FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE - 8/11/76

The NCAA announced today (August 11, 1976) that the 1977 National Collegiate Division II Tennis Championships will be held at the University of San Diego. The announcement was made by Mr. Ralph McFillan, the Director of Events for the NCAA.

This will be the first time the University of San Diego has hosted a national championship event.

The tournament will be held May 18-22. It will consist of 64 singles entries and 32 in doubles.

Hampton Institute of Virginia captured the 1976 Division II title. Hampton Institute replaced the 1974, 1975 champions from the University of San Diego who finished sixth this year. Coach Robert Screen's Hampton squad finished with 23 points, becoming the first non-California entry in the Championships since 1966 to earn an outright title.

Last year's tournament field was comprised of 28 teams from 16 states, featuring 96 singles players and 48 doubles units.

The University of San Diego's tennis coach Hans Wichary will serve as the Tournament Director. Hans had this to say about the tournament, "We are very lucky to be hosting a National Championship tournament. The University of San Diego has been successful in running the San Diego Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament every year. Since we had this experience in hosting a large tournament, schools like UCLA, San Diego State, and Arizona and their coaches all recommended to the NCAA that the University of San Diego be allowed to host the tournament. The school should have no problem running a tournament of this kind. We hope to bring in as many teams as possible into next year's tournament."
