BABCOCK TO ADDRESS GRADUATES AT USD LAW SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

Barbara Allen Babcock, professor of law at Stanford Law School and former assistant attorney general with the U.S. Department of Justice, will deliver the commencement address at USD School of Law commencement exercises to be held Sunday, May 22 at 10:30 a.m. in the University's stadium.

A record 255 graduates will receive the Juris Doctor degree, and 55 will receive the Master of Laws degree in Taxation, Comparative Law, or Criminal Law. Officiating at the ceremonies will be Dr. Author E. Hughes, USD president, and Sheldon Krantz, dean of the School of Law.

Babcock, who holds the A.B. degree from the University of Pennsylvania and the LL.B. from Yale Law School, teaches Civil Procedure and Criminal Procedure at Stanford, where she received the Hurlbut Award for Excellence in Teaching in 1981. From 1977 to 1979, she served as assistant attorney general in the Civil Division of the Department of Justice, a presidential appointment. She was director of the Public Defender Service for the District of Columbia from 1968 through 1972, and in the preceding two years was staff attorney at the Legal Aid Agency, District of Columbia. She has published widely in the area of Civil Procedure.
