Fund

(Due to possible changes in eligibility and interest rates, applicants should check with the School of Law's Financial Aid Office to receive up-to-date information and application forms for the loan programs listed above.)

Scholarships

Many scholarships are offered to entering and continuing students. Scholarships are awarded to outstanding entering students who have achieved academic excellence, as well as to students who achieve high academic standings during law school. All the scholarships listed are subject to periodic review and budget availability.

To obtain additional information regarding scholarships and grants available from organizations not affiliated with the USD School of Law, a copy of Financing Your Law School Education may be requested from Publications Division, Law Services, Box 63, Penn Street, Newtown, PA 18940-0063. A nominal fee will be charged.

Entering Student scholarships include the entering merit scholarship, the diverse admissions program scholarships and the Dean’s outstanding student awards. Entering Merit Scholarship:

There are twenty merit award for first-year law students (15 for Day and 5 for Evening students). These merit awards cover one-quarter of the first-year tuition.

Applicants who have a minimum of a 3.5 undergraduate GPA, and at least a 40 on the LSAT will automatically be considered.

Students accepted under the Diverse Student Admissions Program are considered for scholarships. These scholarships are awarded to entering and continuing students, and are based on academic performance and financial need. To be eligible for consideration, your FAF form must be postmarked no later than March 1 and a copy of the completed FAF must be included with your application.

A limited number of awards are available. See Student Aid on Page 5.
A view from the bench
Welcome to the jungle from Justice AxI
by Charles D. Hrvatin
Editor-in-Chief

Welcome back! By now you've all stood in enough lines, taken your finals, and survived the holiday season. I hope to meet many of you -- hopefully as writers on this publication, but I promise to do our best to be complete, accurate, and fair. We also promise never to duck any issues which need to be addressed, and to this end we promise to be utterly accessible. So if you have questions or comments, don't hesitate to call us at the SBA office (260-4600, ext. 4346), come over after class, or, in the case of Mark Milstein, at the next kegger.

Call Box
On occasion, mail addressed to a student or unchartered organization will come to the law school. This stuff ultimately ends up in the SBA office. We have established a "call box" to hold this mail until it is claimed by someone. After today, you will be required to check for yourself if you are expecting mail, and keep in mind that we will hold this stuff only for a few weeks. The following individuals/organizations have received mail which is being held for you in the SBA office: Michael Haberkorn, Katherine Matte, Kevin Papp, Pacific SANE, Richard Hildreth, Rick Barron, Marcia Stone, David Lane, Judy Carbone, Scott Fischer, Brendan Brandt.

First-Year Representative Elections
The Student Bar Association By-Laws require that each section of the first-year class be represented on the SBA by a student from that section. Elections for those four positions will occur in a few weeks. Please consider running for this important office.

Bulletin Boards
As a further measure to improve communication on campus, the SBA has installed a series advertising policy with regard to the bulletin boards downstairs. In the past, too much important information became lost in the intimidating sea of bar review ads and pleas for roommates. Don't worry; if you're trying to sell your car or some extra typing for cash you will still have an opportunity to be heard. We simply want to make sure that the person with the most staplers isn't the one to get the most attention. We feel that this will add much needed credibility and consistency to the bulletin boards, which really need to become a major vehicle for communication.

Letters to Motions
Editor's Note: Motions accepts letters, articles, comments and criticisms and will print them here under the Letters section. Please follow the submission guidelines. Turn in copy on an IBM-compatible disk with the name of the word processing format used and the file name of your submission. Without these we will not be able to include your comments which are often helpful to readers as well as the staff. Thank you.

New Computer Science Building
As most of you probably know by now, the university has initiated its plans to build a new building behind the law school. Construction is scheduled to begin in November. This building will house rooms, classrooms, and offices for its expanding undergraduate computer sciences department. As you probably all know, there will be a substantial loss of parking spaces along with more construction noise. If you are upset about these things you have a right to be, and, unfortunately, there appears to be little recourse at this point.

