CLASSES BEGIN SEPT. 9
WITH 5,300 ENROLLED

An estimated 5,300 students are expected to enroll at the University of San Diego for its Fall 1985 semester.

Classes begin Monday, Sept. 9, for undergraduates and graduate students.

The total is about the same as last year, in keeping with the private university's controlled enrollment plan.

The number of undergraduates were expected to reach 3,400, which includes some 730 new students. Last year, USD enrolled 749 new students.

In the graduate school, the admissions office estimates as many as 350 new students will enroll, which would represent about half the number of graduate students here.

The USD law school, which started classes Aug. 21, enrolled 259 new full-time students and 80 new part-time, compared to last year's 230 full-time and 87 part-time students.

In addition to law, USD has schools of nursing, business, education, arts and sciences and graduate study.

For information about new academic programs, student activities and feature photo ideas, please contact John Nunes at 260-4600, ext. 4296.
