DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY

There were more than 1,200 historians registered for the 8th Annual Meeting of the Western History Assoc., held on Oct. 17, 18, 19 in Tucson, Ariz. In attendance with Dr. Brandes were Dr. Iris Wilson and her daughter, who is a graduate student, and six USD students. Dr. Brandes' role in the convention was to deliver a paper on Oct. 16 on the impact of the motion picture industry on history. It is significant that this particular history association is now the largest in this country and perhaps the world, and includes many prominent historians of American history. This was an invaluable experience for Dr. Brandes and for the students who participated, and it was pointed out at one of the luncheons that there were two schools who had brought students to the convention, USD and the University of New Mexico.