However, as you may not have known, this is not the result of rash or uninformed decision making by the USD Board of Trustees. The plans for the new building were the result of the university's response to a growing crisis for space in its computer sciences department, coupled with a desire to remain competitive in its long-term master construction plan. Following the announcement of the construction of this building, there was a sizable outcry from faculty and students, and the Board invited some faculty members and students to meet with them to discuss their complaints. The result of this meeting was considerable alteration of the original plan, mostly design...to preserve and improve the courtyard behind the law school and to limit access to this area to law students only. There are also plans to install a shuttle service to and from the outside parking lots when construction begins.

Increased Student Fees
You may recall that last spring the SBA voted to raise student fees from $30 to $50 for day students and from $25 to $40 for evening students. You may also have noticed that your charges only $30/$25 against this year. We will be assessing the remaining $20/$15 next spring, and $25/$20 per semester in the future. We apologize for any confusion and ask you to bear with us in this transitional year.

Baseball season just starting at SD Contemporary Art Museum

"Baseball Fever...Catch It!" is the cry. And it can be heard in La Jolla on Prospect at the San Diego (La Jolla) Museum of Contemporary Art. The Museum is featuring the nationally-acclaimed exhibition "Diamonds Are For Ever: Artists and Writers on Baseball" for a 10-week run.

Former All-Star and future Hall-of-Famer Tom Seaver serving as official host is in San Diego for the opening last week. Seaver is featured in two of the works. The first is by Andy Warhol, "Tom Seaver," and the second is "Tom Seaver, Bradenton, Florida," by Alex Traube. With these two there are over 120 works by artists and writers inspired by the social and cultural significance of one of America's most enduring pastimes.

"Diamonds..." is organized into five themes, each highlighting specific feelings, events or memories associated with the game and will be on display through Oct. 21. These highlights include: The Place - Wrigley Field, Busch Stadium, Fenway Park, The Equipment - ball, bat, mitt and ball; The Players - DiMaggio, Ruth, Rose; The Action - a double play, sliding into home first, "E - For Else" - memories, childhood, spring.

Motions

Needs Writers

Motions seeks students interested in writing for this year's newspaper. Writers are expected to write at least one feature article for each issue as well as minor articles assigned by the editor. Applicants must have some word processing skills and are expected to submit all stories on IBM-compatible disk or input on the Motions' computer.

Writing for the newspaper is a good start to getting writings published with a byline as well as leading to a possible paid position.

Photographer

A photographer is also needed to take and develop black-and-white photographs for each issue of Motions. Applicants should be able to set up any appointments, be available for news events that need be shot, work with editors on photo selection for each issue, and develop and enlarge photographs.

Applications may be turned in to the office, Room 114A in the University Center or the Motions mailbox on the first floor of the law school. Applicants should include a resume, writing sample, and a short letter describing why he or she wants to work for Motions. Applications are open to both day and evening students.

Labor Day brings start of school and Annual MDA Telethon

The San Diego broadcast of the 25th Anniversary MDA Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) needs volunteers, announced Chuck Fox, chairperson of the Telethon in the San Diego area. The 3-hour entertainment spectacular will be aired on KNSD-TV, Channel 39, starting at Sunday, September 2 at 6:00 p.m. through 5:00 p.m. Monday, September 3.

This is a golden opportunity for future attorneys to acclimate themselves to working with charitable organizations and helping a worthy cause.

"Volunteers play a vital role in the Telethon's success," said Fox. "Each year, they handle a variety of behind-the-scenes jobs as an answering pledge phones and sorting pledge envelopes. The fantastic people of San Diego have always come through for us in the past, and I hope we can count on them again this year."

Money raised through the Telethon helps fund the important work being done by MDA-sponsored researchers seeking treatments and cures for neuromuscular diseases. One of the most promising experimental treatments now under investigation by MDA is "myoblast transfer therapy." This technique involves the injection of healthy immature muscle cells, called myoblasts, into the diseased muscle in an effort to produce normally-functioning muscle cells. MDA-supported scientists have already begun human trials of this procedure.

"The people of San Diego can take great pride in their contribution to this major research undertaking," said Fox. "MDA scientists are closer than ever to developing treatments and cures for a number of neuromuscular diseases. If increased public support of MDA can be achieved, this vitally important work will continue.

In the San Diego area, funds raised by KNSD's broadcast help make possible the MDA clinic at Children's Hospital, MDA research projects at UCSD, San Diego State, Salk Institute and Scripps Clinic as well as MDA's summer camp at Camp Cuyamaca.

