COMMUNICATION SKILLS TAUGHT AT WORKSHOP

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

A workshop for participants to improve their communication skills and to attain a higher level of empathy with other people is scheduled at the University of San Diego November 7 and 8.

The workshop, "Systematic Human Relations Training," is designed to increase the effectiveness with which one person relates to another. Its primary aim is to enhance both personal and interpersonal growth. The two-day program will employ a wide variety of educational media including transparencies, audio tapes and video training equipment.

Dr. Philip Hwang, Assistant Professor in Counselor Education at the University of San Diego, will conduct the workshop. He was formerly Director of the Center for Human Development at Loras College, and Consultant for a Human Relations Training Project funded under Title I.

The program is scheduled Friday 5-9 p.m. and Saturday 9-5 p.m. in DeSales Hall. One semester unit of extension credit may be earned. Information and registration forms is available from the University of San Diego School of Education.
