OFFICE OF THE PROVOST

Enrollment Charts: Analysis:

Attached to these Newsnotes are the official Enrollment Charts tracing USD's enrollment (headcount and FTE - Full Time Equivalent) over the past six years, including the current semester. In one of the next issues of the Newsnotes, we will publish the official HEGIS (Higher Education General Information Survey) enrollment charts as they have been sent to Washington, D.C.

As you can see in analyzing the charts, USD had a very small headcount enrollment increase this year, going from an overall total of 5129 students in Fall, 1983 to 5264 students in Fall, 1984, approximately a 2.6% increase. Unlike other years, when enrollment increases have been heavily concentrated in the undergraduate population, this year's increase of 135 students is spread across undergraduate, graduate, and law students, with the highest proportionate increase occurring in the LL.M. /M.C.L. programs on campus and in Los Angeles. The headcount increases in the several student populations from Fall, 1983 to Fall, 1984 are as follows:

Attached to these Newsnotes is the annual profile of the First Year Law Class.

Undergraduates:	49 students (from 3326 to 3375: 1.5% increase)
Graduates:	26 students (from 698 to 724: 3.7% increase)
Law: J.D.:	16 students (from 953 to 969: 1.6%)
Law: LL.M. /MCL	44 students (from 152 to 196: 29% increase)
	135

The undergraduate and J.D. increases are statistically insignificant, reflecting the inability of any institution to achieve absolute precision in predicting from past statistics and current application figures. Since USD granted the largest number of master's and doctoral degrees in its history (217) in 1983-1984, the increase in graduate students may be more significant because of the number of new students; statistics on new graduate students will be available in a few weeks. The LL.M. /M.C.L. increases represent strong efforts to strengthen these programs and seek new students.

The above analysis deals with headcount figures. USD budgets on the basis of FTE, not headcount. The increase of 93 FTE undergraduates, with only 49 increase in headcount, means that some students are taking more units. On the other hand, the increase of 11 FTE graduate students over last fall, with 26 additional headcount, means that this group is enrolling in marginally fewer units; compared to budgeted figures (386 FTE), the graduate FTE is slightly under budget. Since the charts show only annual average projections for the School of Law, it is not possible to deduce from the charts the fall enrollment projection. I checked data sent last February by the School of Law, which indicates fall semester projections of 697 for day (as compared to 678 actual) and 243 for evening students (as compared to 282 actual).

When we have the data, we will provide more analysis of the undergraduate and graduate enrollments. We do not yet know whether the above-budget figures for undergraduates stem from new or returning students, but August deposit figures indicate the probability that the very small increase represents new students. We do know that the freshman figures, as always on this chart, are misleading, unless one knows how to read them; freshman numbers include not only entering freshmen, but also many returning and transfer students who have not yet completed 30 units. At the graduate level, we do not know which Schools or programs have more or fewer students. This data on new students will be forthcoming in a few weeks.

Finally, the overall picture puts USD above 5000 for the third fall semester in University history, and somewhat above budget from the institution-wide perspective. As you are aware, however, USD as a tuition-dependent institution can never sit comfortably until spring enrollment is in; sometimes we are under our budgeted spring net attrition rate institution-wide, and sometimes we are above it. At least there is some margin when we are slightly over budget in the fall, and this gives us a fine opportunity to control spring admissions from the academic perspective.

No projections have yet been made for 1985-1986, so this portion of the chart has been left blank.

Law Student Profile:

Attached to these Newsnotes is the annual profile of the First Year Law Class,

Day and Evening Divisions. In addition, this year we are including the profile for M. C. L. (Master of Comparative Law) applicants and students. If you wish to compare the First Year profile with last year's, you will find the latter in the Newsnotes of September 30, 1983.

Classroom Tablet Armchairs:

Last year USD set aside funds to refurbish the tablet armchairs in Camino, Founders, and Serra Halls. The tablet arms of these chairs have been carved into for years by students, and are in disgraceful condition. It is far less expensive to refurbish the chairs and include formica tops than to replace them. The project began last summer, with 50 or so of the wooden chairs found mostly in Camino and Founders Halls being sent out at a time. It is anticipated that the entire project will be completed by early in 1985. It has not yet been determined whether all of the tubular steel leg chairs found mostly in Serra Hall will be refinished; some of them are in poor condition and may not be worth it.

Section 504:

USD recognizes that it is most important that all members of the community know the requirements contained in Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. Therefore, we are publishing the following information regarding academic and employment areas:

- no student may be excluded from any course or any course of study solely on the basis of handicap;
- modifications in degree or course requirements may be necessary to meet the requirements of some handicapped students (examples: extended time, less units per semester);
- prohibitive rules, such as those banning tape recorders from the classroom, must be waived for some handicapped students;
- auxiliary aids must be permitted in the classroom when they are required to ensure the full participation of handicapped students;
- alternate testing and evaluation methods for measuring student achievement will be necessary for students with impaired sensory, manual, or speaking skills (except where those are the skills being measured);
- classes may have to be rescheduled to permit access for students with mobility impairments;
- special equipment or devices used in the classroom (and in some cases teaching techniques that rely upon the sight, hearing, or mobility of students) may require adaptation in individual cases;
- it is discriminatory to counsel handicapped students toward more restrictive careers than nonhandicapped students, unless such counsel is based on strict licensing or certification requirements in a profession;
- auxiliary aids are made available by the institution for students with impaired sensory, manual, or speaking skills.