The 25th annual Telethon, which will originate live from the Aquarius Theater in Hollywood, will be broadcast throughout the United States by some 200 "Love Network" stations. This year's star-studded event promises to be the most exciting in the event's history according to organizers, with three-time Emmy award winner George Schlatter heading the production. The show's format includes 45 minutes of national programming and 15 minutes of local programming during most Telethon hours.

Anyone interested in volunteering for the Labor Day Telethon should call the local MDA office at 492-9792.

Ford Sale-a-thon

Pearson Ford of San Diego is holding their usual Sale-a-Thon in conjunction with the 1990 Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon on Sept. 2-3. Pearson will donate $100 for every new or used car sold during the five day sale, beginning Thursday, Aug. 30 and continuing through Labor Day.

Since the first sale in 1984, Pearson Ford owners, John McCullan and Don Reid, have raised over $75,000 to benefit San Diegoans with neuromuscular diseases. By continuing their fundraising efforts for MDA, necessary funds are raised to send "Jerry's Kids" to camp, support programs of research and many other patient services.

Glen Ivy Festival

Outside the Holiday Inn downtown, many old favorites will take place in a good ol' country fair. The new stage will feature some of San Diego's top bands.

New Faces

Steven Walt is an Assistant Professor of Law. He brings with him an educational background consisting of a bachelor's degree from Kalamazoo College, an M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Chicago and a Yale law degree. He will be teaching UCC 1 & II. Walt was most recently an Amoco Foundation Term Assistant Professor of Legal Studies at the Wharton School in Pennsylvania, 1988-90. He also has the interesting distinction of teaching as a Visiting Professor at Shanghai Jiao Tong University in 1989.

Michigan law graduate Mary Josephine Newborn will teach Products Liability. One of the new Assistant Professors on our staff, Newborn is now many years away from both Michigan as both a Howard B. Coblenz and Richard K. Dykema prize winner. Additionally, she was honored for her posts as Notes and Co-Book Review Editor at Michigan.

Assistant Professor Jean Montoya is a 1985 UCLA Law School graduate. She returned to UCLA in 1989 as a lecturer and comes to USD after a number of years with the Los Angeles County Public Defender's Office and as an associate with the law firm of Irell & Manella.

Rosemary Esparza is not unfamiliar to the San Diego legal community serving in a variety of capacities in local bar circles. Esparza is Director of the Immigration Law Clinic. Her background includes practice as Directing Attorney for Centro de Asuntos Migratorios from 1985 to 1987 and as an attorney for the Immigration Unit of the Legal Aid Society of San Diego. She was President of the La Raza Lawyers of San Diego for 1983-84.

Some teachers that shifted around include Steve Hartwell who will be teaching Lawyering Skills II sections along with Associate Professor Laura Berend. Richard "Corky" Wharton returns as Director of the Environmental Law Clinic and the Lawyering Skills Competitions.

All in all students can look forward to new teachers in familiar places and familiar teachers in unfamiliar places.

Now finished, LRC awaits dedication

A couple of years and $6.1 million later the Legal Research Center (LRC) is finally finished in state-of-the-art fashion.

Consisting of more than 230 computer-ready study carrels; two classrooms wired for video, computers and interactive video disc; computer training rooms for WESTLAW and LEXIS; compact shelving devices, climate control and the capability of hooking up more than 550 computer terminals, the LRC is ready to take the University of San Diego School of Law and the San Diego Legal community into the 21st Century.

Such a new implement as the climate control works to great advantage since many books would have been destroyed and study- ing during the summer and winter months was often unbearably.

Aviation CEO named Trustee

Michael J. Rogerson, Chairman and CEO of Rogerson Aircraft Corporation, has been named to the University of San Diego Board of Trustees.

Rogerson will join new trustees Darlene Shailer and Jenny Craig to the 39-member board which meets quarterly. One other member is expected to be named prior to September when Ernest Hahn is scheduled to become USD Chairman of the Board.

Rogerson founded Rogerson Aircraft Corporation in 1975 in Irvine, Calif. In joining USD's board, Rogerson adds to a long list of civic activities. He is trustee at UC Irvine, in addition to holding a post with UCI's Chief Executive Roundtable. He is a member of the President's Council of Loyola University, his alma mater, and holds positions with a number of business and civic organizations.

