Rita Manning is the author of Speaking from the Heart: A Feminist Perspective on Ethics (Lanham: Rowman and Littlefield, 1992), as well as numerous articles and papers on ethics and related areas in social and political philosophy and feminism. This lecture is part of her continuing work on the notion of moral agency and the implications of moving from a "thin," abstract notion of the moral agent to a "thicker," more robust concept which includes gender, ethnicity, and individuality.