- there may be no discrimination on the basis of handicap in any employment decision or action, policy, procedure or practice;
- prior to posting or advertising any job, essential and non-essential functions of the job should be defined;
- alternate tests are available for applicants or employees with impaired sensory, manual, and speaking skills, and should be used whenever employee testing is affected by such impaired skills;
- there may be no pre-employment medical examinations required;
- there must be no discrimination based on handicap in recruitment, advertising, or processing forms for employment;
- tests and criteria that screen out handicapped persons must not be used;
- either: (1) pre-employment questions regarding the nature or severity of handicaps may not be asked - if not taking voluntary, remedial, or affirmative action; or (2) pre-employment questions regarding the nature or severity of handicaps may (or must) be asked because the institution is taking voluntary, remedial, or affirmative action;
- pre-employment questions regarding one's ability to perform essential functions of a job effectively and safely may be asked;
- reasonable accommodations will have to be made to the known physical and mental limitations of otherwise qualified handicapped persons;
- there may be no discrimination based on handicap regardless of the provisions in contractual agreements with unions, employment or referral agencies, providers of fringe benefits, providers of training or apprenticeship programs, and similar organizations;
- recreational and social opportunities for employees must be provided equally to handicapped employees;
- handicapped persons must have an equal opportunity to use parking and housing facilities provided to employees;
- there may be no discrimination based on handicap in any leave programs, including sick leave, vacation, leaves of absence, and so forth;
- there may be no discrimination based on handicap in opportunities for apprenticeships, internships, and staff or professional development, including travel to meetings and conferences; and
- handicapped applicants and employees must not be counseled toward more restrictive careers than nonhandicapped persons.

Academic Calendars for 1986-1987 and 1987-1988:

On Tuesday, September 18, 1984, the ad hoc Committee to propose an academic calendar for all units of the University except the School of Law, met to formulate a proposal for the academic calendars for 1986-1987 and 1987-1988.

The Committee included administrators and faculty members from each of the four Schools/College (Arts and Sciences, Business, Education, Nursing), plus student representation. The ad hoc Committee's proposal is attached to these Newsnotes, in order to seek faculty comment prior to finalizing the calendars. Faculty comments may be forwarded in writing to my office. Those who prefer to make verbal comments may call Mrs. Debbie Gough (x4553); these verbal comments will be jotted down and included with any written comments. Comments should be received by Friday, October 5, 1984. If there is no substantial objection voiced, the calendar as proposed by the ad hoc Committee will be adopted for the College of Arts and Sciences, and the Schools of Business, Education, and Nursing. Since you are the ones who have to teach according to the academic schedule, please let us know your views.

Faculty Handbook Revisions:

Attached to the back of these Newsnotes are four more revised pages for your Faculty Handbook. Please remove them and insert them in the proper place in your book.

Faculty/Staff Softball:

Anyone interested in joining the Faculty/Staff Softball League, please contact Coach Becker in the Sports Center. Games are scheduled to begin October 3, 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. on October 11. The exhibition will continue until December 21.

Symphony Tickets:

The San Diego Symphony will hold an on-campus subscription drive at the Bookstore Box Office on October 15, 16 and 17. Students and faculty/staff will have the opportunity to save substantially over single ticket prices by buying a season subscription. Five, ten and twenty concert series are available. This offer will be good on those days only. The season begins November 8 with the incomparable André Watts, piano, so plan on reserving your seats.

Food Service Policies:

Outside Catering: Outside caterers will not be allowed on campus except when approved by the Vice President for Student Affairs.

Advance Notice Required for Catering Services: With the exception of coffee services, catering requests must be received by Food Service ten working days prior to the planned event. Requests for coffee and/or other drinks must be received two working days prior to the event. Due to the number and complexity of some catering events at certain times of the year, Food Service may not be able to service a request for catering. When Food Service cannot handle a request, alternatives, such as deli pick-ups, will be offered.

Please refer to the catering brochure for additional details.

OFFICE OF UNIVERSITY RELATIONS

Effective in early September, the Office of Planned Giving became known as the Office of Trusts and Estates. Michael Kearney will carry the title, Director, Office of Trusts and Estates. This change is being made to more accurately describe the work of the office.

Dr. Gil Brown will continue his work in the office under the title Special Assistant to the President, on a quarter-time basis.

GRADUATE OFFICE

The Graduate Office has information available on Fulbright Scholarships and other grants for the 1985-1986 year. Included are individual listings of full grants, fixed sum grants, travel grants, some foreign and private grants, and deadline information. Please contact Dr. Brandes in Founders 108 or at extension 4800.

FOUNDERS GALLERY

An exhibition, "Designs for the Stage," featuring the work of Ralph Funicello and Richard Seager, will open in Founders Gallery with a reception from 7:00 to 9:00 p. m. on October 16. The exhibition will continue until December 21.

The scenic designs of two of America's finest theatrical designers will be represented by models, renderings, drawings and photographs. Viewers will be able to trace the creative concept from tentative sketches, through drafting and painter's elevations to scale working models and photographs of the finished product. Both artists are celebrated for their work in New York, the West Coast and the finest regional theaters. During the past summer, Mr. Funicello's "Streetcar Named Desire" was seen at the Stratford Theater in Oregon, and Mr. Seager's set for Rashomon was celebrated at the Old Globe in San Diego.

A catalogue accompanies the exhibition.

The installation is curated and designed by USD exhibition design students and Professor Terry Whitcomb.