Rogerson and his wife, Carolyn, reside in Newport Beach, Calif.

CPPO announces fall interview program

from the Career Planning Office

The Fall 1990 On-Campus Interviewing program (OCI) is an annual event hosted by USD and other many law schools across the country. During the fall semester, employers from both the private and public sector visit the USD campus for a day or two to interview. Employers interview selected students for summer associate and associate positions commencing the summer of 1991.

The Career Planning & Placement Office (CPPO) collects and mails student resumes to the employers and allows the employers to prerelease the resumes before their visits.

Below are the dates and times to keep in mind if you want to be considered for these interviews:
August 20-31: Drop off a rough draft of your resume if you would like a CPPO member to review it for suggestions. Please allow one day turn-around time.
August 24-31: Student packets containing lists of participating employers available in exchange for a current resume. There are three important reasons for the CPPO to have a copy of your resume: 1) Employers frequently request additional copies on the day of the interview, 2) CPPO must verify the information on the resumes, and most importantly, 3) the information on the resumes is the data that employers use when trying to track down a student.
September 4 (Noon to 6 p.m.): Resume sorting. Students submit resumes to file folders representing the various employers on your employer list. Location TBA.
September 5 (7 a.m. to 6 p.m.): Resume sorting.
September 13: First day of on-campus interviews. Further details in the CPPO Newsletter available Monday, August 20.

Tidal wave hits census office

As some 70 million census questionnaires flooded back to the Census Bureau's processing offices in the several weeks since the decennial census began in April, they created a tidal wave of paper and data.

San Diego is the location of one of only seven processing centers nationwide, which will process the 16 million questionnaires returning from residents of California. Washington, Alaska, and Hawaii.

The processing offices convert the information from the millions of paper questionnaires into a readable computer format. The high-tech process requires five steps: Intake, Microfilming, SDIC, Quality Check and Tabulation.

Intake

In the San Diego processing office, 16 million were automatically sliced open and their arrival recorded, using laser technology which is similar to those used at supermarket checkout stands. This process speeds the reading of the bar-coded identification numbers. Households that did not respond were identified and visited by census enumerators.

Microfilming

Each page of each questionnaire was then microfilmed into the 1200, 35mm can-

FOODIC

The microfilm was fed into the FODIC or Film Optical Sensing Device for Input to Computer machine, which reads the "filled-in" circle answers and transfers the census data into computer files. The microfilm was then transferred to secure storage, and is made accessible to the public only after 72 years. Until the year 2062, the individual answers are kept strictly confidential.

Quality Check

Once the questionnaires were converted into computer files, each page of each questionnaire was reviewed for missing information and other problems. A follow-up interview with the family was conducted if needed to ensure completeness.

Tabulation

The Processing Office computer system will collect and temporarily store this information. When all questionnaires have been received and the data have been stored, the raw data will be transferred to the Census Bureau's main computer in Suited, Maryland for tabulation.

The first data from the 1990 Census will be delivered to the President on December 31, 1990. Counts at the block level, which are used for reapportionment purposes, will go to each state on or before April 1, 1991. The balance of the data will become available to governments, businesses, community groups and individuals on a flow basis during the following two or three years.

Campus food offerings abound in University Center

Studying and eating seem to go together like being heavily in debt and being more vending machines in the Campus. Studying and eating seem to go to-her like being heavily in debt and being more vending machines in the different story. There's vending machine work on accruing the freshman 10 (pounds). Food is offered cafeteria style and you can go back for seconds, thirds, etc. If fried foods and pizza are your forte, then the Courtyard Grille is the place. On the west side of the University Center on the lower level, the Grille offers burgers, pizza, fries and chicken sandwiches. To top off these lo-cal, but delicious, meals, the Grille has added frozen yogurt.

The Marketplace has several options for making a long day at school much more palatable. The Bakery and Fountain stock baked goods like cookies and muffins and Swenson's Ice Cream. The Deli has made-to-order sandwiches and a salad bar. Last, but not least is USD's rendition of the 7-11, the Mini-Market. There you'll find items from sodas and crackers to toothpaste and soap for some one-stop shopping.
