Welcome to USD

The University of San Diego is a modern university that reveres its roots. Computers abound. Students carry their entire music collection in their pocket. But USD also is a community that takes great pride in its past and its Catholic tradition.

The University of San Diego has for more than 50 years been dedicated to providing a values-based education that recognizes men and women as creatures of God, and to the continuing examination of Catholic tradition in contemporary life. USD's 180-acre campus, Alcalá Park, overlooks San Diego's Mission Bay and the spot where Father Junipero Serra celebrated the first Catholic Mass in Alta California more than 230 years ago. Like California's oldest city, the university took its name from San Diego de Alcalá, a Franciscan brother from Alcalá de Henares, a monastery near Madrid, Spain. The Spanish Renaissance architecture that characterizes Spain's five-century-old University of Alcalá serves as the inspiration for all buildings on the USD campus.

Under the leadership of Mother Rosalie Hill of the Society of the Sacred Heart and Bishop Charles Francis Buddy of the Diocese of San Diego, the University of San Diego began as separate colleges for men and women. The first classes met in 1952; the School of Law opened its doors in 1954. By the late 1960s it became clear that both colleges would benefit from combining academic resources, and in 1972 the University of San Diego became a single, coeducational Catholic university.

Now governed by a board of trustees independent from the founding organizations, USD is a Roman Catholic institution that welcomes students, faculty and staff of diverse religious traditions and remains dedicated to the values originally articulated by Mother Hill and Bishop Buddy. Students choose from more than 60 undergraduate and graduate degree programs in academic divisions including the College of Arts and Sciences and the schools of Business Administration, Leadership and Education Sciences, Law, and Nursing and Health Science. Men aspiring to the Roman Catholic priesthood prepare for their vocation at the St. Francis Center for Priestly Formation.

VISITING USD

We encourage prospective students to visit USD. Student-guided walking tours of the campus and information sessions with a USD admissions counselor are offered every weekday at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Tours also are available on select Saturdays between November and April.

Contact the Office of Undergraduate Admissions at (619) 260-4506 or (800) 248-4873, or e-mail admissions@sandiego.edu.

UNIVERSITY COLORS

The University of San Diego's colors are Immaculata Blue, Torero Blue, Founders Blue and white. These traditional colors were chosen because of their association with the Virgin Mary and everything she represents. Blue signifies truth, intellect, fidelity, prudence, peace, eternity and faith. White symbolizes life, love, purity, joy, innocence, light and integrity.

TORERO HISTORY

Until 1961, the University of San Diego athletic teams were called the Pioneers because of the pioneering spirit students embraced during the early years of the university's existence. But in the fall of that year, at the suggestion of Bishop Charles Francis Buddy, one of the university's founders, the teams adopted the nickname the Toreros. In his announcement about the name change, Bishop Buddy said the name Toreros is more in keeping with the friendly relationship between San Diego and Mexico.

The word Torero comes from the Spanish term toro, the bull, and from the word torear, to fight bulls. All of the contestants in the ring are called Toreros. A Torero signifies courage, honor and fidelity. Each University of San Diego student athlete, like the Torero, represents a willingness to stand alone in the ring and accept a challenge.

Spend some time in San Diego, and it quickly becomes apparent why it's such a popular destination. The weather is balmy year-round, and there's always something to do. Take up surfing, or just walk on the beach. When winter comes, drive a few hours to ski or play in the snow, or head for the desert to experience some spiritual cleansing. Soak up the atmosphere in the historic Gaslamp Quarter or the beach communities of Coronado, La Jolla and Pacific Beach.

San Diego is California's second largest city and the United States' seventh largest, with a population of nearly 1.3 million residents. The region boasts 70 miles of pristine beaches and an array of world-class family attractions, including the San Diego Zoo, the Wild Animal Park, SeaWorld and Legoland. The zoo is just a small part of Balboa Park, an urban expanse that houses numerous museums, art galleries, beautiful gardens and the Tony Award-winning Old Globe Theatres. Petco Park is home to baseball's San Diego Padres, while Qualcomm Stadium houses the NFL's San Diego Chargers.

The Mission Bay Aquatic Center is the world's largest recreational waterfront facility, offering instruction in an array of water sports, including sailing, surfing and kayaking. The center is designed primarily for the students, faculty, staff and alumni of San Diego's colleges and universities.

From the airport: The campus is a 10-minute cab ride, approximately $15.

Admission to USD, which consistently ranks among the top schools in the United States, is highly selective. USD received more than 10,000 applications for approximately 1,100 undergraduate openings in Fall 2006. The Class of 2010 entered with a GPA of 3.74 and an average SAT score of 1174.

