Historical Note

The Honors Convocation began as an awards ceremony in the College for Women to recognize student achievement. Along with the merging of the College for Women and College for Men came the merging of the Honors Convocation. The ceremony honored student achievement with awards going to students with the highest scholastic average, students ranking in the top 10% of their class, departmental honors, certificates, and scholarships.

Scope and Content Note

Records dating 1961 to 1996 include Honors Convocation invitations and programs as well as planning materials for the Convocation, correspondence regarding award recipients, and copies of letters sent recipients. Also included are some materials regarding the Kappa Gamma Pi St. Catherine Medal award. After 1996, records solely include the Convocation program. Years 2004 and 2010 are currently missing from these records.
