USD "UPDATE" SEMINAR EXPLORES
MANAGERIAL SUCCESS MARCH 12

"The Nature of Managerial Work: Implications for Success," will be the topic of the University of San Diego's UPDATE Breakfast Seminar on March 12 at the Executive Hotel in downtown San Diego from 7:30 to 9:00 a.m.

Registration is $15 for the second of the eight-part series of breakfast seminars offered by USD's School of Business Administration faculty and Continuing Education for persons in business. For information and registration call 293-4585.

The March 12 seminar on managerial success will explore recent research that describes the nature of managerial work and how various managerial behaviors are related to effective performance. The implications of these findings for career success and the effective practice of personnel administration will also be addressed.

"Although the job of manager or executive is crucial to the growth and profitability of the firm, there is very little information available about what managers actually do," explains seminar leader Dr. Cynthia Pavett.

Pavett, a USD assistant professor of management, is also a consulting personnel research psychologist for the Navy Personnel Research and Development Center, San Diego, and has served as assistant consultant to five Western university hospitals. She is a consultant on the topics of motivation and supervision, communications, evaluation and interviewing.
