HONOLULU STUDENT AT UNIVERSITY OF SAN DIEGO LAW SCHOOL NAMED TO WHO'S WHO

Stephen R. Robinson of Honolulu is one of twenty-four students at the University of San Diego School of Law named to the 1982 Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges, a selection which recognizes him as being among the country's outstanding campus leaders.

Selection of recipients is based on academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities, and future potential.

Robinson and the other USD students join an elite group from more than 1,300 institutions of higher learning throughout the United States and several foreign countries.

The University of San Diego, an independent Catholic institution enrolling some 4,800 students, is comprised of an undergraduate college, a graduate division, and four professional schools in business administration, education, nursing, and law. The USD School of Law, established in 1954, offers the Juris Doctor and master's degrees in criminal law, taxation, and comparative law. Enrollment for Fall 1981 stands at 1,126.
