CLAY SHAW, PRINCIPAL IN ASSASSINATION CONSPIRACY TRIAL, TO SPEAK AT USD

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Changes in the American legal system to prevent irresponsible attacks will be the subject of Clay Shaw, New Orleans businessman, in a public talk at the University of San Diego.

Shaw will speak Friday, Nov. 14, at 7 p.m. in More Hall. The University of San Diego is Shaw's only scheduled appearance in California since the trial in which he was accused of plotting to kill President John F. Kennedy. He will also discuss the high cost of proving one's innocence. He will be at the law school sponsored by the student Law Forum.

Shaw was arrested by New Orleans District Attorney James Garrison on March 1, 1967 and charged with conspiring with Lee Harvey Oswald to assassinate President Kennedy.

Shaw spent two years and his entire personal fortune of around $100,000 on a defense that went to the U. S. Supreme Court before the actual trial this year, said Marc Weisel, of the Law Forum.

After a 35-day trial the jurors unanimously acquitted Shaw on the first ballot. Four days later District Attorney Garrison indicted Shaw for perjury. The charge has not yet come to trial.

No man has been more deprived of his constitutional rights, said Clay's attorney at the time of the trial.