USD in 2003 joined the elite company of Phi Beta Kappa, the nation's oldest honor society. Nationwide, only about 10 percent of all colleges and universities have Phi Beta Kappa chapters. USD is one of only 18 Catholic institutions among the 270 chapters. The university was granted membership to the Mortar Board national honor society in 2000.

Applicants are expected to present a well-balanced secondary school program of college preparatory courses in English, foreign language, mathematics, laboratory science, history and social science. Both the content of the academic program and the quality of performance are considered. While SAT/ACT results are used to broaden USD's understanding of the applicant's potential, the university also is interested in the person behind the academic history. Participation in extracurricular activities at school, in the community or through church is taken into consideration when making admission decisions.

Accreditation

The University of San Diego is accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges, 985 Atlantic Ave., Suite 100, Alameda, Calif. 94501, (510) 748-9001. For individual school and program accreditation information, go to www.sandiego.edu/academics/accreditations.

Campus Life

Living on Campus

Some 2,600 students — roughly half of all undergraduates and a growing number of graduate students — will be living on campus in Fall 2007. Approximately 250 new spaces have been added to USD's on-campus residence halls with the construction of the new Borrego building, which opened in Fall 2006 in the Alcala Vista apartment complex, and the new Missions apartment complex, set to open in Fall 2007. The Residential Life program is supported by professional live-in administrators, staff, and graduate students, plus 58 student resident assistants. In addition, faculty and University Ministry staff live in the residence halls as members of USD's living and learning communities.

There are six campus housing areas designated for freshmen: Camino Hall, Founders Hall, Maher Hall, Missions A, Missions B and San Antonio de Padua apartments. Manchester Village accommodates some 330 upperclass, graduate and law students, and houses the Wisdom for the Real World program, designed to help students make a smooth transition upon graduation. Five other on-campus apartment complexes are available to accommodate sophomores, juniors, seniors, and law and graduate students. Residential Learning Communities (RLCs) place students with similar interests together. Examples of RLCs include Honors Program, World of Science, University Ministry, Outdoor Adventures and Social Change.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

You can view descriptions of these on-campus options at www.sandiego.edu/residentiallife.

For additional housing information, please call (619) 260-4777 or visit www.sandiego.edu/housing.

Dining Services

Dining Services offers students, faculty, staff and guests high-quality, nutritious food in a variety of attractive, comfortable settings. The university's dining team serves more than 8,000 meals daily. Academy-certified chefs and experienced culinary staff are passionate about the food and services they provide for the campus community each day.

Public Safety

USD's public safety officers patrol the campus around the clock seven days a week. The department offers a series of crime-prevention programs and a dusk-to-dawn escort service for anyone walking to any location on campus or within a one-mile radius.

Student Learning Initiatives

The Office of Student Learning Initiatives, on the first floor of the Hahn University Center, offers student support and referral services including:

Academic Assistance Support

The Office of Student Learning Initiatives' professional staff and peer advisers conduct advising sessions to help interested students improve academic performance. First Year Experience Workshops and Online Resources

The First Year Experience Workshops program offers more than 40 fall semester workshop sessions designed specifically to assist freshmen with the transition to university life in and out of the classroom. FYE Online Resources is a web-based resource with a series of short articles written by USD's own experts on a range of topics related to college success.

Student Learning and Development Transcript

Similar to an academic transcript, the Student Learning and Development Transcript is USD's unique web-based system to document activities outside of the classroom, including internships, athletics, student clubs and organizations, community service, part-time employment and leadership activities.

Student Organizations

More than 65 organizations, including fraternities and sororities, academic clubs and intramural athletic groups, are open to students. For more information, contact the Associated Students office at (619) 260-4802 or go to www.sandiego.edu/associatedstudents.

Music

A comprehensive music program includes regular performances by the USD Symphony, the USD Community Choir, the Opera Workshop and the Choral Scholars show choir. The program also presents frequent recitals by faculty and students, and performances by visiting artists.

University Ministry helps students, faculty, staff and alumni nourish an adult faith, form a strong community of worship, serve the needy and act for justice.

The catalyst of spiritual life on campus, University Ministry invites people of all religious traditions and those still searching for religious identity to participate in its activities, which include retreats, Scripture study, pastoral counseling, spiritual direction, liturgical ministries, ecumenical services, worship, the Founders Chapel choir, faith reflection groups, and social justice and service opportunities.

USD is a Roman Catholic institution proud of the religious diversity on campus. The annual All-Faith Service celebrating the many faith traditions on campus is a USD tradition. The Jewish Student Union and the Intervarsity Christian Fellowship for Evangelical Christians are active campus organizations. Any student can receive information from University Ministry about on- and off-campus opportunities to practice any faith.
